Allocations to curb end-of-month shortages

Dealers await gas; some already 'dry'

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Some Northwest suburban gasoline stations pumped their storage tanks dry yesterday in anticipation of additional gasoline deliveries that didn't arrive.

More than one-third of the local service stations contacted by The Herald were out of gas — either because they had not received any since last week or because they sold gas more freely in recent days after learning of an extra federal allotment to metropolitan Chicago.

Long lines at some stations and "closed" signs at others were the norm yesterday as the distribution of the additional 20 million gallons of gasoline got off to a slow start.

STATION operators and oil company officials alike were annoyed because announcements of the extra allocation had led motorists to believe the gasoline would be available "instantly," while in reality the distribution of the additional allocations to all stations will extend into March.

Some suburban stations may receive the additional gasoline by today, state and oil company officials said. But many local station operators said their distributors were not able to estimate when the newly allocated fuel will reach their stations.

Of the 21 stations contacted yesterday by The Herald, only one had been promised a delivery under the new allocation by this morning.

"It's poor relations between the politicians and the consumer," said Leon Schroeder, who operates an Arco station. STORAGE TANKS WERE empty at the Hoffman Estates Standard station at Ill. Rtes. 58 and 72 yesterday morning after the station opened all its pumps to serve the long lines of waiting motorists.

"I called down to the bulk plant and they said they're not geared up with the trucks yet for delivery. It will be Wednesday before we get it," a spokesman for the station said. The station sold out its tanks after being notified to do so by a sales representative, he said.

Another Standard station operator at Golf and Busse roads in Mount Prospect said his calls to the distributor yielded only the information that "the company can't release the gas yet."

"I had been promised 5,000 gallons and so I opened up Saturday and now we're out of regular completely," he said.

Meanwhile the state energy office in Springfield and major oil company distributors in Chicago said the gas is on its way.

A SPOKESMAN FOR State Energy Chief James W. Cook said the additional 20-million gallon federal allotment for the six-county area would probably reach retail outlets by today. The allocation increases apply to all major gasoline companies. (Continued on page 2)

Didn't back incumbents for school board

Caucus head, committee challenge charge of 'mishandling endorsement'

by JILL BETTNER

Dist. 21 General Caucus Chairman Ralph Camp and members of the screening committee yesterday challenged charges by Supt. Kenneth Gill that the group mishandled endorsement of school board candidates.

Gill criticized the caucus decision last week to support only Carol Karzen, 430 Regent Dr., Buffalo Grove for the April 13 election.

According to caucus bylaws, the group also could have backed incumbent Arlington Heights school board members, Jeremiah Crise, 611 W. Hintz Rd., and Jack Lane, 3112 N. Volz Dr., but withheld its endorsement. The race this year is for the two three-year seats occupied by Crise and Lane.

Gill charged that the caucus could not have obtained sufficient information in public interviews to evaluate the performance of the two incumbents and therefore, was not justified in refusing to lend them its support.

MARY ELLEN FELDMAN, chairman of the five-member screening committee, wrote and yesterday submitted to The Herald, a two-page statement answering Gill's charges. The statement, she said, was approved by Camp and the other committee members.

"We are responding because what Dr. Gill is assailing is our role and our function," Mrs. Feldman said in explaining why the screening committee decided to reply to Gill's accusations. "We're very proud of what we've done and especially in light of the fact that we gave the general caucus more information for voting than has been done in recent years."

In the statement, Mrs. Feldman disagreed with Gill's assertion that the caucus endorsement decisions were made from "zich" and criticized the superintendent for not objecting to the interview method used by the caucus before the endorsements were made.

"In objecting to the caucus evaluation, Dr. Gill said that interviews are not a good measure of incumbent school board members. How is it that, for the past 14 years of caucus existence, Dr. Gill has never challenged the interview method before? The time to question the system would have been prior to caucus endorsement, not after. And isn't it interesting that, suddenly when incumbents are not endorsed, Dr. Gill attacks the very caucus he was instrumental in founding?"

Gill helped to form the Dist. 21 caucus in 1961.

THE STATEMENT says Crise told the general membership of the caucus in interviews prior to the voting that he considered the questions put to him by the screening committee to be "comprehensive."

"In addition, the questions were developed from the concerns of the screening committee as parents of children in district schools, from eminent sources such as the Illinois School Board Journal, the Illinois Assn. of School Boards, the Illinois Assn. of School Administrators, the National Education Assn. Journal and the National PTA questionnaire "Looking in on Your Schools."

Before formulating the questions, Mrs. Feldman said the group also consulted the Dist. 21 policy manual, the district statement of philosophy, the recent Dist.

21 publication "Preparing for Tomorrow," the questions of earlier school board caucuses and two reports of citizen advisory groups that performed studies in the district.

Gill also had charged that the caucus members could not fairly judge the actions of incumbents without attending school board meetings.

"Such an evaluation had, in fact, been made by at least one of the members of the screening committee who has attended school board meetings regularly for the last 10 months," according to the statement.

"In essence, Dr. Gill has denounced the role of a caucus composed of responsible citizens chosen to represent their community organizations in the selection of school board candidates," Mrs. Feldman said.

"THE PUBLIC MUST be aware that this year, 100 community organizations were invited to sit on the caucus; this year's caucus has had more publicity and press coverage than earlier caucuses; this year's caucus has had more information on the candidate's views than ever before; this year's caucus is studying its bylaws, with a view toward revising the calendar so that candidates may be sought out earlier; and all this in addition to greater community representation and a 10-month observation of the

Bieber plea to dismiss charges denied

A motion to dismiss charges of extortion, perjury and filing a false tax return against Wheeling Building Director William Bieber was dismissed yesterday in U.S. District Court.

Judge James B. Parsons dismissed the motion, which contended that the charges against Bieber are legally defective. The judge, however, asked the U.S. Attorney's Office to answer several other motions entered by Bieber's attorney, David Schippers. The other motions asked for further information on the case against Bieber.

Included in the motions was a request for information on any electronic surveillance that may have been used in preparing Bieber's case. Schippers also asked that evidence against Bieber be made available to him.

FINALLY, SCHIPPERS asked that the four cases against Bieber be consolidated into one case. Since Bieber was named in four separate indictments returned last month, he is now appearing before four different judges.

Judge Parsons gave the U.S. Attorney's Office 20 days to answer the motions made by Schippers. The matter will be heard in court March 20.

Bieber was named with five other former and present Wheeling and Cook County officials in indictments returned by a federal grand jury last month. The indictments resulted from a year-long investigation into alleged shakedowns in Wheeling.

He has pleaded innocent to all 15 counts of extortion, conspiracy, perjury and filing a false income tax return. He is now on leave-of-absence from his village position, and will continue to draw his $21,500-a-year salary until charges against him are resolved.

ALSO INDICTED with Bieber and pleading innocent are James Stavros, former Wheeling Township Democratic committeeman and behind-the-scenes force in Wheeling government; Nicholas Phillips, a Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals employee and Stavros' cousin; Michael Valenza, chairman of the Wheeling Environmental Commission and former village trustee; William Hart, a former Wheeling trustee, and Ira Colitz, a county zoning board member who resigned following the indictments.

67 of 150 think town has enough liquor licenses

Slightly less than half the residents attending the village board accountability sessions have said they think there are enough liquor licenses in Wheeling.

In a straw poll conducted by Trustee Al Lang, 67 of the 150 residents attending the last four sessions have said they do not want more liquor licenses issued.

Lang is seeking opinions on the liquor licenses because he has received a large number of requests for new licenses from supermarkets and restaurants.

Currently, there are 21 liquor licenses in the village, including two licenses for not-for-profit clubs. Any increase in the number of liquor licenses would have to be approved by the village board. If approved, those licenses would be issued by Village Pres. Ted Scanlon, who serves as the village's liquor commissioner.

OF THOSE RESIDENTS favoring more liquor licenses, 62 said they would like to see licenses issued to private clubs. Although there are no such clubs now in the village, the La Cancha Raquet and Swim Club is being planned for 1225 S. Wheeling Rd. A new class of liquor licenses would have to be created if it

WHO NEEDS a fork when fingers are faster? Style was not important to Marty Wozniak of Wheeling during the YMCA pancake-eating contest.

Anybody want more pancakes?

Marty Wozniak and Steve Burek have something in common — they are two of the fastest pancake eaters in the Northwest suburbs.

The two were winners last weekend in the Northwest Suburban YMCA Pancake Eating contest, part of the festivities at the Y's pancake day.

Marty, 19, and a resident of Wheeling, won in the 16-to-19-year-old division; Steve, 12, a Des Plaines resident, took the 12-to-15-year-old contest. Judging the contest were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wulf, members of the YMCA senior citizen exercise class.

The pancake day was sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Northwest Suburban YMCA.

More than 900 persons attended pancake day consuming nearly 3,000 pancakes. Proceeds from the event will go to the building fund.

Elk Grove to fight showing of 'Devil'

"We intend to stop the screening of 'Miss Jones' by using every legal means possible," said Charles Willis, Elk Grove Village manager. Willis made it clear yesterday the village will answer the challenge of theater owner Walter Pancoe, who began showing the X-rated movie "The Devil in Miss Jones" Friday night. Village officials, who recently passed a new anti-obscenity ordinance, sent "viewers" armed with checklists to the Elk Grove Cinema to see if the film violates the law. "It did," said Willis, "and we are preparing to present material to the appropriate court and ask for a judicial determination. At this point we think it is definitely an obscene movie and have had several village residents offer to testify to that fact."

Gasoline for doctors

Reports of doctors and emergency vehicles unable to get gasoline have bothered service station owner Jack Parker, so he's doing something about it. Parker's Arco station at Wilke Road and Northwest Highway now has a special pump set aside for doctors, nurses and ambulances. It's clearly marked with a large sign. Other motorists, Parker said, don't seem to mind. "Call it discrimination if you want. But, by God, if I get sick I want a doctor or an ambulance if I need one," he said.

Bieber motions dismissed

U.S. District Judge James B. Parsons yesterday rejected a motion to dismiss federal extortion, perjury and income tax charges against Wheeling Building Director William Bieber. The judge directed the U.S. Attorney's office to reply to several other motions made by Bieber's attorney, David Schippers, for information about the government's case against his client. Bieber was indicted Jan. 31 along with five others, including James Stavros, in connection with alleged extortions from developers in the Village of Wheeling.

No Viator plans

An official of the Viatorian order yesterday said it has no immediate plans for the use of 15-acres near St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights that was the subject of a zoning controversy over low-income housing. The order had agreed to sell the vacant land for housing development but a village decision to reject a zoning change was upheld Friday in U.S. District Court. "We agreed to make the property available under some pressure but our position is neutral," said the Rev. Kenneth R. Morris, Viatorian provincial.

Reye's Syndrome scare over

Fear of Reye's Syndrome, a rare killer disease that took the life of a 14-year-old Cooper Junior High School student apparently has subsided at the school. That and a reduction in the flu epidemic linked to the disease cut absences to 100 pupils yesterday at the Buffalo Grove school, down from as high as 330 last week. The student, Dale Chany, 16, of Arlington Heights, was one of at least 14 youngsters nationwide to die of the disease.

Drug agents probe fire

Agents of the U.S. Drug Abuse Enforcement Administration are investigating an explosion and fire that gutted a Des Plaines house Thursday. Because of chemicals found there after the blaze, an agency spokesman said, investigators believe the house may have been the site of a drug laboratory. No charges have been placed in connection with the incident, which did about $15,000 damage to the house.

Debbie still too short

Debbie Brush, who wants to become a Rolling Meadows police officer, was not permitted to take a police department qualification test Saturday because she is 5 feet 8 inches tall, an inch below the minimum 5-foot-9-inch height requirement. Mrs. Brush, 21, is a radio operator for Rolling Meadows police.

Robbery suspect caught

Anthony Carnett, 27, a suspect in two restaurant robberies last year in Des Plaines and Arlington Heights, has been arrested in El Paso, Texas, on federal charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Carnett, allegedly involved in August and October holdups at steak houses in Des Plaines and Arlington Heights, also faces robbery charges in Albuquerque, N.M.

Assessor candidate Tully urges plan's adoption

Tax-exempt home upgrading backed

A Democratic candidate for Cook County assessor Monday proposed revision of county assessment practices to allow home improvements without increased real estate taxes.

Thomas M. Tully said the plan "hopefully" will be presented to the Cook County Board March 4.

In a speech before the Chicago Executives Assn., Tully said the proposed Homeowners Improvements Exemption would "encourage people to improve their property. The neighborhoods, which are the strength of Chicago, must be maintained."

TULLY IS THE Democrat party-backed candidate to succeed Assessor P. J. Cullerton. Tully, former chief deputy assessor, is opposed for the March 19 primary nomination by Chicago Ald. Edward R. Vrdolyak, who also favors a tax-exempt improvement plan.

"The ordinance would exempt improvements of any type from real estate assessment increases and thus property taxes, provided the improvements did not exceed 15 per cent of full market value," Tully said. The proposal would include single-family homes, condominiums, cooperative units and small apartment buildings.

A $4,500 improvement — a bathroom, garage, family room, bedroom or exterior work — would be allowed without a tax hike on a $30,000 home, he said.

The 15 per cent limit on a $40,000 home would be $6,000. If the addition exceeded the 15 per cent limit, only the difference between the limit and actual cost would be included in assessed valuation.

TULLY ORIGINALLY mentioned the assessment revision in a late-January speech at Oakton Community College.

"Under the existing law, if you add a bedroom by building an addition to your home, you are technically subject to an increased assessment," he said yesterday. "But I believe local government should encourage this type of home improvement because it helps maintain the home and the community."

"In the past, many Cook County residents have moved elsewhere rather than stay here and fix up their homes, fearing a heavy tax increase," he said.

Tully, chief deputy assessor from 1971 to 1973 under Cullerton, said, "I am my own man. I have been my own man. I will be my own man." He was introduced to the businessmen at the Sheraton-Blackstone by Ted Sherwood, former president of the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce.

Dealers awaiting more gasoline

panies, the spokesman said. Telegrams alerting the oil companies of the additional allocations were sent on Saturday, he said.

Standard Oil Co. of Indiana said its trucks were making deliveries of the additional gas yesterday. A spokesman said the additional allocation will mean that each station will receive a 2.1 per cent increase in its total February allotment.

Instead of guaranteeing that stations will pump gas for extended periods or that motorists will be able to buy unlimited quantities of gas, the additional fuel will probably stave off an end of the month shortage like the one that occurred in January, he said.

For some Standard stations that have an arrangement that the gas stored in underground tanks belongs to the oil company until it is actually pumped, the announcement Saturday meant several thousand gallons of gasoline were immediately available to customers. K & W Standard Service, 1701 Algonquin Rd., Mount Prospect, which has such an arrangement, pumped gas all day yesterday without any lines, its operator reported.

Texaco Oil Co. officials said its distributors were delivering the additional gas "as fast as we can." They predicted that the oil company trucks would pump half a million gallons in the 24-hour period ending this afternoon.

Florence Luckner

GOP matriarch Mrs. Luckner set to retire

Florence Luckner, the grande dame of Republicans in the Northwest suburbs, has announced her retirement as GOP committeewoman of Elk Grove Township after 35 years of service.

A native of Chicago, Mrs. Luckner moved to Mount Prospect in 1929, when there were only 40 dues-paying members of the Republican organization in Elk Grove Township.

She became committeewoman in 1939 and has seen the organization grow to more than 1,800 members. She has served with the only three GOP committeemen the township has had, William Busse, former president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners; Sherman Canty, and the present committeeman, Carl R. Hansen.

She worked for 19 years in the county clerk's election department, and at one time was the only Republican of 89 employees in the office.

As treasurer of the 13th Congressional District Republican Women's Organization for 10 years, Mrs. Luckner worked closely with former congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church.

In addition to her political activities, she is a past worthy matron of the Eastern Star, Arlington Heights chapter, which she also served as secretary for 32 years. She was president of the Methodist Old People's Home Auxiliary for 10 years and treasurer of the Country Town Committeewomen for 10 years.

She also is a member of the Mount Prospect American Legion Auxiliary, the Trinity Methodist Church of Mount Prospect, and the Ameranth Heather Court in Palatine.

Mrs. Luckner and her husband, who celebrated their 54th wedding anniversary last year, plan to spend their retirement in traveling and visiting their two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Gas rationing chance lessens: Nixon

From Herald news services
President Nixon said Monday night he now is confident there is "a better than even chance" that the United States can survive the current energy crisis without rationing gasoline.

Nixon, in a nationally televised news conference, said his optimism was based on the cooperation shown so far by the American people.

But Nixon criticized Congress for failure to act on his emergency energy legislation. He said the bill before Congress "simply manages a shortage" but does not get rid of it.

He singled out the fuel price rollback provision of the bill. "This would be immediately popular — but would mean long lines at the gasoline stations and would require rationing," the President said.

Rationing, he said, would require a 17,000 to 20,000-man bureaucracy and would cost the taxpayers $1.5 billion a year.

Nixon said he would veto the emergency legislation if Congress passes it in the current form with the fuel price rollback.

Nixon said Congress should deal with the problem of rising fuel prices by passing his "windfall profits" legislation. He also urged Congress to deregulate natural gas prices and to change environmental regulations to permit increased use of coal.

Nixon said he expected the long lines at gas stations to shorten this spring and summer. But he said the price of gasoline would not decline until the supply increased, new fuels become available and the embargo is lifted.

Nixon indicated he hoped the Arab states would lift the embargo soon, but indicated it, the embargo, was entangled with a peace settlement in the Middle East.

So far as the oil producing nations are concerned "It is in their interest to lift the embargo," he said.

On other subjects, Nixon said that a "criminal offense" is the requirement for impeachment. He added he would cooperate with the House Judiciary Committee in its impeachment study "in any way consistent with my constitutional responsibility."

He said he would protect "against any action which would weaken the office of the presidency."

Other areas covered at last night's conference were:

INFLATION — Nixon said "I believe we will bring inflation under control as the year goes on" mainly by increasing supplies of energy and food.

RECESSION — Nixon said he believed the economy was undergoing a "downturn, but not a recession." He said the prospects were improving however, and that by the second half of the year, "we expect to be on an upward curve, not a downward curve."

POLITICS — This will be a good year for Republican congressional candidates, Nixon said, because of two major issues — "peace and prosperity." He did not mention Watergate in assessing the Republican chances.

WATERGATE — The President acknowledged that Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski requested him to appear before the grand jury investigating the scandal. "I respectfully declined to do so on constitutional grounds," he said. Nixon offered to respond to written questions or meet personally with Jaworski, but the prosecutor "did not want to proceed that way," Nixon stated.

Kalmbach pleads guilty to charges

From Herald news services
President Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach Jr., pleaded guilty Monday to two election law violations — including the charge he solicited a $100,000 campaign contribution in return for a promise of a European ambassadorship.

Both violations occurred during fund raising for the 1970 congressional campaign, the government said. Neither was tied directly to the several Watergate related activities Kalmbach has admitted he was involved in.

Charges in those matters will not be pressed since Kalmbach has promised to testify against others in the Watergate trials. Major indictments are expected soon in the Watergate case, possibly later this week.

Kalmbach was charged with soliciting $3.9 million for an illegally organized Republican congressional campaign committee set up by an unnamed White House aide. On this felony charge he faces a maximum sentence of three years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The government also charged that on Sept. 18, 1970, in Los Angeles, Kalmbach offered one of several European ambassadorships to J. Fife Symington Jr. of Lutherville, Md., former ambassador to Trinidad and Tobago, in return for a $100,000 contribution.

Prosecutors said Kalmbach called the White House, and "received assurances"

Symington would get the post and "the deal was made." Symington did not get the appointment.

The misdemeanor charge carries a maximum of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Sentencing was deferred until later and Kalmbach was released.

Elsewhere in Washington, the Senate Watergate committee, continuing its attempt to get President Nixon's tapes, argued the recordings "would prove of immense, perhaps decisive, value in determining the extent of malfeasance in the executive branch."

Simon rips Shah's charge of big leaks in embargo

From Herald news services

An angry William E. Simon testified Monday that the Shah of Iran's claim that United States oil companies are smuggling record supplies through the Arab embargo was "irresponsible and just plain ridiculous."

PRESIDENT NIXON said last night a "criminal offense" is the requirement for impeachment of the President. "I do not expect to be impeached," he told the nationally televised news conference.

Kissinger heads for Syria and difficult negotiations

From Herald news services

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to London Monday on the first leg of what he called his most difficult Middle East mission yet — getting Israel and Syria together to discuss military disengagement on the volatile Golan Heights front.

Kissinger was staying overnight in London for talks with British leaders before flying on to Damascus today.

Several Arab leaders were on the road Monday, also. And there were reports that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was expected in Cairo Friday to begin a four-day visit to Egypt.

China, also seeking to bolster its influence in Middle East, Monday greeted President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria with a "grand ceremony of welcome."

One of the most sensitive problems in the Syrian-Israeli impasse is a dispute over an estimated 80 Israeli prisoners of war held by Syria since the October Middle East war.

A senior American official with Kissinger said it would be a "miracle" if there is complete agreement during his mission but that the United States is very hopeful Syria will agree to release a lot of Israeli prisoners that have prevented the talks from getting started.

Israel Monday returned 56 Egyptian prisoners of war captured in flareups following the Oct. 24 cease-fire. The Tel Aviv military command said Israel now holds no more Egyptian prisoners although some Syrians are still in captivity pending a Golan Heights accord.

In Jerusalem, Prime Minister Golda Meir continued putting the finishing touches on her proposed minority cabinet which hawkish opposition leaders have vowed to vote down in the Israeli parliament at the earliest opportunity.

Car sales in worst dip; dealers see good signs

DETROIT (UPI) — U.S. auto dealers turned in the worst performance of the 1974 model year in the mid-February sales period, with new car deliveries down a whopping 36.8 per cent from a year ago, figures released by the auto companies showed Monday.

The four U.S. automakers delivered 193,893 cars, down from 272,784 last year. On a daily rate basis, with nine selling days in the Feb. 11-20 period this year and eight last year, sales dropped 36.8 per cent.

General Motors, the industry leader, again showed the sharpest sales decline with deliveries off 47.5 per cent.

Ford Motor Co. sales were off 29.5 per cent and Chrysler Corp. dropped 22.8 per cent.

Again, only American Motors — with its accent on compacts and economy — bucked the trend, showing a modest 4.7 per cent gain.

Despite the continuing slump in sales, automakers noted that sales in the first 20 days of February were up 9 per cent over the Jan. 1-20 period.

Ford spokesmen said this year's figures are being compared with "the exceptionally high record rate of 1973."

"With the beginning of the spring selling season and used car prices returning to near normal levels for this time of year, as well as a reported increase in dealer showroom activity, we can realistically look forward to further strengthening in the market-place," Mack W. Worden, vice president-marketing for GM said.

GM dealers delivered 95,336 cars in the Feb. 11-20 period this year, compared with 40,945 last year. Ford sales totaled 61,788, down from 77,884 in the year-ago period.

Chrysler reported sales of 35,548 cars in the mid-February period, compared with 40,945 last year, and AMC delivered 11,223 cars, up from 9,527 last year and the highest for the period in 11 years.

Walker eyes $5 million conservation hike

Gov. Daniel Walker Monday said he plans to ask an increase of $5 million for next year in the operating budget of the Illinois Department of Conservation. However, he refused to detail whether the money will be taken from other departments, obtained through increased departmental revenue or if it will be part of a general budget increase.

Few speed warning tickets issued

State police yesterday began issuing warning tickets to motorists exceeding the state's new 55 mile an hour speed limit. A spot check of state police headquarters showed few warnings were being issued during the initial hours of the new law. The federal government's deadline for lowering speed limits across the nation goes into effect March 4.

Safety unit: small cars more dangerous

The National Safety Council in Chicago said Monday auto safety studies showed small cars are more dangerous than bigger models. Council President Vincent Tofany said, "Although small cars may have immediate economical advantages, the safety disadvantages that could hold long-term suffering must not be overlooked."

2 SLA members arraigned; Hearst waits

Two members of the Symbionese Liberation Army which kidnaped Patricia Hearst, pleaded innocent yesterday to the murder of Oakland's school superintendent as the Hearst family mutely waited for new word from the terrorist sect. The pair, Joseph Remiro and Russell Little were arraigned in the killing of Marcus Foster last November. In Atlanta, a prosecutor said the state would delay filing kidnapping charges against the couple held in the Reg Murphy case until federal authorities decide whether to press charges.

Stevenson hits economic persuasion

Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., said in Washington yesterday the administration cannot control the economy through persuasion because it wields "a toothless jawbone." Speaking to the woman's National Democratic Club, he also declared he would fight any effort by President Nixon to abolish wage and price controls "completely and precipitously."

The world

Gold hits record $170 an ounce

The great gold rush of 1974 shot the price of the precious metal to all-time records all over Europe Monday. The U.S. dollar went up, too. Gold jumped $7 an ounce in London to close at $170, the highest fixed price in history.

South Viet, Cong POW talks bog down

Talks between South Vietnam and the Viet Cong on the release of the last 1,100 prisoners of the Vietnam war bogged down Monday over whether to free a group of 52 pro-government civilians in Communist or government territory. The battlefields there were relatively calm for the second day. In Cambodia, more than 2,000 government troops launched a major operation to clear rebel forces from Phnom Penh's southern perimeter.

IRA murders as a warning

The Irish Republican Army said yesterday it executed a 23-year-old Roman Catholic man near a Londonderry cemetery to warn others against informing on the outlawed organization pledged to end British rule in Northern Ireland. A British army spokesman identified the victim as Patrick Lynch, married and a father of one.

The market

Prices mixed in light trading

A lack of bids and enthusiasm turned stock prices mixed on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light. The Dow Jones industrial average closed off 4.61 at 851.39, slightly above its midsession loss of more than seven points. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index fell 0.36 to 95.03. There was a loss of nine cents in the price of an average common share. Advances led declines, 781 to 647, among the 1,811 issues traded.

• Things are not going well between the followers of China's Premier Chou En-lai and Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung — poorly enough, in fact, that Chou spoke out publicly for the first time on the mass ideological campaign sweeping the country, saying it was "of great immediate significance and far-reaching historic importance." Chou has been the apparent target of attack by radical leftists on ancient sage, Confucius and the late Mao heir-apparent Lin Biao. Radicals have particularly rallied around Mao's tough-as-nails wife Chiang Ching.

He's already been written out of four scripts.

In his annual address to Rome Lenten preachers, the pontiff asked priests to remember they're supposed to be poor and pure, leave social reform to civil authorities and refrain from "acrid" criticism of their own church. He worried that some priests think too much about cars and bank accounts and spend too much time at night outside their homes, asking, "where do they go in these hours?"

The primary search area is in the sea 950 miles west of the Spanish Sahara, but a desert hunt also is on — just in case he blew inland on the flight that began last Monday from Harrisburg, Pa.

Doctor has good reason for not telling blood pressure

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Will you please tell me why doctors are always reluctant, and very often absolutely refuse, to tell a patient what his blood pressure is even though it is normal?

A patient pays a fee to find out for his own peace of mind if his pressure has risen or is normal. Is it fair for a doctor not to tell him? I'll be interested to hear your answer.

Not all doctors avoid telling patients their pressure reading. The main reason most doctors avoid giving you numbers is that it fluctuates normally and most patients have a tendency to think, erroneously, that something is wrong if their pressure is five or 10 points higher on one reading than on a previous examination.

Some patients have a reflex reaction to having their blood pressure reading taken. They become overly anxious about their pressure and everytime the blood pressure cuff goes on, whammo, their pressure goes way up. When they are distracted or relaxed, the pressure may be normal. Doctors have learned that one way to avoid having their patients develop such a reaction to the pressure is to avoid their becoming fixated on the numbers. It's not a very satisfactory solution, but it is a common practice with the best of intentions.

Most doctors would not agree that you pay them to find out what your blood pressure is. Rather, they think of their role as guarding your health. If guarding your health means not transmitting anxiety about your blood pressure reading to you, that is what they are likely to do.

Do singers nodes have anything to do with thyroid disease? The doctor has been treating me for singers' nodes about four months. He tells me not to talk, yet I see no improvement. He advised me to write notes and save my voice. Pray tell me how you can get away without talking especially if your children can't read because they are too little.

I am frightened that one day I won't be able to talk or sing. I am a mother of four children and am in my early 40s.

Singers' nodes are little white nodules that develop in the vocal cords of people who use their voice a lot. They are caused by irritation and might be thought of as a callous of the vocal cord. They have nothing to do with the thyroid.

It is usual for doctors to advise people having trouble with their voice to give their vocal cords a rest. This helps in some instances. People also lose their voice because of an inflammation such as occurs with a severe cold or laryngitis. The rest helps and time also helps as the person recovers from the illness. Some people also lose their voices from nervousness, but this is a different situation than the singers' node problem.

I gather you like to sing. In that case, you might want to see an ear, nose and throat specialist. They can sometimes do a lot for such problems. In some instances, the nodule can be surgically removed.

It's 'bargain time' again for teachers, board

Negotiations between the Dist. 21 school board and the Wheeling Faculty Council on the 1974-75 teacher contract are under way. Both groups have exchanged proposals as the first step in the bargaining process.

Assistant Supt. John Barger is the spokesman for the school board negotiating team. Margo Richter, sixth-grade teacher at Stevenson School in Wheeling, heads the teachers' negotiating team.

Ground rules for the bargaining sessions were agreed upon in a meeting Jan. 11 where it was decided that the talks would not be open to the public. The sessions were open in 1972, but closed last year.

Barger said yesterday both sides have traded contract proposals that will be discussed at the next meeting set for 4 p.m., Monday, March 11 at the administration building, 899 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

The assistant superintendent would not discuss the items that are being negotiated. Miss Richter also refused to comment on the terms.

Besides salary, other items that were negotiated last year included:

- The 1973-74 school calendar.
- Extra duty salary for teachers.
- Insurance coverage for teachers.
- Contract duration.

Complex plans before zoners

Plans for a new planned development on the southeast corner of Wolf Road and Manchester Drive will be submitted to the Wheeling Zoning Board tonight.

Theodore and Marion Melzer, owners of the property, are asking that the property be rezoned for a planned development. Plans for that development will be explained during a hearing on that request.

The zoning board will also hear a request from Edward and Dolores Smetana to rezone property at 201 Wolf Rd.

for an office building. The property, which was recently annexed to the village, was previously considered part of Prospect Heights.

Plans for a car wash on the north side of Dundee Road west of the Wheeling Drainage Ditch will be presented by John Kamysz. He is requesting that the property be changed from one business zoning to a less restrictive classification that would allow a car wash.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the village hall, 255 W. Dundee Rd.

Only 44 pints of blood donated

Residents donated 44 pints of blood Sunday at Buffalo Grove High School, considerably short of the goal of 150 set for the drive.

Early last week members of the village blood donor commission were concerned because so few residents had made appointments to donate. Toward the end of the week the number of donors increased substantially, but not enough to meet the commission's goal.

Officials said yesterday another drive is tentatively planned in about two months.

Under the village's program, all residents are eligible for free blood replacement anywhere in the United States if 4 per cent of the population donates a pint of blood each year. The entire village now is covered, but officials said continued donations are necessary to assure future eligibility.

If the village should fall short of its requirement, persons who have donated and members of their immediate family still are eligible. Under the program, persons are given as much blood as they need for as long as necessary.

Special gasoline pump only for emergencies

by JOE SWICKARD

"Call it discrimination if you want. But, by God, if I get sick I want a doctor or an ambulance if I need one," said Jack Parker.

Parker operates Arlington Park Arco, Wilke Road and Northwest Highway, and he has set aside a special pump for doctors, nurses, ambulances and other emergency vehicles.

"We've had it going about two or three weeks and I'd say it's going very, very well. The public understands. There have been no complaints, none at all," he said.

THE SPECIAL PUMP stands by itself, away from the regular lineup of cars. It carries a sign designating it for emergency vehicles only.

"I'm doing this so doctors and nurses — people who really need gas — can get it. I'd do this any time to have them bypass the lines," he said.

To qualify for service at the special pump, the motorist must present identification that shows that he or she is a physician or nurse. Once that has been established, Parker issues them a special card identifying them and their car as qualifying for the pump.

Parker said the emergency personnel are exempt from the usual 33-cent limit and the shortened pumping hours for regular motorists.

"We fill them up. They need the gas, I figure. They can get it as long as we're open. People in jobs like that can't always get their gas in the two hours in the morning, and most stations usually pump," he said.

DOCTORS AND nurses aren't the only ones that have taken advantage of Parker's service. He said ambulances and even Illinois State Police cars have come in for a fillup.

Parker said the motorists waiting in line have cooperated when they see someone else pull in ahead of them.

"Once they know what's going on, they understand. We haven't gotten any gripes about it," he said.

Parker said 16 doctors and nurses took advantage of his program last week alone.

The special treatment for the medical community will not affect his regular customers, he said.

"I've got enough to get through the month. I set this aside for emergencies and my commercial accounts that I've got to meet. But, I've got gas for the customers in the morning," he said.

"When you need a doctor or help in a hurry, you want to know he can get there without running out on the way," Parker said.

SPECIAL PUMP for emergency personnel was set aside at Arlington Park Arco. Owner Jack Parker said doctors and nurses can't afford long lines for gas.

And a new age of 'rock' dawns...

ARTHUR MURRAY probably wouldn't have appreciated the latest dance steps, but his traditional dance techniques wouldn't have gotten very far in this mod dance contest at Randhurst Shopping Center. Some 75 youngsters aged 6 to 12 from the Northwest suburbs entered the weekend competition.

Some 75 Northwest suburban youngsters rocked 'n' rolled their way through a mod-dancing contest during the weekend at Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect.

'Devil' legally obscene, Willis insists

by JERRY THOMAS

"The Devil in Miss Jones," the X-rated film being shown at the Elk Grove Cinema, violates village anti-obscenity laws, said Village Mgr. Charles Willis.

Willis said Elk Grove Village officials sent official "viewers" armed with a checklist to watch the movie Friday night to decide if the film violates the village's anti-obscenity ordinance.

"Definitely, from all reports," it violates the ordinance, Willis said. "And we are preparing to present material to the appropriate courts and ask for a judicial determination."

"AS WE STATED before, we are not going to march in and close down the theater, but will seek rapid judicial determination if the film is obscene."

WILLIS SAID Elk Grove Village will uphold its anti-obscenity ordinance — "one the federal courts upheld to be constitutional."

"We intend to stop the screening of 'Miss Jones,' by using every legal means possible," Willis said.

The theater is advertising "Miss Jones" for a two-week run.

Willis said Village Atty. Ed Hofert will determine when and in what court the suit will be filed. "We will proceed as quickly as possible in order to protect both the theater owner's rights and our rights to deal with obscenity in our village," Willis said.

THEATER OWNER Walter Pancoe has a suit pending in federal court seeking $250,000 in damages from Elk Grove Village officials.

Pancoe claims he was coerced by village officials into canceling the first scheduled showing of "Miss Jones," on Jan. 4. The suit contends the village trustees, realizing their threats were unconstitutional, met on Jan. 6 and passed an anti-obscenity ordinance.

The ordinance adopted by the board incorporates, according to the village attorney, several United States Supreme Court opinions which have a significant effect upon the interpretation of laws regulating obscene material.

The ordinance states that Illinois law empowers a municipality to deal with obscenity and that it (obscenity) impairs public health, welfare and the morals of the community and may be a contributing cause of sexual promiscuous behavior as well as to incite sexually criminal behavior in the community.

Firemen answer 2 weekend calls

Wheeling firemen fought two small fires that caused minor damage at two residences during the weekend.

A closed damper on a basement fire-

IT IS UNLAWFUL, according to the ordinance, "for any person to sell, deliver, offer for sale, distribute, publish print, exhibit or possess with intent to distribute any obscene writing, picture, moving picture, record or other embodiment of the obscene."

The ordinance says a thing shall be deemed to be obscene if the average person would find that the work taken as a whole appeals to a prurient interest. Also, if it depicts or describes patently offensive representations or descriptions of nude persons, ultimate sexual act, normal or perverted sexual conduct, actual simulated or patently offensive representations or descriptions of masturbation. Other definitions of obscenity include offensive representations of, or descriptions of excretory functions and lewd exhibitions of the human genitals, according to the ordinance.

The work taken as a whole must lack serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value, it states.

Willis said the village itself is making a complaint but not making the determination of obscenity.

"Judicial determination of the film's obscenity must be made," said Willis. "If the courts give us that determination we will deny the theater from showing 'Miss Jones.'"

6 in family OK after furnace-fumes mishap

Six members of a Buffalo Grove family were treated for inhalation of gas fumes Sunday after their home's furnace malfunctioned. All were later released from Northwestern Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Buffalo Grove police said the Capre family — William Sr. and Janet, both 38; Debra, 16; William Jr., 15; Steve, 14, and Michael, 2 — was transported to the hospital by Long Grove firemen after the 7:20 a.m. incident.

Village officials, upon inspection, have labeled the house, at 671 Wygate Ln., "not approved for occupancy" and have ordered the furnace fixed and chimney relocated higher on the roof.

Activities planned for Girl Scouts

In honor of Girl Scout Week, March 9 through 16, Wheeling-Buffalo Grove area scouts will stage a Troop-a-Rama at the Buffalo Grove Mall.

The Brownies will display their accomplishments March 9. On March 16, Junior and Cadet troops will attend. Activities both days will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Girl Scout Sunday is March 10 and churches throughout the area will recognize the Girl Scout movement.

Vending machine overturned at Hersey

Hersey High School officials are still looking for the culprits who overturned a vending machine Friday morning before school was closed because of the snow-storm.

The machine was not damaged in the incident, which occurred when power failed at the school about 7:05 a.m., according to Principal Roland Goins. About 500 students were in the cafeteria at the time, Goins said, and when the power failed "a few of them got rowdy."

Goins said no one was injured in the incident and "it was all cleared up in a matter of minutes."

67 of 150 think town has enough liquor licenses

censes are to be issued to private clubs.

In addition, 61 residents said they would like to have liquor sold in local grocery stores. Several residents, however, objected to this proposal saying it might hurt liquor store owners already in the village. Others said it would make it easy for teenagers to buy liquor.

ABOUT 50 RESIDENTS have favored creating beer and wine licenses that would allow restaurants to serve these drinks with meals. These licenses would cater to the 18-year-olds who are now allowed to purchase beer and wine.

Only 30 residents said they would like to see more Class A liquor licenses issued. These licenses allow a restaurant that seats more than 200 people to serve liquor until 4 a.m.

LANG SAID HE decided to use the accountability sessions to get feedback from the residents on increasing the liquor licenses.

"This way we can say we've gone to the people and this is what they want," he said. The trustee also invited residents to write to him at the village hall, 255 W. Dundee Rd.

Following tonight's accountability session, Lang will meet with his committee to review the residents' reaction to increasing the number of liquor licenses.

Gill's charge is challenged

incumbents' roles on the school board." Gill said he has always cautioned a caucus against not supporting an incumbent unless that person "has not served well or done a disservice to the community."

"Not doing a disservice to the community does not mean that an incumbent's service has been adequate," Mrs. Feldman said. "It only means he or she has not done a disservice and this alone does not qualify an incumbent to obtain caucus support."

CONCLUDING THE statement, Mrs. Feldman said, "Dr. Gill has also said that, as school superintendent, he feels he should stay out of the actual election process. However, by making the above-mentioned statements, Dr. Gill has already interfered with that process."

"Is Dr. Gill saying that the caucus was doing fine as long as it continued to endorse incumbents? The voters will have to decide that and the voters will have to decide who is qualified to sit on their board of education of the next three years."

Informed of the caucus screening committee's statement, Gill said he planned to let the matter drop.

"I wanted it to be known how I felt and I did," he said. "I have no intention of entering into a big battle with the caucus."

Village hall has absentee ballots

Persons requiring absentee ballots for the March 19 primary election can pick up the required forms at the Wheeling Village Hall, 255 W. Dundee Rd.

The written forms must be received no later than March 14 at the Cook County Clerk's Office. In addition, the village hall also has ballots for handicapped voters and persons in the military who will not be able to vote at the polls.

The village hall is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Dump truck stolen

A green dump truck, with snow plow and salt spreader, was stolen early Sunday morning from Whippietree Village Inc., 625 N. McHenry Rd., Wheeling police said.

The truck was valued at $200, but the plow was worth $2,000 and the spreader was worth $900. Police said the vehicle's identification number and license plate number were unavailable. The truck is a 1964 GMC model and it was taken sometime between 1 and 4 a.m.

Reader blasts U.S. government 'power'

Have you ever played Russian Roulette? That is the game where one bullet is put into a chamber of the cylinder of a gun, the cylinder is then spun and the gun put to your head and the trigger pulled. I believe this entire country is playing a much more dangerous variety of Russian Roulette — each chamber of the cylinder is being loaded.

We have the Environmental Protection Agency to protect us from destroying the land, we have the Occupational Safety and Health Agency to protect us from working and we have the Consumer Products Safety Agency to protect us from ourselves. All we need now is either the padlock on the door of our unheated cells or someone to pull the trigger. On the surface these big brother agencies which are intended to protect us from ourselves have failed to protect us from the most dangerous element, big government. Quite soon we will be in protective custody if this trend is not reversed.

Economic competition between businesses allows the consumers to choose better products at lower prices, or in other words, gives us the freedom of choice. If you compare this country with its relative freedom with that of Russia, you will note that the welfare and happiness of citizens within nations is directly related to the quantity of government under which they must live. The more government, the more pressure on the individual. The less government, the more true progress.

Shortages can be used by Big Brother

Fence post

as an excuse to impose rationing and price controls, to allocate raw materials and to assign production quotas. Both rationing and price controls automatically act as brakes on production. One major aim of this is to gradually convert the American economic philosophy of abundance into the Communist philosophy of scarcity. This philosophy works because the more time and energy people must spend on providing the bare necessities of life, the less thought and effort they can give to resisting the tyranny which is causing the condition.

If we give up the fight, succumb to the Communist-style slavery, we will be given ration cards with which to obtain some modicum of food, clothing and shelter. Continue to resist or to assert our independence and we will soon find our families going half naked and always hungry in the midst of those who are being clothed and fed. You can see this indoctrination already set in motion by articles in the newspapers to the effect that turning down your thermostat, driving your car less and eating less food are all good for you. Which, from the point of view of converting life into sheer existence, maybe they are.

When our country was established, the Constitution — the supreme law of the land — was written to restrict the power of the government. The Bill of Rights tells us what the government cannot legally do to us. For many years there was less government interference in the lives of the average citizen than was ever the case in recorded history. As a result, the United States soon became a land of unprecedented abundance and invention. It has only been in recent years as the full impact of the government controls and interventions have been realized that our standard of living has been seriously jeopardized. A recent historical example of this is East and West Germany. When Communist East Germany was compelled to compete side by side with West Germany, the Communists had to build the Berlin Wall to keep their side from defecting to the West. Another glaring example is the difference in the standard of living of the Communist Chinese and the Free Chinese on the island of Taiwan.

The lesson seems apparent and logical. The welfare of people everywhere could be best promoted by cutting back the size of the government under which they live. But, as a means of increasing and protecting their own wealth and power, too many politicians have a vested interest in promoting big government. The next speaker on tour for the John Birch Society is Alan Stang. His speech will cover the subject of government planned shortages, including the government-planned power grab over private enterprise. I don't think we are whistling Dixie in view of the government's recent attack on the "windfall" profits of major oil companies. Did any of you ever stop to realize if we dirty capitalists didn't make a profit, the alternate would be a loss? On March 4 at the VFW Hall in Elk Grove Village, Alan Stang will discuss the problems facing every citizen in this country — the problem of too much government. I have a bet with Phil Dowd (Elk Grove chapter leader) that the Herald will not print the press release for our speaker. (Incidentally, I've met Mr. Stang and he is one of the 'polished and dynamic' speakers which I have mentioned before.)

Your readers will not even suspect the consequences of apathy and indifference when the news media soon reports that the "outdated notion of national sovereignty has finally been taken care of" or our independence has been remolded into "interdependence." When the trigger is pulled, I intend to be well-informed. Most people don't understand our Constitution from a hole in the head. The game of Russian Roulette now being played will leave no doubts.

Graduation shift hit

I oppose the change of date of the graduation exercises at Hersey High School from January 29 to January 28. It is disturbing that this important, scheduled event has been changed; it is an outrage that it has been changed to accommodate a basketball game.

Though I have three sons who have lettered in Dist. 214 school sports, I am opposed to your continuous policy of favoring athletic and extra curricular activities above academic achievements.

Ambulance tragedy draws views

The article in the January 22 Herald quoted Tony Wagner as saying, "The unincorporated homeowners have never had their questions answered in the past about the cost of fire and ambulance protection." There is only one way to understand this quote and that is these homeowners have in the past put the dollar value on life.

There is but one way to understand this also, and that is today they are still putting the dollar value on life.

I am an expectant mother myself. But I'm adult enough to see that I can't expect police, fire, ambulance, school, or even garbage collection services without paying.

Mrs. G. Stone
Arlington Heights

I was appalled to read of TV news commentator Joel Daly's comment in the Jan. 25 Herald to the effect that he would feel safer in Egypt than in Elk Grove Village. This comment stemmed from his strong feeling against Elk Grove due to the ambulance incident.

Mr. Daly should be drummed right off television as far as I am concerned. He is supposed to report the current events factually and objectively. Of course, he is entitled to his opinions; but he has no business publicly condemning one side of any question.

Egypt is a disease-ridden country where a large portion of the population ekes out a living by begging and panhandling. The living conditions are filthy, and the government makes little effort to improve the quality of life for the average citizen. Infant mortality is a frequent occurrence; and the elderly are cast aside to either fend for themselves or die. My father had occasion to visit Alexandria, Egypt, and the sights he beheld would make any middle class American's hair stand on end.

If this environment described above seems "safe" to Mr. Daly, I suggest he take up permanent residence there. The minute he set foot there in his expensive American suit, he'd be surrounded by street beggars. If he failed to give them money, he'd probably be robbed.

On the other hand, Elk Grove Village is a fine town (I'm sure any Egyptian would give his right arm to live in such an "unsafe" town).

As for the ambulance being recalled — according to the transcription of the taped phone conversations, Mr. Pettie never told the fire department that his wife was dying (his thoughts at the time notwithstanding). How was Fire Chief Hulet to read his mind?

Let's face the facts of the case, Mr. Daly. Any service expected by a citizen must be paid for by that citizen one way or another.

Gaelic rune recalled

While browsing through the unusual treasures of momentos scattered aimlessly around our house, I came across an old Gaelic rune.

Thinking of it as a very befitting new year wish I thought I would pass it along to you:

deep peace of the running wave to you deep peace of the flowing air to you deep peace of the quiet earth to you deep peace of the shining stars to you deep peace of the watchful shepherds to you deep peace of the son of peace to you

'Abandoned pets need happy homes'

Because, in an animal refuge, one usually sees only the inhumane side of human nature, we'd like you to know about a lady and an abandoned dog. "Miss Love" found the female Collie-Setter severely injured, starving, unkempt, and abjectly apologetic for being alive.

Miss Love did not turn away but took the dog she named "Freckles" to a veterinarian, spent nearly $200 on the way to have her injuries, her spirit and her general condition mended.

The lady could not keep "Freckles" but sent her to Orphans of the Storm, and then wrote, "I love her and wanted to keep her myself but I cannot. She is very special to me and I am hoping you can find a home for her with people who will love her as I do. She is gentle and loving and, as hurt as she was, never tried to bite anyone although she was in intense pain."

Needless to say, we hope to find

Freckles that good home. This dog, befriended by an individual, has a story similar to 20 or more others, now waiting for good homes, having been attended by our veterinarian in their doleful plights: The Shepherd with the lump on his head; the Collie type abandoned with a broken leg; the Pointer abused, very shy, who'll never be a hunter but could be a devoted companion to an understanding individual; the puppy brought in at four months with an OLD fracture — dropped by a child at six weeks; the one-eyed black cat! All victims of incompassionate humans but eager and anxious to love someone despite heretofore cold receptions in the world of people.

There have been a few other "Miss Loves." There have been a few other "Mr. Goodmans" but 600 others a month have not met nice people — they have only met Orphans of the Storm.

Your smoke irks me!

Dear Smoker:

I assume that on certain occasions you have been asked by a non-smoker to refrain from smoking. Perhaps you have resented the request.

I'm sure you'll feel more accommodating with a knowledge of why that non-smoker asked you to refrain.

You see, I inhale about 12,000 quarts of air per hour. If I'm with smokers:

— Breathe in smoke from the burning end of the cigarette as well as smoke exhaled by you.

— My heart then begins to beat faster;

my blood pressure increases and the level of carbon monoxide in my blood increases.

— Your second-hand smoke contains tant gases as the smoke you inhale.

— This smoke irritates my eyes and gives me a headache.

If you smoke, you are probably ignorant of the great health hazards of smoking. This information may help you both to change your smoking habit and to respect my right to breathe air free from your dangerous smoking pollutants.

Today there are two adult non-smokers for every smoker in the country. There are at least 34 million Americans like me, who are sensitive to cigarette smoke.

So please be considerate and concerned with my health.

Silence not golden

Recently, Tom Anderson, national chairman of the American Party, summed up the "silent majority" — and it sure fits the majority of residents in the northwest suburbs:

"Originally, the term 'silent majority' meant 'those who are dead.' It still does. The silent majority has never saved any nation — and never will.

"The silent majority sat by and saw Him crucified. The silent majority permitted the reign of terror in the French Revolution. The silent majority sneered when Patrick Henry asked: 'Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?'

"The silent majority is yellow, and always has been. History is made by dedicated minorities and even by that smallest minority, the inspired individual. Only a few proclaimed: 'He is our risen Lord!' Only a few responded when Paul Revere cried to the countryside: 'The British are coming!' Only a few defended the bridge at Concord. Only a few signed the Declaration of Independence. The silent majority is neither blind nor innocent; it is gutless and guilty."

vide a north-south system to various towns and centers. Nor do they present a blueprint form of possible planned routes of the future.

It is just a trick to get a handout to beef up the CTA and suburban railroads that have been running broke for years.

No one has ever said if this system is supposed to be self-supporting. We feel the R.T.A. is just another politically-run bureau that is union-controlled with no strike restrictions. A legalized taxing body with no restriction. We have one such bureau in our school system. We do not need another. Above all, not this one in its present setup. It only shows another added tax with no immediate added service.

All we hear is it is good or it is bad.

Just show us all the bad points and all the good points as the bill states; let us choose. We do not accept anything just for the sake of a start, especially a political force.

Habit of refrigeration is what's important

Dear Dorothy: My mother disagrees with my way of refrigerating poultry and other foods when they come out of the oven. I put them into the refrigerator immediately, feeling that the extra load on the refrigerator to cool is worth the precaution against possible food poisoning. My mother always lets food cool before refrigerating. Can you help settle the debate?

—Bobbi Weinstein

Let's put it this way: Neither of you is wrong. The basic point is to get the habit of refrigerating all food that isn't going to be eaten at the time. You are following the new theory of putting food in the refrigerator immediately. Apparently I'm somewhere in the mid-range and let mine cool a little before the refrigeration. My feeling is that a few minutes of letting heat and steam escape isn't going to hurt the food.

Dear Dorothy: Help! I used to know how to make a crinoline skirt stay full after laundering, but I've forgotten.

—Amy Long

Don't know what trick you used, but the best way I know after laundering is to open an umbrella, cover with a sheet of plastic, spread the skirt over it — and coat as heavily as you like with spray starch and let it dry over this homemade form.

Dear Dorothy: Which is best to glue on

by Dorothy Ritz

the bottom of my flower bases — plastic, foam or felt?

—Bobette Whittier

Foam and felt okay, plastic never. Go easy with the glue.

Dear Dorothy: I've got a yen to make carrot sticks. Does it matter which size carrots I choose?

—Isabel Weiler

I think you'll find the smaller, well-colored carrots sweeter and more tender than the large ones.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

The workshop, the second held this year, is a Harper College women's program led by Mary Alley, instructor in "Methods of Group Communications" at the college and social therapist at Forest Hospital, Des Plaines.

"T. A. is a popular idea today and is a relatively uncomplicated model for understanding human interactions," Miss Alley said. "In this one-day program students will become familiar with the basic concepts and even will be able to begin using some new techniques in their communication with others."

SIXTY-FIVE participants shared in the Feb. 8 transactional analysis session at Harper. The March 12 workshop is scheduled to accommodate the overflow from the February session.

Fee for the workshop, to be held in room A-242 of the College Center, is $6 including lunch. Enrollment is limited. To register women may send a check with name, address, telephone and social security number to Harper College, Atglen and Roselle Roads, Palatine, 60067, attention Doe Hentschel.

Plum Grove Road, Palatine. Friday hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For ticket information readers may call Mrs. Frank Carter, 258-2047.

Juniors will be participating in a variety of areas from baking to baby sitting. There will be a booth of craft items made by members and their families, plus an "art of baking" booth where members will contribute their finest baked goods including homemade hard candy.

A luncheon for $2.50 will be available and will include lasagna, salad, beverage and choice of homemade dessert. Baby sitting service will be provided at 50 cents per child. Admission to the show is $1 and tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Richard Batts, 358-5636.

Open house for overweight

Weight No More classes at Pioneer Park will hold an open house at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 5, at the park, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights.

The program is open to all fighting the battle of overweight. There are no gimmicks, medications, machines or wonder diets, but rather a sensible way of eating to promise a healthy way of losing weight and a complete re-education of faulty eating habits, according to a spokeswoman.

Besides proper eating, the program is based on group therapy. It offers free recipes that keep one from becoming bored with the same foods and private weigh-ins are guaranteed.

Those wishing further information may call 967-7929.

Haiti opens up to tourists

by MURRAY J. BROWN

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — Haiti has to be one of the most colorful and exciting countries in the Caribbean.

It is a land of exotic beauty — of green-mantled mountains, crystal-clear waterfalls and primeval jungles. It is a land of contrasts, of the old and the new, of want and wealth.

It is also a land of a proud people. For Haiti was the first Negro republic in the New World, with former slaves winning independence in the early 1800s by defeating the armies of Napoleon's France.

Then there's its unique heritage, a blending of African, French and West Indian cultures and traditions. As the late President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier once put it: "Haitians are Africans by race, Americans by geography and French by language."

Haiti was a popular port-of-call for years but tourism dropped to virtually nothing in the 1960s because of troubles during Papa Doc's regime. But the picture changed after his death in 1971 and the disbandment of his dreaded secret police known as the Tonton Macoutes.

Since Jean Claude (Baby Doc) Duvalier succeeded his father in the Presidential Palace, many of the old fears faded away. As a result, American and other tourists have been coming back by plane and ship — more than 172,000 in the first nine months of 1973 for a new record, according to official reports.

I visited Haiti with other American travel writers in conjunction with a series of inaugurals by Eastern Air

THE "MARRON" (free man) statue opposite the National Palace in Port-au-Prince is a monument to Haitian independence from France.

Lines to 13 new island destinations in the Caribbean

IT WAS MY second trip to Haiti — my first was in 1965 for the opening of the Duvalier International Airport.

Then I was shaken by the grinding poverty of the people and the atmosphere of tension.

This time, Haitians in the markets, streets and elsewhere seemed to laugh more readily and talk more freely. The signs of poverty, however, are still there — in the ragged clothes of young and old and the tumble down shacks in the slums and the countryside.

About 90 per cent of the estimated 5 million population are of African descent. The rest are mainly of mixed African-French ancestry.

Roman Catholicism is the state religion but other church groups are active. Most Haitians profess Christianity but without giving up ancestral voodoo traditions. The throbbing of voodoo drums can often be heard echoing through the hills during the night.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, the capital and main port, fronting on the sea and flanked by mountains up to 7,000 feet, is a colorful city of massive stone and old wooden colonial buildings, and of ornate gingerbread houses and tin-roofed hovels.

There are several top-rated hotels in Port-au-Prince, including the storied Grand Hotel Oloffson, owned by American Al Seitz. But most of the resorts catering to tourists are located in Petionville, about 1,500-feet up in the cool hills. All have pools and can help make arrangements for the use of golf, tennis and other sport facilities as well as the beach.

We stayed at the Villa Creole, which offers 66 air-conditioned rooms on two levels, with terraces providing breathtaking vistas of the mountains and sea. We breakfasted around the pool shaded by palm and other tropical trees, and there also are a cocktail lounge and delightful restaurant featuring French and Creole cuisine.

You have to believe the homemade peanut butter is out of this world and so were the pancakes.

You can still tour Great Britain

Q. — With all the talk we hear about the energy shortage and restricted work week in Great Britain, is this a good time to go there?

Mrs. P. T. Palatime
A. — The British Tourist Authority assures us that all essential services for visitors are not curtailed in any way. What's more, the country is offering a number of discount programs on bus and train travel, meals and tourist attractions. For more specific information, contact Malcolm Mottram, director of the Chicago office of the British Tourist Authority, in the John Hancock Center.

Q. — If I rent a car to drive in Mexico, will I need a special driver's license?

J. T. Elk Grove Village
A. — No. However, if you should happen to drive any other car with Mexican plates while you are there, you would need a courtesy tourist driver's license. But this does not apply to rental cars.

Q. — I have a bug to learn how to scuba dive and I'd like to do it where there's some interesting marine life to explore. I only have a short vacation time.

Miss O. W., Schaumburg
P.S. I've never even snorkeled before!
A. — Eastern Airlines is featuring four: eight-and 10-day scuba safaris at the Royal Mail Hotel on Hassle Island in St. Thomas. Novices are welcome, we're told, and programs include classroom seminars conducted by Chief Divemaster Armando Jenik; equipment and breathing familiarization sessions in the hotel pool; and open ocean dives to explore marine and reef life.

Rates for four days are $144.50 per person, with accommodations and two meals every day included.

Q. — I would like to order a gift from abroad, to be sent to a relative in the U.S. Will the gift be subject to duty?

MRS. W. A., Rolling Meadows
A. — Yes. All articles ordered from overseas are subject to duty if the value exceeds $1. Only articles you buy yourself while in another country — and mailed as bona fide gifts under $10 in value are exempt from duty.

Guidelines

Q. — I want to vacation in Hawaii this year, but from what I hear, so many other people are planning to go there too. Is there any part of the Islands more tourist-free than others?

J. L., Des Plaines
A. — Lanai is perfect for the tourist who wants to escape. It has only one hotel, Lanai Inn, and that one has only 10 rooms! Lanai is an island of gentle, rolling hills, mountain peaks, lazy beaches — and Dole pineapples. (Dole owns the island). Molokai is another sleepy little island — with two hotels.

Take a cab and find out-of-the-way boutique

by MARILYN FRANKEL

The unforgettable thing about shopping in Haiti is that the people are so talented with their hands. Paintings, murals and handsome woodwork are everywhere. And every Haitian knows someone with a special little shop.

Embroidered dresses are a bargain. One of the best dress shops is Boutique Bagatelle, near The Red Carpet Gallery in Petionville, across from the posh El Rancho Hotel.

The Convent Orpheline de la Madeleine sells embroidery work made by the orphan girls in their downtown

Port-au-Prince school. Customers select from a catalogue or among samples in the entrance room. Custom work is also available. The sewing done by 7 to 21-year-old girls rivals Madeira's famous embroideries and, whether the style selected has a European or Haitian motif, the craftsmanship is flawless.

SHOPPING AREAS are readily accessible by foot, taxi or bus from the tourist hotels in Port-au-Prince and Petionville. But there are some special places — like Mrs. Bonnefil's house, No. 7 in Pacot — that can't be found without a driver who knows about it. Mrs. Bonnefil has a small boutique in her lovely home — a good way to see how upper middle-class Haitians live — where she sells handmade, hand-embroidered baby clothes. At $6 per dress, finding her is a grandmother's dream come true.

The trick is to find these places. Four or five persons can hire a guide for $20 a day and this is perhaps the best way to organize a proper Haitian shopping spree covering Port-au-Prince and Petionville. Maybe the driver gets a little something for bringing tourists to the shop — if they are happy with their gifts, why not? The tourists don't have to buy and they'd never have found the place without him.

Like the Liautaud's Factory on the Route de Delmas, it's off the beaten track but for up-to-the-minute knit fashion chic, it's unbeatable. However, it's luck that governs whether or not they have time to help show the tourist what's available. It's best to call ahead. The Liautauds are so busy shipping their clothes to Paris and New York they sometimes can't help droppers-in, but it's well worth a try.

Pan Am to offer direct daily flights to Europe April 6

Pan American World Airways will begin daily trans Atlantic flights between O'Hare International Airport and Europe, effective April 6.

The new service will offer the only no-change-of-plane flights between Chicago and Lisbon, Portugal, as well as direct access to 25 Pan Am destinations in Europe and Africa.

"We will begin our new service to Lisbon three weeks earlier than previously announced, giving Midwest passengers flights to Portugal for the popular Easter season," J. W. Schmuck, Pan Am's managing director of the Chicago Region, said. "Portugal is one of the true bargain destinations left in Europe for the American traveler, and the buying power of the dollar there is reminiscent of the rest of Europe in the 1960s."

The flights will leave Chicago at 3 p.m., arriving in the Portuguese capital at 7:20 a.m. the next day. The Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday departures from Chicago will continue beyond Lisbon to Casablanca, Morocco. On other days of the week the flights will continue

Travel lore

Some 'fun' non-alcoholic drinks

It can be a festive time when champagne cork pop and the bubbly flows freely on a holiday abroad.

Being a born "people-watcher," I always love to sit at a sidewalk cafe in some glamorous foreign capital city — feeling very continental with an exotic drink in front of me.

But what about the person on a trip abroad who doesn't want to sip wine, brandy, schnapps, vodka or aquavit? Maybe it's doctor's orders, allergy, or personal preference. Whatever the reason, he or she can't, or doesn't want to drink.

And, as an American in Paris or Frankfurt or London or Moscow, he — or she — may be just plain embarrassed about saying so.

BELIEVE IT OR not, it can be handled very easily in most countries. I know because I've tried it.

Of course, all over the world you can always order Coca-Cola and Pepsi — and they always taste mighty good on a steaming afternoon away from home.

But there have been times when I've wanted something just a bit more continental to sip — to match the Old World surroundings.

Take England, for example. A friend of ours — a former American who has lived in London the past four years — introduced me to ginger beer. It has more body and is less cloying than ginger ale. I've also had many an orange squash in English pubs. It's a little sweetish but I got so I really liked it after awhile.

YOU FIND PLENTY of cider in England. But if alcohol is a "no-no" on your diet, be sure to ask for sweet cider when you order. The kick in England's top hard cider has got the ring of 90 proof applejack.

We found other interesting soft drinks in Europe. Ribena is a black currant juice. Drink it straight as an after-dinner cordial — or mix with with soda water or plain water.

THINK YOU'LL BE considered a hopeless square if you don't drink in France? That's ridiculous. Just remember the grape that produces the French wines also makes grape juice.

Here are a few interesting drinks (non-alcoholic) to ask for at a Paris sidewalk cafe:

Jus de raisin — grape juice.

Jus de pomme — apple juice or sweet cider.

Jus de peche — peach juice.

Jus de poire — pear juice.

Jus de fruit — a mixture of them all.

And — here's a goodie. Order an assalonne. That's a Bloody Mary without the vodka. You can feel very sophisticated sipping that.

Or, try citron presse, which is lemonade served with French elegance in a frosted glass. Orange presse is a delicious orange juice served the same way.

I WAS A LITTLE surprised to learn that France, which is so famous for its wonderful wines and potent brandies, has non-alcoholic equivalents of many of its drinks. They call it sans alcool. You can even get a pretty full-bodied and tasty non-alcoholic beer in France.

The non-alcoholic version of creme de menthe is metholo sans alcool, and it's delightfully refreshing either white or green — and as a mid-afternoon refresher or an after-dinner drink.

One of the most popular non-alcoholic drinks in Italy is espresso. It's not like the espresso you get in this country, so the first one you order may surprise you. Once you learn how to sip very slowly so you don't disturb the "mud" in the bottom of the cup, you can become quite enamored of this highly potent coffee served in a demi-tasse.

Travel as a teetotaler? Of course you can — and love every minute of it!

French Quarter a 'No Gas'

Vehicles now are barred entirely from historic Jackson Square and Bourbon Street in the French Quarter is open to pedestrians only between 7 p.m. and 3 a.m.

Battery-powered carts decorated like Mardi Gras floats, taxis, horse-drawn carriages and buses help tourists move around in the Quarter before the 7 p.m. curfew.

No Irish Energy Crunch

Visitors to Ireland in 1974 need have no fears regarding shortage of gasoline. The chairman of the Irish Tourist Board, P. V. Doyle, has announced in Dublin that assurance had been given by the Irish Government that gasoline would be available for tourists, whether for car hire or coach tours.

According to the board's vice president for the United States and Canada, Joe Malone, Ireland's gasoline prices are the lowest of the 14 major tourist destinations in Europe. This, coupled with the fact that the vast majority of Irish hire cars give between 25 and 35 miles to the gallon, adds an extra bonus for Ireland-bound travelers, says Malone.

All other tourist facilities are functioning normally in Ireland.

Oh, to work for Union Oil during the gas shortage

While company employees sit in their offices, a travelin' tank truck brings fuel to their cars

by BARRY SIGALE

The only thing that grips motorists more than waiting in a long line for gasoline is waiting in a long line for a crumb's worth of gasoline... and having to go to another service station to complete the task of filling the tank.

However, if you're an employee of the Schaumburg-based Union Oil Co. of California, the marketing and refining corporate headquarters of the 12th-largest oil company in the nation, you don't have those problems at all.

Five days a week, right on schedule, a truck filled with gasoline leaves the Union 76 station on the corner of Golf and Meacham roads and travels a block or two on a private driveway to the parking lots where cars of Union Oil employees are parked and gives them gas.

This set of "gas pumps on wheels" moves slowly from one car to another that bears a special sticker signifying the owner of the auto works at Union Oil and would like gasoline put in the tank. In some cases, the truck driver will add oil if they are instructed to do so.

Though the cars' tanks used to be filled up regularly before the gasoline shortage came about, there is now a purchase limit to employees of $4. They must pay 48.9 cents per gallon, the posted price at the Golf and Meacham station for a gallon of regular gasoline.

THIS SPECIAL treatment for employees is nothing new at Union Oil, but is of note now that motorists must spend up to an hour in some instances waiting for gasoline.

Employees who don't avail themselves of the truck full of gas or who don't feel they have enough can be serviced between 4:30 and 5:30 at the Golf and Meacham station by entering by the private driveway and pulling up to the tanks. The station is not open for the motoring public at this hour and the station is kept dark to avoid non-employees from getting in line.

According to a company spokesman, the distribution arrangement for employees provides a convenience factor but that they are subject to the same restrictions on the amount of gasoline they may purchase and must pay the same price as the average motorist does at the Golf and Meacham station.

WHEN THE service began, employees were able to get an unlimited supply of gasoline. Then, the gasoline shortage arrived and a $2 limit was placed on employees. That was raised to $3, then $4, the present maximum that can be purchased from the truck or the Golf and Meacham station.

Employees pay for the gasoline when the service station manager makes his routine rounds through the building. They pay either by Union Oil credit card or cash.

One employee said other workers at the company are "happy they can get gas" and that "people must be disgusted that we're getting gas" at the darkened station.

One problem that occurred along with the shortage is that some employees were parking in different lots to get more than their share from the truck. But company officials think they have solved the problem created by the jockeying employees by more closely monitoring their position in two main parking lots.

5 from area win 'legislator awards'

Five state representatives from the Northwest suburbs were named this weekend among 20 House recipients of the "Best Legislator Award" by the Independent Voters of Illinois.

Heading the list was Rep. Richard A. Mugalian, D-Palatine, who finished second in the IVI ranking of 177 legislators to Rep. Joseph Lundy, D-Evanston, on the basis of their votes on 62 various issues.

Lundy and Sen. Dawn Clark Netsch, D-Chicago, were given the IVI's Ethel Parker Awards as the top-ranking legislators in each house. The awards are named for the woman who originated the Best Legislator award about 30 years ago.

Other state representatives from the Northwest suburbs who were honored by the IVI, listed by their IVI ranking, were:

Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights and Rep. Aaron Jaffe, D-Skokie, tied for sixth; Rep. Harold A. Katz, D-Glenview, 13th; and Rep. John E. Porter, R-Evanston, 15th.

Only four Best Legislator awards were presented to members of the Senate. But Sen. Bradley M. Glass, R-Northfield, ranked sixth in the Senate of 59 members.

Among the lowest-ranking legislators, by IVI standards, was Rep. John Friedland, R-South Elgin, who ranked 178th.

In the Senate, Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, and Sen. David J. Regner, R-Mount Prospect, tied for 51st among 59 members.

Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, 26th; Rep. Brian B. Duff, R-Wilmette, tied for 30th; Rep. Virginia Macdonald, R-Arlington Heights, tied for 37th; Rep. Edward E. Bluthardt, R-Schiller Park, tied for 79th; Rep. Jack B. Williams, D-Franklin Park, tied for 83rd; Rep. Leo LaFleur, R-Bloomington, 101st; Rep. Richard Walsh, R-Oak Park, tied for 110th; Rep. Donald L. Totten, R-Hoffman Estates, tied for 147th; and Rep. Robert Juckett, R-Park Ridge, tied for 170th.

Other senators: Sen. John Nimrod, R-Skokie, tied for 38th; and Sen. Howard Mohr, R-Forest Park, tied for 48th.

Chapman, Behrens back Norman

Gerald M. Chapman and Mrs. Carl Behrens, both of Arlington Heights, have been named by Wheeling Township Democratic committeeman Donald L. Norman as co-managers of his campaign in the March 19 primary.

Norman has also named election committees in the villages of Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Mount Prospect and Wheeling, and in Prospect Heights.

Norman succeeded James L. McCabe as committeeman following McCabe's resignation last fall. He is opposed in the March election by Nathaniel P. Leighton of Arlington Heights, president of the Wheeling Township Independent Democratic Coalition.

Juckett to host theater party

State Rep. Robert S. Juckett, R-Park Ridge, will host a theater party on Wednesday, March 13, at the Arlington Park Theatre. Proceeds will help defray campaign and legislative office expenses, according to Juckett.

Featured at the theater that night will be "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," with James Farentino. Information on tickets for the party may be obtained by calling or writing Juckett's campaign office, 26 Main St., Park Ridge, 823-3142.

You and your taxes

Deducting medical and dental costs

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of five articles providing guidelines on how to prepare, and perhaps save money on, your 1973 federal income tax. The information comes from the Commerce Clearing House of Chicago, an authority on tax law.

Taxpayers who itemize their deductions must consider minimum limits in deducting medical and dental expenses on their federal income tax returns.

Deduction is allowed for expenses actually paid during the taxable year covering medical care of the taxpayer, his wife or dependent who is not compensated for by insurance or through other means. The deduction is limited, however, to that portion of the expenses which exceed 3 per cent of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income. There is also a 1 per cent limitation on drugs and medicines.

On a joint return, the 3 per cent is based on the total adjusted gross income of both the husband and wife.

THE 3 PER CENT limitation, however, does not apply to one-half — up to $150 per year — of the amount paid for qualified deductible medical care insurance. Any amount over this limitation paid for such insurance is lumped together with other medical expenses and deducted, subject to the 3 per cent rule.

Qualified medical insurance premiums include amounts paid for:

- Policies that provide reimbursement for hospitalization, surgical fees and other medical expenses;
- Policies that provide only for the reimbursement of the cost of prescription drugs;
- The medical care portion in policies providing for more than one type of reimbursement if the medical charge is reasonable and is stated separately in the insurance contract or is furnished to the taxpayer in a separate statement;
- Membership in an association furnishing cooperative, or so-called "free choice" medical service, or group hospitalization and clinical care;
- Supplementary medical care insurance under Medicare, but not the employee tax for hospital insurance; and
- Medical care insurance premiums paid by the taxpayer for himself, his spouse, or a dependent, before he reaches 65, which cover medical care after he reaches 65. These premiums are deductible when paid if they are payable on a level payment basis for 10 years or more, or until the year in which the taxpayer reaches 65, but in no case for less than five years.

Medical expenses include amounts paid for the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment or prevention of disease or for the purpose of affecting any structure or function of the body, including amounts paid for health insurance, dental work, eyeglasses, artificial limbs, hearing aids, transportation primarily for and essential to medical care, and the like.

MEDICINES AND drugs are included only to the extent they exceed 1 per cent of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income. Funeral expenses are not medical expenses.

Taxpayers who received certain payments because of medical expenses, permanent injury or sickness during 1973 may not be required to pay federal income tax on such amounts.

come tax on such amounts.

Amounts received under workmen's compensation acts as compensation for personal injuries or sickness, or damages received on account of personal injuries or sickness, are not taxed.

Amounts received through accident or health insurance or through an employee's health and accident plan as reimbursement for medical expenses or for personal injury are also excludable.

OTHERWISE, AMOUNTS received for personal injuries or sickness are taxed to the extent they are paid for by an employer or are attributable to contributions made by an employer to a plan.

If wages were received for a period during which an employee was absent from work due to sickness or injury, such amounts, within limits, can be excluded from income on Form 1040. To figure your sick-pay exclusion under the sick-pay rules, you must first determine whether your sick pay was over 75 per cent of your regular weekly rate of pay.

If you received over 75 per cent of your regular weekly pay for periods of absence from work because of sickness or injury, there is a 30-day waiting period, even if you were hospitalized, before you qualify for the exclusion. After 30 days, you can exclude up to $100 per week.

IF YOU RECEIVED 75 per cent or less of your regular weekly pay, there's a seven-day waiting period if you were not hospitalized and the exclusion is limited to $75 per week. There's no seven-day waiting period if you were hospitalized at least one day during the absence period. After 30 days, the exclusion rises to the $100 limit.

The 7-or-30-day waiting period applies to each period of absence.

A statement should be attached to your tax return in support of a claimed exclusion for sick pay. Form 2240, one for each period of absence, may be used to explain the exclusion. If the period of absence extends into a second year, a statement containing the information required by the form, not Form 2240, should be used.

Where an employee retires because of disability, the disability payments qualify as sick pay until he reaches the normal or mandatory retirement age. Also, the sick pay exclusion is applicable to regular wages paid under wage continuation plans to employees working past the normal retirement age.

Employees Dig Deeper for Crusade of Mercy

Sue Wagner and Gene Sanford accepted a special citation on behalf of the 80 employees who spearheaded the Crusade of Mercy campaign at Washington National. The citation was granted because Washington National employees pledged almost $23,000 to the Crusade, a 45 percent increase over their contributions for the previous year. This is in addition to a sizeable donation from the Company to the Crusade of Mercy.

Win at bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

Two chances better than one

Take a look at the North-South hands only. You are playing a three notrump contract. West opens the queen of hearts and continues the jack. East overtakes with the king and cashes the ace and another heart. Then he leads a small spade.

You have lost four tricks and are looking at eight sure winners—four clubs, three diamonds and a spade.

You can collect your ninth trick by means of a successful spade finesse or if diamonds break 3-3. If you know anything about probable suit breaks you know that a suit breaks 3-3 just under 38% of the time. You also know that a finesse is a 50-50 proposition.

Therefore, your first thought is to take the finesse.

Now look at the East-West hands. The spade finesse works and the diamond suit fails to break.

In spite of all this the correct play is to refuse the spade finesse. Then you cash all your clubs. East has to make two discards. The first is a club. He chucks his last low spade. The second is different. He can't throw the king of spades and must chuck a diamond, whereupon you make four diamond tricks and your contract.

Why was this last play correct? Be-

The rerun season nearly upon us again

HOLLYWOOD — Well, it's almost March, and television's rerun season is right around the corner.

And show business unions are still furious about the amount of network reruns.

And some viewers aren't happy about all those reruns either.

But the networks say they don't have much choice in the matter because rising production costs brought about the current situation.

Besides, they say, an awful lot of people don't see a program the first time around anyway.

AND THEREFORE, according to this reasoning, reruns aren't really reruns to people who are seeing them for the first time.

This reasoning is of no consolation whatever to the show business labor force.

The fewer programs there are, the more critical the employment situation becomes.

According to statistics, most income

DuBrow on TV

earned by performers in television comes from commercials.

At any rate, the amount of reruns on the networks does seem absurd when you consider they dominate video for about six months a year.

Reruns used to start somewhere around June. Series would have about 39 new episodes a year.

NOWADAYS WE ARE into reruns just about the time winter and spring merge.

The theatrical unions mean business on the rerun issue — and the networks may well feel the heat in contract negotiations.

Among the most vocal organizations opposing the great number of reruns is an obviously key union — the Screen Actors Guild.

It would not be surprising if this union went to the mat with the networks over the rerun issue in contract bargaining.

It's pretty hard to get passionately worried about the financial problems of networks that keep boasting about record profits.

But these organizations do have legitimate points of their own in regard to production costs and reruns.

BUDGETS DO HAVE to be drawn up, and when production outlays are tightened, quality programs are usually the first ones cut back on.

In addition, there's no great benefit to viewers if you make 13 more episodes a year of a mediocre series, even if it means more jobs.

At the present, the networks seem to be holding most of the cards in controlling program scheduling.

But the writers' strike of not too long ago shook them up more than they care to admit, with some shows coming in on a wing and a prayer.

And the unions feel strongly enough about the rerun matter to give network negotiators some sleepless nights.

Arlington, Conant to square off for cage title

by ART MUGALIAN

The Mid-Suburban League championship game tonight will be a contest between two schools — and two schools of basketball thought.

Arlington, the oldest high school in Dist. 214, will host Conant, in operation for only a decade in Dist. 211. Arlington lost to Prospect in last year's title game; Conant has never played in the championship match.

George Zigman's Arlington Cardinals like to run with the ball, and Dick Redlinger's Cougars play a slower game.

Arlington's quick, aggressive fashion of play has earned them an 18-4 record, a 10-game winning streak, and first place laurels in the North division. Conant's 18-3 mark and the South title were gained on the strength of a slow, methodical game plan.

"I think that's partly what this game is all about," Zigman said, when quizzed on the title tilt. "Conant plays a deliberate, patient style, and we like to move the ball a little bit. I suspect that each of us will be trying to set up our own kind of game."

Redlinger agreed: "We'll try to slow them down as much as we can and give our big kids a chance to rest."

The Cougars rely on an offensive attack paced by their three high-scoring frontliners — 6-foot-8 Steve Irion, 6-5 Roger Sander, and 6-4 Dave Sutherland. Irion, the big center, has been averaging 17 points per game, and the two forwards, Sander and Sutherland, are each maintaining a 14-point average.

"It's going to be a bruising, physical game under the boards," Zigman predicted. "With Dan Donahue, Jeff Cleveland, and Doug Betters for us, that makes six pretty big, physical kids fighting for the rebounds."

Donahue, a 6-10 center and the second highest scorer in the league with a 21-point average, and Cleveland, scoring at a 16.7 per game rate, are the offensive keys for Arlington, along with the fine guard work of Jerry DeSimone and Steve Loughman.

Redlinger can only wait and see how well the Cougars' 2-3 zone works against Arlington. Their zone configuration has been highly successful so far this season. "We hope to block up the middle and force them to shoot from outside," the Conant coach explained. "Then maybe we'll go to some man-to-man coverage."

Zigman knows the perils of operating against the 2-3 zone. "Conant forces you to take the outside shot, and then their three big guys give you only that one shot. But we've got some good shooters. I may bring Doug Doppke in off the bench — he may be the best outside shooter we have."

Conant's coach has three capable back-court men to choose from — Tom Bowen, Jeff Ironside, and Lindsey Rose. They will be thoroughly tested by Arlington's rough three-quarter court press. "We've been working against the press in practice," Redlinger noted. "We should be able to adjust to anything they throw at us."

The teams played last year and Arlington won a close game, 53-47, as Irion fouled out midway through the final quarter after scoring 13 points. Fouls may again be a factor tonight.

"It's going to come down to who gets in foul trouble and who has the hot shooters," Redlinger said. "Both teams are pretty equal in height, strength, shooting ability, and rebounding."

Zigman emphasized the importance of reserve strength. "I think if we have to go to the bench, our team will be a little better off. I've got three kids — Jay Colloton, Dennis Gaare, and Doppke — who can come in and play good basketball."

The Arlington coach compared Conant to the Hersey Huskies — the team the Cards beat Friday to reach the championship match. "The two teams play the same kind of deliberate game, and they make you take that outside shot. Hersey combined a 2-3 zone with a man-to-man defense Friday night. In a way we were fortunate because we practiced for Hersey's defense and we'll see the same thing against Conant."

Redlinger figures that confidence is a major factor in the game tonight. "Now it's up to the kids. I think they can beat Arlington. The question is — will they do it? It's up to them. All five have to play a good game to do it."

While the Cardinals and Cougars battle at Arlington, North division schools will host their South counterparts in the standings in five other crossover games tonight. Forest View (10-3) is at Wheeling (11-2), Prospect (8-5) visits Hersey (9-4), Elk Grove (6-7) goes to Palatine (4-9), Schaumburg (1-12) travels to Fremd (4-9), and Buffalo Grove (1-12) plays at Rolling Meadows (2-11). Wheeling and Arlington have identical marks, but the Cards earned the title nod with two victories over the Wildcats.

But the big game pits Arlington against Conant, both with 11-2 records in the conference. Tomorrow, after three months of rugged league competition, one team will reign as champion of the MSL.

Is the Jet looking for a landing strip?

by IRA BERKOW

CHICAGO — Chet the Jet may be suffering structural fatigue, as they say around the flight towers, yet he is ripping along at his customary sound-barrier speeds. But only the old flying crate himself and his medical machine can tell the difference.

Oh, sometimes his 33-year-old fuselage aches, and sometimes his tail droops and now he thinks more than ever about hanging it up in the hangar. The fans, though, see a different Chet Walker. They see the old Jet — meaning, the young Jet.

In his 12th pro season, the 6-7, 220-pound forward for the Chicago Bulls has again made the National Basketball Association all-star team. He is averaging over 20 points a game as he has done for nearly each season of his career.

The daily pounding on the court, the unceasing emotional highs needed to sustain top-level performance have been wearing away the Jet, so he says.

"This could be my last season," he said recently, while fueling up at Breakfast on corned beef hash. "The main thing is the tendonitis in my knees. My knees are about shot now. And I'm worried that when I'm 50 I may not be able to walk, if I keep playing. It's like when Sandy Koufax retired. It was the pain in his left elbow. He said he didn't want to be crippled in the arm for life."

As the hash continued to disappear under the mustache, the Jet went on. "Once, I could jump for rebounds and it was pure instinct. Now I have to tell myself to jump." And now when he does jump, he says, he maintains a lower level of elevation. He says he compensates by using his experience in positioning, as well as knowing how to best use wind currents. Whenever anyone opens a door in an arena, the Jet jumps.

He says, also, that he doesn't hoist himself as high on his jump shot (must rely on timing) and has lost a step on his drive (so must better use fakes and his weight).

As for the old cockpit, he says the gears there are beginning to grind down. "This is a very emotional game," he said. "Very demanding since you have to be up psychologically for so many games. Not like in football where you play one game and then you have a week to prepare yourself for the next."

Besides that, the pressures of winning, and the pressures of playing well enough to satisfy yourself professionally can tire a guy out. "He says that now is the best time for him to go out of the game, since he wants to remember himself this way, playing the game he has played all his life and playing it as well as he ever did.

He says he still enjoys playing, and especially enjoys winning. Yet he adds that too great an emphasis is put on winning. "It's frustrating during the season if we don't become champions," he said. "I live in a capitalistic society and I accept the values. But later after the season, when I look back, I think, 'I did the best I could, and I'm satisfied.'"

Of course, some, like Bill Russell, retire when they think they ought to stop working at a game children play. "Absolutely not true for me," said the Jet. "Professional basketball is on a totally different level from amateur ball. I mean, does anyone ever say Dionne Warwick, for example, should stop singing because even kids sing songs while taking a bath with a rubber duck?"

What happens next? When a Jet is finished, is he put out to pasture? "I don't know," he said. "I have some interest in real estate, but I've been so involved in basketball that I haven't given it much thought. I'm not a spendthrift — the biggest splurge was my Mercedes — and I've got enough money saved to go 10 years without working, if I want to."

"And I've maintained a good reputation. I've never been controversial. I've just been a hard-working pro."

Five years ago, the Jet was traded from Philadelphia to Chicago. It was thought by some that he was finished. But he didn't think he was ready to be grounded. Now, though, even he is saying it. Too bad. For, despite the rickety landing gears, there appears no lag in the old Jet yet.

Elk Grove overcomes tense moments in Maine West District domination

by JIM COOK
Gymnastics Editor

Despite a few anxious moments by sore-wristed all-arounder Bill Bosslet, Elk Grove marched through the Maine West District with a whopping 146 points and 19 sectional qualifiers.

In advancing one fewer than last year when head coach Fred Gaines' Grenadiers finished second in the state, Elk Grove qualified the maximum three competitors in floor exercise, horizontal bar, trampoline, parallel bars and rings while contributing two spots on side horse and all-around.

Sixteen of Elk Grove's berths are "ranked" qualifiers — those finishing in the top five in the district meet — while an additional three were rounded up from an "at-large" field composed of the next nine positions from the Maine West, Niles East and Glenbrook South Districts.

Maine East enjoyed polling six "ranked" and four "at-large" berths for a total of 11 while finishing fourth with 57 points. Maine West's breakdown was three and four for a total of seven in fifth place with 41 points and Forest View counted one ranked and one at-large positions for a total of two sectional places while finishing sixth with 12.5 points.

Bosslet, Elk Grove's state-contending, all-around ace, spilled off the rings at the Mid-Suburban Conference Meet two weeks ago and suffered a badly sprained wrist.

Ice treatments and a heavy taping permitted the versatile senior to compete in every event, although Gaines "watered down" his routines to prevent pressure on the strained area but still insure qualifying.

FLOOR EXERCISE

Bosslet and soph Gene Christensen earned "ranked" credentials on the floor in a tie for fifth with identical 7.75's.

Maine East's Steve Slaw tied for the gold medal with a nifty 8.25 while Maine West's Mark Schludt notched third with an even 8.0. Bosslet and soph Gene Christensen shared the final fifth-place "ranked" berth with identical 7.75's and picked up Matt Damore in the at-large pool with a 6.9.

SIDE HORSE

The Grenadier duo of Tom Chen and Mike Heiberger finished 1-2 in the event with 8.25 and 8.15, respectively. Forest View crowned its lone ranked qualifier when Kevin Harvey netted fourth with a 7.3, and added Mark Olman at-large with a 5.2.

Maine East's John Giovenco landed fifth with a 7.0 while teammate Steve Silberman was right behind with a 6.7 for sixth. Maine West dipped into the at-large category and came out with Neal Scadian's 6.6.

HORIZONTAL BAR

Elk Grove's best event of the evening found it blitzing the field with the top three finishers. Mike Broderick earned the award stand's top pedestal with an 8.3 and was flanked by Bill Bosslet's 8.15 and Damore's 8.0.

Maine West's Taylor registered a fourth-place 7.8, and East qualified at-large finishers John Gervens (7.55) and Mike Nybakken (6.75).

TRAMPOLINE

Elk Grove bounced to the two top spots with Dave Hadley twisting to an 8.35 and Scott Harriett hitting 7.35. Maine West's Ken Heller flipped to third with a 6.7 and teammate Schludt slipped in at-large with a 6.20. Demons John Larson and Frank Craigler rounded out the ranked class with 6.55 and 6.4, respectively.

PARALLEL BARS

Although Grenadiers Dave Niemeyer and Matt Damore finished first and fourth with scores of 8.5 and 7.8, the loss of Bosslet with a 7.55 seemed a possibility. The score, however, was a solid third in the at-large department.

Maine East's Mark Russ earned a share of fifth and ranked qualifier status with a 7.7 while teammate Cary Betti got the green light with a 7.6 at-large.

STILL RINGS

Elk Grove's strongest event was personified as Jack Henry ruled with an 8.85. George Beahan nailed down fourth with a 7.4 and Bosslet notched fifth with a 7.15.

Maine East's Mike Nybakken soared to a 7.7 for third, but that was the end for area qualifiers as the Niles East District jammed six of the nine at-large positions.

ALL-AROUND

His painful wrist injury didn't prevent Bosslet from capturing honors with a 6.88 average. Teammate Damore netted fourth with a 6.47 while Taylor and Mike Swiatek of Maine West qualified at-large with averages of 5.12 and 4.0, respectively.

Meadows poised for at-large gravy

Gymnastics Editor

Four area gymnastics teams played "keepaway" from two visiting schools from Elgin in the Conant District Saturday night.

Rolling Meadows, Arlington, Conant and Schaumburg hogged the top five positions in all seven events to gain 35 ranked berths in the Rolling Meadows Sectional this weekend.

The Mustangs were the ringleaders, hoarding 13 positions en route to the district title with 140 points. Arlington's 10 ranked qualifiers netted second with 107, Conant's seven bagged third with 76.5 points and Schaumburg's five landed fourth with 49.5.

Elgin Larkin, although stifled in seven attempts to the award's stand, picked up 18 points in the meet while sister-school

Tom Hall

Elgin and upshot Hoffman Estates were blanked in the score column on a basis of 11 for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc.

The local's numbers are bound to grow once the nine at-large berths in each event are computed from the combined entries from the Conant, Waukegan and Hersey Districts. Hersey's seven-team elimination was held last night.

"From what I've seen in the form of results from the other districts so far, we're going to need everybody we can get," Rolling Meadows head coach Vic Avigliano said while caressing his second district trophy in two years.

Meadows stuffed two performers into the top five on every event but side horse and captured four of the seven individual blue ribbons.

FLOOR EXERCISE

Schaumburg made its presence felt immediately by snatching the two top spots on the wings of Rich Ninow's 8.15 and Jim Buckley's 7.9. Mustang Mike Godawa's 7.9 earned a slice of second while teammate Alex Gimbut deadlocked with Arlington's Don Marquis for fourth with identical 7.55's.

SIDE HORSE

Arlington was next to enter the spotlight by jamming a trio of horsemen into the top five. Meadows' Blaine Dahl won the competition with an 8.4, but Cardinals Chris Frees and Nick Koehnke divided second with 8.25's and Greg Burmeister made it a sweep with a 7.8 for fourth. Conant's Jerry Hawkenson grabbed the final ranked berth with a 7.35.

HORIZONTAL BAR

Mike Godawa earned his first of three individual gold medals in the meet with a booming 8.45 on horizontal bar. Schaumburg's Asie Klemma was awarded the silver with an 8.15 and Conant's Tim Dern got the bronze with a 7.85. Mustang Keith Liszewski polled fourth with a 7.25 and Cougar Al Olsen closed out the awards with a fifth-place 6.95.

TRAMPOLINE

Conant began a parade of two successive individual titlists on tramp when Tom Hall bounced to a nifty 8.25. Arlington's Bob Flubacher cut a slice of second with a 7.8 while teammate Barry Brinn notched fourth with a 7.4. Meadows' Terry Palmberg equaled Flubacher's 7.8 to deadlock for runnerup honors and Mustang Jim Losito occupied the fifth slot with a 7.25.

PARALLEL BARS

Conant rose to the top in parallel bars as Dern pocketed an 8.2. Rolling Meadows alternated in second and fourth with Godawa (7.95) and Terry Conroy (7.25) carrying the load while Schaumburg's Klemma nailed down third with a 7.7 and Arlington's Jeff Scheck fifth with a 7.0.

STILL RINGS

Godawa stunned the field with a sobering 8.6 and received support from Dave Gauger's 7.9 that tied for third. Arlington forged a pair into the sectionals in the persons of Dan White's 7.95 for second and Jim Nolle's 7.7 for fifth. Conant's Mark Mueller got judges' splits of 8.0 and 7.8 for a 7.9 average and a share of third with Gauger.

ALL-AROUND

Godawa shook hands with the medal distributor for the third time from the top pedestal on the awards stand after averaging 7.96 for five events. Gallis joined his teammate in fourth place with a 5.88 while Conant's Dern notched second with 6.94. Klemma of Schaumburg nestled in third with a 6.83 and Arlington's Drew Parlee stood in fifth with a 5.74.

Additional at-large qualifiers from the Conant District will appear in tomorrow's Herald.

TANGLE CONTROL. Conant's Tim Dern sends his body from the two judges. Dern won parallel bars with 8.2 and was third on high bar at the Conant District.

Is Hinsdale gym dynasty still alive?

Over the past four years, Hinsdale Central and Illinois High School Gymnastics Champion have been interchangeable.

Area teams have been hot on the heels of the Red Devils in past state meets, but unable to put head coach Tony Canino's crew away.

Hinsdale, holder of the national gym record with a 154.26 dual-meet raw score, doesn't appear ready to end its dynasty. The Red Devils scored an impressive 142 at the Downers Grove South District and qualified 20 berths for the Addison Trail Sectional.

Despite suffering dual-meet losses at the hands of Mid-Suburban Leaguers Elk Grove and Hersey, Hinsdale has answered the challenge of defending its four consecutive title.

Canino again boasts both individual talent and depth as exemplified by Pat Gunning's 8.8, Steve Economides' 8.45 and John Jacus' 8.05 on floor.

Red Devil Tom Truedson scored 8.75, Paul Black 8.0 and Jim Ervin 7.45 on horse while Gunning returned for an 8.15, Erwin a 7.55 and George Howell a 7.0 on high bar. Trampolines is perhaps Hinsdale's weakest event with scores of 7.65, 7.4 and 5.4.

But the Red Devils came right back on parallel bars with Steve DeCarson's 8.35, Erwin's 8.35 and Mike Jebb's 8.0 while adding Erwin's 8.35, Gunning's 8.05 and Jacus' 7.85 on rings.

Hersey handles Meadows in indoor track action

by ART MUGALIAN
Track and Field Editor

Hersey opened its indoor track season by ripping Rolling Meadows in a dual meet, 69 1/3 to 35 2/3.

Larry Travis' boys captured first place spots in all but two events, the pole vault and the shot put.

Huskie Jim DiLenge took three of the firsts himself, with a :05.8 in the 50-yard dash, an :06.9 in the 50-yard low hurdles, and a long jump of 20-1 1/4 feet. DiLenge also anchored Hersey's four-lap relay team which won in a time of :52.

Hersey took the first two spots in the two mile, paced by Jay McCarthy's 9:51.5. Dave Jones came in second (10:12.3) and Mike Scott of Rolling Meadows finished third (10:43.5). Tad Doley captured the mile run for the Huskies with a clocking of 4:56.5, followed by the Mustangs' Scott (5:04). In the 800, Ron Stephani won with a time of 2:05.0, edging out Hersey teammate Tom Mogge at 2:12.5. Jim Huddleston of Rolling Meadows came in third (2:17.9).

Craig Musser of the Huskies captured the 50-yard high hurdles with a :07.2 and he finished second in the lows (:07.0). He also ran on Hersey's 12-lap relay winner (3:33).

Chris Cooney won the 440 for Hersey with a time of :55.9 and Huskie Scott So-wers took the high jump (5-8).

Meadows' two winners were Mark Harris in the pole vault (10 feet) and John Sloan in the shot. Sloan's heave of 54-8 1/2 paced the Mustangs to a sweep of the event, as Jim Buhm (42-11) and Tom Donlon (42-10) grabbed second and third.

Sloan showed his versatility by finishing second in the high jump with a 5-4. Other good performances were turned in by Mustangs Mike Mattie (thirds in the high and low hurdles), Greg Bowen (third in the lows and second in the 50-yard dash), and Jeff Ramas (second in the highs).

Schaumburg's track team recently dropped a dual meet to Elgin, 69-53, but Dennis Garber's Saxons took six first places, led by Ed Martin and Arnie Jackson.

Martin captured both the 80-yard high hurdles and the 60-yard lows with times of :08.2 and :07.6. He also won the 220-yard dash at 1:25.4. Jackson was victorious in the mile (4:41.5) and the two mile (10:03.5). Martin also finished second in the long jump with a leap of 17-11 1/4.

The Saxons swept the pole vault event with Bruce Mahlig the winner at 13-6, followed by Steve Kropke (11-0) and Jeff Boji (11-0). Brian Feicho took a second place and two thirds for Schaumburg in the high jump and the high and low hurdles. Dave Wodek captured second place in the shot put (45-3), Mark Hoerich took second in the 800 (2:09), and Steve Pace was runnerup in the 440 (:59.3).

Ron Gummerson's Conant Cougars resumed the season with a third place team finish in a triangular meet at Skokie. The Cougars amassed 47 points to 33 for Glenbrook North and 67 for Niles West.

Len Olson took a second place for Conant in the 50-yard dash with a clocking of :06.5. Scott Clark was runnerup in the pole vault at 12-6, and John Bond finished second in the two mile run with a time of 10:21.3.

Steve Kaminski threw the shot 45-4, good for a third place spot. Doug Paape high jumped 5-4 for a third, and Dave Elderkind ran the mile in 4:48.8 for a third spot. Dan Kosrow ran third in the 440-yard dash with a :56.7 and Jeff Brandt came in third in the 50-yard high hurdles (:07.0).

Maine schools to host Central Suburban track

Maine East and South will be the host schools today when the Central Suburban League conducts its two divisional indoor track championships.

East will host the North division schools including Maine North, Glenbrook North and South, Highland Park and New Trier West.

South will entertain Maine West, Deerfield and the three Niles schools — East, West and North. Both meets begin at 4:30 p.m. today.

The divisional competition serves as qualification for Saturday's league championships, set for 11 a.m. at Maine East. Six athletes will qualify per event from each of the two divisional meets.

Maine East won the indoor title last year and has a good opportunity to repeat with strongest competition from Glenbrook North, New Trier West and Maine West.

The Demons return Mike Smith, last year's high jump winner, plus Rocky Reed who was second in that event. Others who could place well are low hurdler Scott Peota, miler Lloyd Spitzer and shot putter Bob Racconelli.

Peota, Mike Kallal, Brian Nathanson and Sam Rea will run the four-lap and mile relays for Maine East.

North hopes to qualify half-miler Brian Becker, milers Mike Sharpe and Bob O'Donnell, two miler Brad Furukawa and Victor Davis in two events — the 50-yard dash and long jump. Hurdler Tom Leonard has a muscle strain and might not compete.

Maine West is favored to qualify nearly its entire team at the South division meet. However, the Warriors won't have hurdler Bill Klippert, out with an injury.

Field event men for West include high jumper Mike Klebe, long jumpers Dave Braun and Joe Parsons, shot putters Jeff Keister and Rich Placinek plus pole vaulters Greg Guyssler and Mark Sikora.

Kevin Skahan, Steve Jacobson, Bill Wadman and Greg Klebe will run the mile relay. Skahan and Jacobson also running the 440 dash.

Others for West include two miler Joe Paul, hurdlers Mark Siska, John Whipple and Siska; Art Mraz and Scott Unger in the 50 dash and Greg Klebe plus Randy VanVleck in the 800 run.

Chris Evert visits in Slims test

With an apparent "born with a racquet in her hand" background, it's no wonder that Chris Evert — despite her youth — shows poise as well as a "cool, calm and collected" professionalism on the tennis court.

"As a child I was taught the value of athletics," says Chris. "and in tennis the rewards are substantial — I can stay in good physical condition playing the sport I love and earn a good living at the same time."

Chris, one of the biggest drawing cards on the tour, will be among the top women tennis players in the world on hand for the $50,000 Virginia Slims Tennis Tournament this week in Chicago.

Such big names as Billie Jean King, Rosie Casals and Francoise Durr will be competing for the top prize at the Lakeshore Racquet Club, 1320 W. Fullerton Ave. Preliminary rounds began yesterday. Tonight's round begins at 5:30 and will go to about 11:00.

In 1971, Chris Evert — only 17 — became the youngest player in U.S. Wightman Cup history. That year she spearheaded the 4-3 victory with wins over Winnie Shaw and Virginia Wade. At the 1971 U.S. Open, she beat Mary Ann Eisel Beattie after surviving six match points against her and then went on to defeat Francoise Durr and Lesley Hunt.

In 1972 at Boca Raton, Florida's $100,000 Virginia Slims Championship, Chris beat Billie Jean in straight sets. She won but was ineligible to accept the $25,000 first prize — She was not quite 18 and still an amateur. Seizing an opportunity to make a clean sweep of the Kings, Chris' 11-year-old brother John extended Billie Jean's husband Larry to three sets.

Obviously the athletics lesson was learned well throughout the Evert family. Younger sister Jeanne has impressively demonstrated her skills on the tennis court and is following Chris' footsteps on the pro circuit. And John, now 12, already has one good showing against a King. Age apparently is not a barrier against the more experienced players if talent compensates.

At 16, Chris became the youngest semifinalist ever at Forest Hills, losing to eventual winner Billie Jean King. Her 1971 season also included wins at the Eastern Grass Courts and the Girls 18

Nationals. Her record included a 46 match victory streak.

In the 1972 U.S. Open, Chris again proved her point (by winning it), that youth knows no bounds. In a "Match of the Tournament," Russian star Olga Morozova had Chris at match point, but Chris fought back to win in sudden death.

By the end of 1972, Chris had in her blossoming career accomplished something of rare value to her. Against the top-ranked American woman, Billie Jean King, Chris had three wins and one loss. In 1973, Chris again won two Wightman Cup singles matches as the U.S. held on to the Cup once more. She was also a finalist in the French and at Wimbledon.

Chris Evert's age, as demonstrated by her record, has never hampered her play. However, when an opponent faces so able a professional as Chris, it tends to create a wrinkle or two and a few gray hairs here and there.

HER TRADEMARK. Chris Evert flashes her famous two handed backhand during a match at Wimbledon, England against Evonne Goelagong.

Ms. Evert as well as Billie Jean King and many other top women stars are in Chicago this week for the Virginia Slims Tennis Tournament.

Virginia Slims tourney schedule

Throughout the week, area tennis enthusiasts will be able to watch the best women players in the world at the Virginia Slims Tournament in Chicago.

For those who will be driving down the Kennedy Expressway to the tourney site — the Lakeshore Racquet Club, 1320 W. Fullerton Ave. — here are directions: Exit east at Fullerton Ave. and drive one mile to the club.

The following is a tournament timetable:

Tuesday — 5:30 to 11:00 (first round, singles and doubles)

Wednesday — 5:30 to 11:00 (second round, singles and doubles)

Thursday — 7:00 to midnight (quarter-finals, singles and doubles)

Friday — 7:00 to midnight (quarter-finals, singles and doubles)

Saturday — 1:00 to midnight (semi-finals, singles and doubles)

Sunday — Noon (finals, singles and doubles)

HOCKEY MAST AND ALL. Maine East's Mark Berns battles for ball control last Friday evening against Glenbrook North. Berns broke his nose two weeks ago against Maine

Hockey Cards, Ann Arbor meet

When you're hotter than a firecracker in hockey or any sport which demands top conditioning and timing, how does a one-week layoff affect your play?

The Chicago Cardinals will help provide the answer when they confront the Ann Arbor Generals in North American Hockey Association games on Saturday (7:30 p.m.) and Sunday (2:30 p.m.) at Randhurst Twin Ice Arena in Mount Prospect. Chicago, riding high on a 23-0-2 NAHA record, has been idle since taking two games from the St. Louis Saints on Feb. 16 and 17.

Tickets are now on sale at reduced advance prices at the Randhurst Arena box office at the south end of the Randhurst Shopping Center parking lot. Adults pay $3, students $1.50 and children under 13 $1.25.

Nordics suffer two losses

St. Paul plays it rough and uses their size to intimidate in the Midwest Junior Hockey League. The much smaller Chicago Nordics met them head on Saturday night at Randhurst Twin Ice Arena in Mount Prospect and almost beat them at their own game.

When the bodychecks and fists stopped flying and the referee's whistle subsided after 41 penalties were called, St. Paul barely edged the Chicagoans 5-3 — hitting an open net in the closing seconds when goalie Bill Milner left in favor of a sixth attacker. Sunday afternoon, another hard-hitting contest went to the Nordics by a 9-3 count, with the Nordics players apparently drained of stamina by the two rugged encounters.

The Nordics outshot St. Paul 31-30, to indicate the closeness of Saturday's effort. St. Paul led 3-1 going into the final stanza, but the home team battled back on goals by Mike Stoltzner at 7:11, assisted by Jim Allen and Brano Stankovsky, followed by a goal by Allen, assisted by Bruce Garber at 8:56. An enthusiastic crowd whooped it up even after St. Paul's Bruce Lind hit the net at the 14 minute mark to put the visitors ahead 4-3. Chicago responded in all but managing to push the puck past Jack Horner in the nets.

The 41 penalties totaled a staggering 194 minutes, including seven game misconducts and six penalties for fighting. Chicago was charged with 15 infractions to St. Paul's 26.

On Sunday, Chicago took an early lead on Jim Allen's goal, assisted by Stoltzner, but the Vulcans roared back with three scores in the last three minutes of the first period. Frank Nardella, assisted by Allen, scored just before the period ended to close the gap to 3-2.

Then, St. Paul's size began to tell and they outthrust the Nordics and beat Wes Pierce three times in the second and third periods to reach their nine-goal total. Chicago's only response was a score in the last period by Craig Glander, assisted by John Pratt and Jim Allen.

All-Out Hockey

You can't watch more exciting hockey than in the Midwest Junior A Hockey League. Everyone tries harder because they have something to prove. (Superstars like Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita came directly out of Canadian Jr. A.)

Allocations to curb end-of-month shortages

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Some Northwest suburban gasoline stations pumped their storage tanks dry yesterday in anticipation of additional gasoline deliveries that didn't arrive.

More than one-third of the local service stations contacted by The Herald were out of gas — either because they had not received any since last week or because they sold gas more freely in recent days after learning of an extra federal allotment to metropolitan Chicago.

Long lines at some stations and "closed" signs at others were the norm yesterday as the distribution of the additional 20 million gallons of gasoline got off to a slow start.

STATION operators and oil company officials alike were annoyed because announcements of the extra allocation had led motorists to believe the gasoline would be available "instantly," while in reality the distribution of the additional allocations to all stations will extend into March.

Some suburban stations may receive the additional gasoline by today, state and oil company officials said. But many local station operators said their distributors were not able to estimate when the newly allocated fuel will reach their stations.

Of the 21 stations contacted yesterday by The Herald, only one had been promised a delivery under the new allocation by this morning.

"It's poor relations between the politicians and the consumer," said Leon Schroeder, who operates an Arco station.

STORAGE TANKS WERE empty at the Hoffman Estates Standard station at Ill. Rtes. 58 and 72 yesterday morning after the station opened all its pumps to serve the long lines of waiting motorists.

"I called down to the bulk plant and they said they're not geared up with the trucks yet for delivery. It will be Wednesday before we get it," a spokesman for the station said. The station sold out its tanks after being notified to do so by a sales representative, he said.

Another Standard station operator at Golf and Busse roads in Mount Prospect said his calls to the distributor yielded only the information that "the company can't release the gas yet."

"I had been promised 5,000 gallons and so I opened up Saturday and now we're out of regular completely," he said.

Meanwhile the state energy office in Springfield and major oil company distributors in Chicago said the gas is on its way.

A SPOKESMAN FOR State Energy Chief James W. Cook said the additional 20-million gallon federal allotment for the six-county area would probably reach retail outlets by today. The allocation increases apply to all major gasoline companies. (Continued on page 2)

Didn't back incumbents for school board

Caucus head, committee challenge charge of 'mishandling endorsement'

by JILL BETTNER

Dist. 21 General Caucus Chairman Ralph Camp and members of the screening committee yesterday challenged charges by Supt. Kenneth Gill that the group mishandled endorsement of school board candidates.

Gill criticized the caucus decision last week to support only Carol Karzen, 430 Regent Dr., Buffalo Grove for the April 13 election.

According to caucus bylaws, the group also could have backed incumbent Arlington Heights school board members, Jeremiah Crise, 611 W. Hintz Rd., and Jack Lane, 3112 N. Volz Dr., but withheld its endorsement. The race this year is for the two three-year seats occupied by Crise and Lane.

Gill charged that the caucus could not have obtained sufficient information in public interviews to evaluate the performance of the two incumbents and therefore, was not justified in refusing to lend them its support.

MARY ELLEN FELDMAN, chairman of the five-member screening committee, wrote and yesterday submitted to The Herald, a two-page statement answering Gill's charges. The statement, she said, was approved by Camp and the other committee members.

"We are responding because what Dr. Gill is assaulting is our role and our function," Mrs. Feldman said in explaining why the screening committee decided to reply to Gill's accusations. "We're very proud of what we've done and especially in light of the fact that we gave the general caucus more information for voting than has been done in recent years."

In the statement, Mrs. Feldman disagreed with Gill's assertion that the caucus endorsement decisions were made from "zeal" and criticized the superintendent for not objecting to the interview method used by the caucus before the endorsements were made.

"In objecting to the caucus evaluation, Dr. Gill said that interviews are not a good measure of incumbent school board members. How is it that, for the past 14 years of caucus existence, Dr. Gill has never challenged the interview method before? The time to question the system would have been prior to caucus endorsement, not after. And isn't it interesting that, suddenly when incumbents are not endorsed, Dr. Gill attacks the very caucus he was instrumental in founding?"

Gill helped to form the Dist. 21 caucus in 1961.

THE STATEMENT says Crise told the general membership of the caucus in interviews prior to the voting that he considered the questions put to him by the screening committee to be "comprehensive."

"In addition, the questions were developed from the concerns of the screening committee as parents of children in district schools, from eminent sources such as the Illinois School Board Journal, the Illinois Assn. of School Boards, the Illinois Assn. of School Administrators, the National Education Assn. Journal and the National PTA questionnaire "Looking in on Your Schools."

Before formulating the questions, Mrs. Feldman said the group also consulted the Dist. 21 policy manual, the district statement of philosophy, the recent Dist.

21 publication "Preparing for Tomorrow," the questions of earlier school board caucuses and two reports of citizen advisory groups that performed studies in the district.

Gill also had charged that the caucus members could not fairly judge the actions of incumbents without attending school board meetings.

"Such an evaluation had, in fact, been made by at least one of the members of the screening committee who has attended school board meetings regularly for the last 10 months," according to the statement.

"In essence, Dr. Gill has denounced the role of a caucus composed of responsible citizens chosen to represent their community organizations in the selection of school board candidates," Mrs. Feldman said.

"THE PUBLIC MUST be aware that this year, 100 community organizations were invited to sit on the caucus; this year's caucus has had more publicity and press coverage than earlier caucuses; this year's caucus has had more information on the candidate's views than ever before; this year's caucus is studying its bylaws, with a view toward revising the calendar so that candidates may be sought out earlier; and all this in addition to greater community representation and a 10-month observation of the

Parks' spring programs begin March 9

The Buffalo Grove Park District's spring recreation programs this year will offer a variety of activities with something for everyone.

The programs will consist of instructional classes for all ages, as well as a number of family activities. Registration for the upcoming programs will begin Saturday, March 9.

Residents can register at Emmerich Park, 150 Raupp Blvd. that day from 10 a.m. to noon or from 9 a.m. to noon March 11-15. Most of the classes will begin the week of March 25.

Registration for swim classes will be March 16 from 1-2 p.m. at Emmerich Park. Swim classes will be at the Aqua Dome pool in Buffalo Grove High School and will begin March 23.

ALTHOUGH REGISTRATION for most of the spring programs can be done by mail, some signups must be done in person. Programs that cannot be registered for by mail are designated in park district fliers that are to be distributed in Buffalo Grove schools this week.

Registration in some of the programs is limited, so residents will be accommodated on a first-come, first-served basis.

This spring, the park district is offering a number of new activities. One of the new programs is outdoor skills in camping and backpacking. Basic, as well as advanced skills will be taught to participants. The course will end with an optional overnight trip.

A course in the art of Japanese flower arrangement also is being offered by the park district for the first time. The course will be taught by the School of Sogetsu.

STILL ANOTHER newcomer this spring will be a class in beginning sailing. The course will explain theory and techniques of sailing along with basic boat safety.

Other new activities offered this spring are teen dancing and teen gym night. The teen gym nights will offer co-recreational basketball and volleyball.

Blood drive falls short by 106 pints

Residents donated 44 pints of blood Sunday at Buffalo Grove High School, considerably short of the goal of 150 set for the drive.

Early last week members of the village blood donor commission were concerned because so few residents had made appointments to donate. Toward the end of the week the number of donors increased substantially, but not enough to meet the commission's goal.

Officials said yesterday another drive is tentatively planned in about two months.

Under the village's program, all residents are eligible for free blood replacement anywhere in the United States if 4 per cent of the population donates a pint of blood each year. The entire village now is covered, but officials said continued donations are necessary to assure future eligibility.

If the village should fall short of its requirement, persons who have donated and members of their immediate family still are eligible. Under the program, persons are given as much blood as they need for as long as necessary.

WHO NEEDS a fork when fingers are faster? Style was not important to Marty Wozniak of Wheeling during the YMCA pancake-eating contest.

Anybody want more pancakes?

Marty Wozniak and Steve Burek have something in common — they are two of the fastest pancake eaters in the Northwest suburbs.

The two were winners last weekend in the Northwest Suburban YMCA Pancake Eating contest, part of the festivities at the Y's pancake day.

Marty, 19, and a resident of Wheeling, won in the 16-to-19-year-old division; Steve, 12, a Des Plaines resident, took the 12-to-15-year-old contest. Judging the contest were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wulf, members of the YMCA senior citizen exercise class.

The pancake day was sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Northwest Suburban YMCA.

More than 900 persons attended pancake day consuming nearly 3,000 pancakes. Proceeds from the event will go to the building fund.

Bieber's request to drop charges denied by judge

A motion to dismiss charges of extortion, perjury and filing a false tax return against Wheeling Building Director William Bieber was dismissed yesterday in U.S. District Court.

Judge James B. Parsons dismissed the motion, which contended that the charges against Bieber are legally defective. The judge, however, asked the U.S. Attorney's Office to answer several other motions entered by Bieber's attorney, David Schippers. The other motions asked for further information on the case against Bieber.

Included in the motions was a request for information on any electronic surveillance that may have been used in preparing Bieber's case. Schippers also asked that evidence against Bieber be made available to him.

FINALLY, SCHIPPERS asked that the four cases against Bieber be consolidated into one case. Since Bieber was named in four separate indictments returned last month, he is now appearing before four different judges.

Judge Parsons gave the U.S. Attorney's Office 20 days to answer the motions made by Schippers. The matter will be heard in court March 20.

Bieber was named with five other former and present Wheeling and Cook County officials in indictments returned by a federal grand jury last month. The indictments resulted from a year-long investigation into alleged shakedowns in Wheeling.

He has pleaded innocent to all 15 counts of extortion, conspiracy, perjury and filing a false income tax return. He is now on leave-of-absence from his village position, and will continue to draw his $21,500-a-year salary until charges against him are resolved.

ALSO INDICTED with Bieber and pleading innocent are James Stavros, former Wheeling Township Democratic committeeman and behind-the-scenes force in Wheeling government; Nicholas Phillips, a Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals employee and Stavros' cousin; Michael Valenza, chairman of the Wheeling Environmental Commission and former village trustee; William Hart, a former Wheeling trustee, and Ira Colitz, a county zoning board member who resigned following the indictments.

Park district sets April 10 as softball roster deadline

Teams and organizations interested in participating in Buffalo Grove's softball leagues this spring and summer should have completed rosters turned into the park district no later than April 10.

This year the park district has a league for 12-inch softball, as well as 16-inch. The 12-inch slow pitch league will play Sunday mornings and evenings. The 16-inch league will play Sunday afternoons. Both leagues will begin play in May.

Although there is not a residency requirement, Buffalo Grove teams will be given first priority in filling the leagues. The fees for the league will be announced at a later date.

Anyone with questions concerning the softball leagues should contact Mike Ryko at the park district office, 150 Raupp Blvd. or by calling 537-0356.

The park district also is attempting to organize two girls' softball teams to compete this summer against teams from other park districts.

Girls between 13 and 17 years old can play on the teams, providing they are 13 before Aug. 31.

Interested girls should leave their name and phone number with the park district before April 10.

The softball teams will begin competing after school ends for the summer. More information on the leagues will be available in the next two months.

Irving School area paper drive coming

Residents in the area of Irving School, Dist. 21, Buffalo Grove, are asked to save newspapers to contribute to a drive that will be conducted by Cub Scout Troop 418 on Saturday, April 27.

Papers should be dropped off at the school, 1250 Radcliffe Rd., between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Residents unable to bring papers to the school may call 250-7658 to arrange for pick-up.

Only clean newspapers are usable for recycling and homeowners should bundle the papers with string rather than placing them in bags or boxes.

Special gasoline pump only for emergencies

by JOE SWICKARD

"Call it discrimination if you want. But, by God, if I get sick I want a doctor or an ambulance if I need one," said Jack Parker.

Parker operates Arlington Park Arco, Wilke Road and Northwest Highway, and he has set aside a special pump for doctors, nurses, ambulances and other emergency vehicles.

"We've had it going about two or three weeks and I'd say it's going very, very well. The public understands. There have been no complaints, none at all," he said.

THE SPECIAL PUMP stands by itself, away from the regular lineup of cars. It carries a sign designating it for emergency vehicles only.

"I'm doing this so doctors and nurses — people who really need gas — can get it. I'd do this any time to have them bypass the lines," he said.

To qualify for service at the special pump, the motorist must present identification that shows that he or she is a physician or nurse. Once that has been established, Parker issues them a special card identifying them and their car as qualifying for the pump.

Parker said the emergency personnel are exempt from the usual $3 limit and the shortened pumping hours for regular motorists.

"We fill them up. They need the gas, I figure. They can get it as long as we're open. People in jobs like that can't always get their gas in the two hours in the morning, we and most stations usually pump," he said.

DOCTORS AND nurses aren't the only ones that have taken advantage of Parker's service. He said ambulances and even Illinois State Police cars have come in for a fillup.

Parker said the motorists waiting in line have cooperated when they see someone else pull in ahead of them.

"Once they know what's going on, they understand. We haven't gotten any gripes about it," he said.

SPECIAL PUMP for emergency personnel was set aside at Arlington Park Arco. Owner Jack Parker said doctors and nurses can't afford long lines for gas.

And a new age of 'rock' dawned...

ARTHUR MURRAY probably wouldn't have appreciated the latest dance steps, but his traditional dance techniques wouldn't have gotten very far in this mod dance contest at Randhurst Shopping Center. Some 75 youngsters aged 6 to 12 from the Northwest suburbs entered the weekend competition.

Some 75 Northwest suburban youngsters rocked 'n' rolled their way through a mod-dancing contest during the weekend at Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect.

The contest was sponsored by Delores Eiler School of Dancing.

by JERRY THOMAS

"The Devil in Miss Jones," the X-rated film being shown at the Elk Grove Cinema, violates village anti-obscenity laws, said Village Mgr. Charles Willis.

Willis said Elk Grove Village officials sent official "viewers" armed with a checklist to watch the movie Friday night to decide if the film violates the village's anti-obscenity ordinance.

"Definitely, from all reports," it violates the ordinance, Willis said. "And we are preparing to present material to the appropriate courts and ask for a judicial determination."

"AS WE STATED before, we are not going to march in and close down the theater, but will seek rapid judicial determination if the film is obscene."

WILLIS SAID Elk Grove Village will uphold its anti-obscenity ordinance — "one the federal courts upheld to be constitutional."

"We intend to stop the screening of 'Miss Jones,' by using every legal means possible," Willis said.

The theater is advertising "Miss Jones" for a two-week run.

Willis said Village Atty. Ed Hofert will determine when and in what court the suit will be filed. "We will proceed as quickly as possible in order to protect both the theater owner's rights and our rights to deal with obscenity in our village," Willis said.

THEATER OWNER Walter Pancoe has a suit pending in federal court seeking $250,000 in damages from Elk Grove Village officials.

Pancoe claims he was coerced by village officials into canceling the first scheduled showing of "Miss Jones," on Jan. 4. The suit contends the village trustees, realizing their threats were unconstitutional, met on Jan. 6 and passed an anti-obscenity ordinance.

The ordinance adopted by the board incorporates, according to the village attorney, several United States Supreme Court opinions which have a significant effect upon the interpretation of laws regulating obscene material.

The ordinance states that Illinois law empowers a municipality to deal with obscenity and that it (obscenity) impairs public health, welfare and the morals of the community and may be a contributing cause of sexual promiscuous behavior as well as to incite sexually criminal behavior in the community.

IT IS UNLAWFUL, according to the ordinance, "for any person to sell, deliver, offer for sale, distribute, publish print, exhibit or possess with intent to distribute any obscene writing, picture, moving picture, record or other embodiment of the obscene."

The ordinance says a thing shall be deemed to be obscene if the average person would find that the work taken as a whole appeals to a prurient interest. Also, if it depicts or describes patently offensive representations or descriptions of nude persons, ultimate sexual act, normal or perverted sexual conduct, actual simulated or patently offensive representations or descriptions of masturbation. Other definitions of obscenity include offensive representations of, or descriptions of excretory functions and lewd exhibitions of the human genitals, according to the ordinance.

The work taken as a whole must lack serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value, it states.

Willis said the village itself is making a complaint but not making the determination of obscenity.

"Judicial determination of the film's obscenity must be made," said Willis. "If the courts give us that determination we will deny the theater from showing 'Miss Jones.'"

It's 'bargain time' again for teachers, board

Negotiations between the Dist. 21 school board and the Wheeling Faculty Council on the 1974-75 teacher contract are under way. Both groups have exchanged proposals as the first step in the bargaining process.

Assistant Supt. John Barger is the spokesman for the school board negotiating team. Margo Richter, sixth-grade teacher at Stevenson School in Wheeling, heads the teachers' negotiating team.

Ground rules for the bargaining sessions were agreed upon in a meeting Jan. 11 where it was decided that the talks would not be open to the public. The sessions were open in 1972, but closed last year.

Barger said yesterday both sides have traded contract proposals that will be discussed at the next meeting set for 4 p.m., Monday, March 11 at the administration building, 999 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

The assistant superintendent would not discuss the items that are being negotiated. Miss Richter also refused to comment on the terms.

Besides salary, other items that were negotiated last year included:

- The 1973-74 school calendar.
- Extra duty salary for teachers.
- Insurance coverage for teachers.
- Contract duration.

PTA notes

The Irving School PTO will meet today at 7:30 p.m. at the school, 1250 Radcliffe Rd., Buffalo Grove.

The program will feature a slide presentation on the Buffalo Grove Park District presented by Stan Crosland, park district director. Fran Voris, physical education coordinator for Dist. 21, will also discuss the district's physical education program and William Dickerson, physical education teacher at Irving, will discuss the school's gym program.

adult co-recreational volleyball. Other programs this spring will include arts and crafts, creative dance and ballet, baton, cheerleading, guitar, judo, bridge, culinary arts and cake decorating, adult arts and crafts and adult chess club.

THE PARK DISTRICT will continue its supervised teen drop-in center at Emmerich Park. The teens participating in the program will decide what activities will be undertaken at the drop-in sessions.

Information on specific times, age requirements and fees for the various programs can be found in the park district fliers. Residents with questions should call the park district at 537-0356.

Gill's charge is challenged

incumbents' roles on the school board."

Gill said he has always cautioned a caucus against not supporting an incumbent unless that person "has not served well or done a disservice to the community."

"Not doing a disservice to the community does not mean that an incumbent's service has been adequate," Mrs. Feldman said. "It only means he or she has not done a disservice and this alone does not qualify an incumbent to obtain caucus support."

CONCLUDING THE statement, Mrs. Feldman said, "Dr. Gill has also said that, as school superintendent, he feels he should stay out of the actual election process. However, by making the above-mentioned statements, Dr. Gill has already interfered with that process."

"Is Dr. Gill saying that the caucus was doing fine as long as it continued to endorse incumbents? The voters will have to decide that and the voters will have to decide who is qualified to sit on their board of education of the next three years."

Informed of the caucus screening committee's statement, Gill said he planned to let the matter drop.

"I wanted it to be known how I felt and I did," he said. "I have no intention of entering into a big battle with the caucus."

6 in family OK after furnace-fumes mishap

Six members of a Buffalo Grove family were treated for inhalation of gas fumes Sunday after their home's furnace malfunctioned. All were later released from Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Buffalo Grove police said the Capre family — William Sr. and Janet, both 38; Debra, 16; William Jr., 15; Steve, 14, and Michael, 2 — was transported to the hospital by Long Grove firemen after the 7:20 a.m. incident.

Village officials, upon inspection, have labeled the house, at 671 Wygate Ln., "not approved for occupancy" and have ordered the furnace fixed and chimney relocated higher on the roof.

Village employee gets promotion

George Davis of the Buffalo Grove Public Works Department has been promoted to foreman of the street and bridge section.

Davis, who has been employed by the village for almost four years, has been acting foreman of the section for about year.

As foreman, Davis will supervise the operations of six other employees. The street and bridge section is responsible for maintenance of streets, sidewalks, the drainage system, the road side, traffic control devices, roadway structures and street lighting, as well as street cleaning and snow and ice control.

William Davis, former public works director, has been named general superintendent of public works. He works directly under the public works director and will head the department in the director's absence. Davis has been with the village for about 4½ years.

Allocations to curb end-of-month shortages

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Some Northwest suburban gasoline stations pumped their storage tanks dry yesterday in anticipation of additional gasoline deliveries that didn't arrive.

More than one-third of the local service stations contacted by The Herald were out of gas—either because they had not received any since last week or because they sold gas more freely in recent days after learning of an extra federal allotment to metropolitan Chicago.

Long lines at some stations and "closed" signs at others were the norm yesterday as the distribution of the additional 20 million gallons of gasoline got off to a slow start.

STATION operators and oil company officials alike were annoyed because announcements of the extra allocation had led motorists to believe the gasoline would be available "instantly," while in reality the distribution of the additional allocations to all stations will extend into March.

Some suburban stations may receive the additional gasoline by today, state and oil company officials said. But many local station operators said their distributors were not able to estimate when the newly allocated fuel will reach their stations.

Of the 21 stations contacted yesterday by The Herald, only one had been promised a delivery under the new allocation by this morning.

"It's poor relations between the politicians and the consumer," said Leon Schroeder, who operates an Arco station.

STORAGE TANKS WERE empty at the Hoffman Estates Standard station at Ill. Rtes. 58 and 72 yesterday morning after the station opened all its pumps to serve the long lines of waiting motorists.

"I called down to the bulk plant and they said they're not geared up with the trucks yet for delivery. It will be Wednesday before we get it," a spokesman for the station said. The station sold out its tanks after being notified to do so by a sales representative, he said.

Another Standard station operator at Golf and Busse roads in Mount Prospect said his calls to the distributor yielded only the information that "the company can't release the gas yet."

"I had been promised 5,000 gallons and so I opened up Saturday and now we're out of regular completely," he said.

Meanwhile the state energy office in Springfield and major oil company distributors in Chicago said the gas is on its way.

A SPOKESMAN FOR State Energy Chief James W. Cook said the additional 20-million gallon federal allotment for the six-county area would probably reach retail outlets by today. The allocation increases apply to all major gasoline companies. (Continued on page 2)

'Part-time' city treasurer faces harsh criticism

by STEVE BROWN

City Treasurer Thomas Mahon campaigned last year to eventually eliminate the office he was seeking and received stiff opposition from top city officials.

Since then, however, some of his opponents have become convinced Mahon was right and are basing their opinion on his performance in the job so far.

During last spring's election campaign, Mahon said he planned to work at the treasurer's post only part time. He also said he would accept only half of the $12,000 salary that had been allocated for paying the treasurer for fulltime work.

WHILE MAHON has been collecting a salary based on the $6,000 rate, posted office hours indicate that he is working in city's offices about eight hours per week.

Mahon had posted office hours shortly after his election to the treasurer post totaling about 15 hours per week.

He recently changed the office hours from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday and from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Thursday.

"I also come in on either Saturday mornings or afternoons," Mahon said, adding that he is involved in city business at other times also.

Some sources have characterized Mahon's work as nothing more than a "high paid check signer." One of his duties as treasurer is to sign all of the city's payroll checks and checks for city purchases.

Both Mayor Herbert Behrel and City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach have been critical of Mahon's working on a part time basis.

MRS. ROHRBACH recently called for the post to be abolished. In a speech before the League of Women Voters earlier this month, she suggested that many municipalities had given over the functions of the treasurer to a comptroller or financial director. She added that in communities that still retain the post, a token salary of from $300 to $600 is paid.

She also suggested that the financial "watchdog" duties assigned to the treasurer could be handled by the city council, since the treasurer is empowered to sign only those checks which have been approved by the council.

It appears the entire issue may come to a head on March 6, when both Mahon and Mrs. Rohrbach appear before the city council's city code and judiciary committee. The committee, which is headed by Ald. Alan Abrams (8th), has been conducting a study of governmental reforms for the city.

MAHON DECLINED to make any further comment regarding the duties of the treasurer stating he would offer a complete study on his first 11 months in office at the committee session.

Mahon said when he was sworn into office that he planned to survey his position and keep records of duty and time.

During the campaign, Mahon suggested that some of the duties be turned over to the comptroller's office.

During his first few months in office, Mahon came under fire from some city officials. City council meetings following his installations brought some not so subtle remarks about his "part-time work on the job."

In addition to the treasurer's post, Mahon is a teacher at Maine South High School and holds seat on the Des Plaines Park District's Board of Commissioners.

INITIALLY THE mayor took a "wait and see attitude" with Mahon, saying he would give him time to prove he can do the job. "It might work out here that we have a better operation," Behrel said last summer.

However, Behrel has confided to some associates that Mahon's work should be more closely scrutinized.

"If we hired another person for the comptroller's office we would at least be getting $5,000 worth of work," he said recently.

In addition to the check signing responsibilities, Mahon also serves as the treasurer of the fire and police pension board. However, investment of those funds is handled by banks and the comptroller's office.

NIPC review complements city's plan

Discussion of the city's comprehensive plan is expected to be renewed now that the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission has finished its review of the plan.

The city council is expected to meet with the Des Plaines Plan Commission next month after it ties up all the loose ends of the 1974 budget.

The plan, which was dormant for nearly two years, was resurrected last summer. Aldermen at that time asked that city department heads submit their recommendations on updating the plan to the city council.

In September, Michael Richardson, the city's director of planning and zoning, said he wanted NIPC to review the plan. In a recent letter to Mayor Herbert Behrel and city aldermen, Richardson requested a committee of the whole meeting to review the NIPC report of the plan.

THE NIPC REVIEW complements the city plan, adding that it addresses many of the problems that affect the city in a comprehensive and professional manner. NIPC officials, however, urge the city to examine the land-use policies relating to property located in areas that are greatly affected by airplane noise.

"The plan should establish a policy context, especially in the housing area, designed to reduce the level of noise exposure in Des Plaines," the report notes. City officials are currently working with the National Organization to Insure a Sound-controlled Environment (NOISE), airline and O'Hare Airport officials to reduce aircraft noise.

Besides citing the need to update statistical data in many areas of the comprehensive plan, NIPC also encourages a greater emphasis on information pertaining to federally funded housing projects, discriminatory housing policies, and overcrowded or substandard housing units that may exist in the city.

THE DES PLAINE'S Comprehensive Plan, prepared for the city by Rolf C. Campbell and Associates in 1970, outlines recommendations for development for the city during the next 20 years.

Besides the general recommendations calling for updating of data within the report, NIPC also suggested information be included pertaining to sewer and water services within the city.

The planning agency also suggested the city plan should "supplement the work done, with the plan by moving into planning for various social issues, such as health and criminal justice, in cooperation with countywide planning under way on the subject."

Blast site may have been drug lab

gutted a Des Plaines house Thursday, injuring a 25-year-old local man. According to an agency spokesman, several containers of chemicals were later found in the house, 1700 Touhy Ave., which is suspected of being the site of a drug laboratory.

The explosion and blaze were apparently touched off when either fumes came in contact with a gas heater pilot light and caused in excess of $15,000 damage to the house.

The injured man, Dale Chappelow, who lived at the Touhy address, suffered second degree burns and lacerations in the blast. He remained in good condition at Holy Family Hospital yesterday.

Agents said they have brought no charges but were continuing their investigation of the matter and questioning Chappelow and another Des Plaines man.

According to fire department reports, two cans of ether and one bottle each of hydrochloric acid and sulfuric acid were found in a rear room of the house where the explosion apparently occurred.

Report cards under review; weigh return to letter grade

by LUISA GINETTI

Officials in School Dist. 26 are reviewing the current report-card system used in grades one through six to determine if the district should return to letter grading.

Report cards now used call only for teachers to indicate by a "yes" or "no" whether students are making satisfactory progress in their work. The decision to review the non-graded report card was made by the school board following the results of a teacher survey on the report card. The survey revealed many inconsistent remarks.

Teachers were asked 11 questions to determine their reaction to the card and suggestions for improving the system, in operation since September.

The consensus among teachers was that the reporting system was doing a good job. At the same time, however, teachers said limiting comments to only "yes" or "no" was "too rigid."

TO REMEDY THIS, teachers suggested replacing the "yes" and "no" remarks with three to five categories that would allow for comments such as "slight improvement" or "student doing more than required."

The current report card does include a comment sheet for teachers to make remarks about students, but the report indicated the sheets were seldom used.

Teachers also responded that what they liked most about the report card was that it was based on ability and that using no grades was a positive approach.

THE CONCERNS voiced by parents seem to be more in the direction of getting a better explanation on student progress at teacher conferences where the report card is used as a basis for discussing the student's work. Some parents have also indicated a desire to have some type of grading system used in addition to or instead of the "yes" or "no" approach because it would provide them a better yardstick for measuring their child's progress.

In response to the report on the grading system, Al Levin, district curriculum coordinator, suggested two ways to improve the current approach. His recommendations include adopting a third category to the "yes" or "no" remarks and giving grades to those students whose parents desire them.

"I do not necessarily agree with these suggestions," Levin said, "but I also feel no great harm can be done by them."

Levin also suggested that an in-service workshop be conducted for teachers in which they could discuss ways to improve the present card or how to make better use of it in its present form.

The liability of an in-service workshop, however, is that it "detracts from the little time really available to improve teaching techniques," Levin added.

LEVIN SAID he favors the nongraded approach because "A reporting system is an ongoing process rather than a definite decision and therefore I feel the concerns of parents and comments of teachers are healthy.

"I am a firm believer that with community and teacher support any program or system of reporting would succeed," Levin said. "We are looking for a solution acceptable to all."

Supt. John Fridlund believes the report card "should reflect what the community wants." The administration, he said, will therefore be reviewing the current system to see if improvements can be made.

One suggestion has been to appoint a new committee composed of teachers and community members to analyze the system and recommend changes. A similar committee developed plans that culminated in the current style report card.

Before this occurs, however, the administration will present its recommendations to the school board.

Christ Church installs officers

The installation of Church Council officers was held recently at Christ Church, Cora and Henry, Des Plaines.

The following officers were elected: Donald Corey, president; Kenneth Chamberlin, vice president; Olive Riley, secretary; John Prellberg, treasurer; Gary Smith, assistant treasurer; George Warren financial treasurer; Walter Ladendorf, assistant financial treasurer; Buriel Tarver, financial secretary; Ronald Guthrie, chairman of the deacons; and Kenneth Chamberlin, chairman of the elders.

Newly installed as elders are Hans Eschenbach and Douglas Radloff. Willard Comstock, John Ratliff, June Landmeier and Howard Richardson, continue as elders. Edward Schuster, newly installed deacon, joins deacons Corey Prellberg, Smith, Warren, Ladendorf, Tarver and Guthrie.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to outgoing 1973 officers Robert Bruhn, James Nissen, Warren Bihuber, William Sample, Herbert Mademann and Oiva Mahila.

Nissen presented the 1974 budget in the amount of $102,452. Major repairs reported completed in the past year were the Parish hall roof being rebuilt, new lighting installed on the lower level of the parish hall, sinks in the kitchen and Sunday school rooms were replaced and new mimeograph equipment was purchased.

Christ Church forwarded $12,000 to the denomination's Christian World Mission Fund which supports mission work at home and abroad. A check for $1,000 was sent to Elmhurst College thus completing a three-year pledge to Elmhurst's Second Century Fund. In 1973 many local programs were funded by the congregation.

Las Vegas Night out; bingo's it

What was planned as a Las Vegas Night has been quickly converted to a bingo party as the VFW's own fund-raising event complies with city ordinances. Months ago the local chapter of the Veterans of Foreign War made arrangements to hold the Las Vegas night to raise funds for its work with veterans at Downey Hospital.

Recent cancellation of other Las Vegas nights by Des Plaines officials, however, brought about the change in the VFW's plans. Las Vegas nights, raffles and drawings are considered gambling and are therefore illegal in the city.

The VFW hopes to raise $400 to finance bus rides to sporting events for veterans at Downey. Food and drink will be available and prizes have been donated.

Tickets can be purchased in advance by calling 439-4540 or 255-5280. The event will be held March 2, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the VFW Hall, 2067 Miner St.

Man wanted here seized in New Mexico

by JOHN MAES

A man suspected of robbing steak houses in Des Plaines and Arlington Heights last year is in custody and facing two other robbery counts brought against him by Albuquerque, N. M., police.

The man, Anthony Carnett, 27, is being held in jail in El Paso County, Tex., on $50,000 bond following his arrest Thursday night.

FBI agents in El Paso said yesterday they arrested Carnett at a trailer near Canutillo, Tex., an El Paso suburb, on a federal warrant for interstate flight to avoid prosecution on the Albuquerque charges.

Albuquerque Police Det. James Lehner said yesterday Carnett is charged with armed robberies of a cleaning store and a service station there. Lehner said both holdups totaled about $120 in cash and occurred last July 7.

AN ALLEGED accomplice of Carnett's in the New Mexico holdups, William McLaughlin, was arrested last year for his part in the holdups, according to Lehner.

Carnett and McLaughlin were tied to those holdups through the aid of descriptions by witnesses of the robbers.

Des Plaines and Arlington Heights police said warrants were issued for Carnett's arrest shortly after the holdups at the Bonanza Steak Pit, 1249 Elmhurst Rd., Des Plaines, and the Ponderosa Steak House, Algonquin and Golf roads in Arlington Heights.

The two holdups netted nearly $9,500 in restaurant receipts, according to reports.

The Arlington holdup occurred last August, police said. Carnett and an unidentified accomplice, posing as repairmen, struck a manager with a pipe and escaped with $2,699 in cash, police said.

ACCORDING TO REPORTS, Carnett pulled the second holdup late in October after working there for half a day posing as a janitor.

He allegedly pulled a gun on the manager after telling him he needed a lift to his auto while the manager was taking $6,800 in receipts to the bank.

Lt. Lee Alfano of Des Plaines police said both victims identified photos of Carnett as the holdup man.

Carnett is awaiting a court date on the New Mexico charges after which he will be extradited here to face trial on the Des Plaines and Arlington Heights counts, according to police.

From the library

The Des Plaines Library is featuring a display of macrame on bottles created by William Myers, 1358 Van Buren.

Myers learned macrame as a young man while serving in the Navy. Now that he has retired after 30 years with the Zenith Radio Corp. he has more time for his unusual hobby. Working without patterns or instructions all the designs are his own creations and the workmanship on the finished products is beautiful.

Myers considers amateur radio his number one hobby and has been an operator for 40 years. A resident of Des Plaines for more than 30 years, the Myers have two daughters and five grandchildren.

Allocations to curb end-of-month shortages

Dealers await gas; some already 'dry'

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Some Northwest suburban gasoline stations pumped their storage tanks dry yesterday in anticipation of additional gasoline deliveries that didn't arrive.

More than one-third of the local service stations contacted by The Herald were out of gas — either because they had not received any since last week or because they sold gas more freely in recent days after learning of an extra federal allotment to metropolitan Chicago.

Long lines at some stations and "closed" signs at others were the norm yesterday as the distribution of the additional 20 million gallons of gasoline got off to a slow start.

STATION operators and oil company officials alike were annoyed because announcements of the extra allocation had led motorists to believe the gasoline would be available "instantly," while in reality the distribution of the additional allocations to all stations will extend into March.

Some suburban stations may receive the additional gasoline by today, state and oil company officials said. But many local station operators said their distributors were not able to estimate when the newly allocated fuel will reach their stations.

Of the 21 stations contacted yesterday by The Herald, only one had been promised a delivery under the new allocation by this morning.

"It's poor relations between the politicians and the consumer," said Leon Schroeder, who operates an Arco station.

STORAGE TANKS WERE empty at the Hoffman Estates Standard station at Ill. Rtes. 58 and 72 yesterday morning after the station opened all its pumps to serve the long lines of waiting motorists.

"I called down to the bulk plant and they said they're not geared up with the trucks yet for delivery. It will be Wednesday before we get it," a spokesman for the station said. The station sold out its tanks after being notified to do so by a sales representative, he said.

Another Standard station operator at Golf and Busse roads in Mount Prospect said his calls to the distributor yielded only the information that "the company can't release the gas yet."

"I had been promised 5,000 gallons and so I opened up Saturday and now we're out of regular completely," he said.

Meanwhile the state energy office in Springfield and major oil company distributors in Chicago said the gas is on its way.

A SPOKESMAN FOR State Energy Chief James W. Cook said the additional 20-million gallon federal allotment for the six-county area would probably reach retail outlets by today. The allocation increases apply to all major gasoline companies. (Continued on page 2)

Peace reigns over village's baseball program

by BOB GALLAS

A new era of peace and cooperation apparently has settled over the Elk Grove Boys' Baseball front.

A proposed change in the structure of boys' baseball, which brought a storm of protest from a large group of parents, is definitely out for this year, according to Chuck Steiger, boys' baseball commissioner.

Members of the boys' baseball board met Sunday with coaches and managers to discuss the changes.

"WE WANTED TO explain what we had in mind," said Steiger. "After the discussion, they were still opposed. So we plan to let it die and continue as we have in the past."

The proposed change would have reorganized the major league level for 8-to 12-year-olds into divisions of 8 teams each. The league presently operates with three 16-team divisions.

Board members for the change contended the new setup, which would have had as many levels as needed, would allow the dropping or adding of leagues, instead of teams, as the number of boys in the program fluctuates. Board members also said the change would allow boys to play with those of their own ability level.

Parents who protested charged the changes would make the league "too skill oriented" and some threatened to hold their child out of competition if the new system was approved.

"I AM DISAPPOINTED it didn't pass," said Steiger after the meeting. "But I plan to do all I can to make sure the issue does not come up for a vote again this year," Steiger said.

"I'm sure the board members who were for the change are disappointed too," said Steiger. "But there will be no resignations from the board. We're just going to do as good a job under the present system as if it were the new set-up and work together for the boys of Elk Grove."

According to Steiger, the only league affected by the lack of boys right now is the Pony League level for older boys which may have to drop one or two teams. "Other organizations should remain the same for this year," said Steiger.

THE NEXT MEETING of the boys' baseball board is scheduled for Thursday night, not March 7, as earlier reported in The Herald. The meeting will start at 7 p.m. at the Village Hall, 901 Wellington Ave.

Steiger said one of the items to be discussed will be changes in the organization's bylaws. One of the changes being considered would make it mandatory that boys play at least three innings per game.

Steiger said a vote on the matter would probably be taken at the organization's annual draft of new players, which will take place at the Salt Creek Country Club the evening of March 8.

'Devil' legally obscene, Willis insists

by JERRY THOMAS

"The Devil in Miss Jones," the X-rated film being shown at the Elk Grove Cinema, violates village anti-obscenity laws, said Village Mgr. Charles Willis.

Willis said Elk Grove Village officials sent official "viewers" armed with a checklist to watch the movie Friday night to decide if the film violates the village's anti-obscenity ordinance.

"Definitely, from all reports," it violates the ordinance, Willis said. "And we are preparing to present material to the appropriate courts and ask for a judicial determination.

"AS WE STATED before, we are not going to march in and close down the theater, but will seek rapid judicial determination if the film is obscene."

WILLIS SAID Elk Grove Village will uphold its anti-obscenity ordinance — "one the federal courts upheld to be constitutional."

"We intend to stop the screening of 'Miss Jones,' by using every legal means possible," Willis said.

The theater is advertising "Miss Jones" for a two-week run.

Willis said Village Atty. Ed Hofert will determine when and in what court the suit will be filed. "We will proceed as quickly as possible in order to protect both the theater owner's rights and our rights to deal with obscenity in our village," Willis said.

THEATER OWNER Walter Panceos has a suit pending in federal court seeking $250,000 in damages from Elk Grove Village officials.

Panceos claims he was coerced by village officials into cancelling the first scheduled showing of "Miss Jones," on Jan. 4. The suit contends the village trustees, realizing their threats were un-

Office equipment thefts solved with arrests of 2

Elk Grove Village police arrested a Chicago couple yesterday and ended an eight-month investigation, clearing up 18 unsolved burglaries involving more than $100,000 in stolen office equipment.

Hazel Harris, 24, of 530 N. Harding St., and Belinda Younger, 18, also of Chicago, were arrested in the Elk Grove Industrial Park about 4 a.m. Monday. Harris was charged with 19 counts of burglary and attempted burglary. Miss Younger was charged with being an accessory to the Monday night crime.

Harris, unable to post bond, is being held by Elk Grove Village police. Miss Younger was released on bond.

ACCORDING TO police, Harris is free on probation now for an armed robbery in Chicago.

Lt. William Kohnke said police intend to file 19 counts of burglary and seek a grand jury indictment against Harris.

Kohnke said the arrest climaxes eight months of extensive surveillance and stake-outs in the industrial park. He commended patrolman Gary Kuehnle, the arresting officer and a new man of the force, for his work.

Police said Miss Younger was observed sitting in an auto near the Sola Electric Plant in the industrial park. Harris was stopped for questioning as he was walking away from the plant and told police he was looking for keys he had lost in the snow.

SUBSEQUENT investigation revealed an attempted burglary at the nearby Sloan Tile Plant. Kuehnle and patrolman Mel Mack made the arrest after further investigation.

Kohnke credits a "full team effort" in clearing up the case. "Physical evidence gathered by technicians in the detective division gave us the evidence we needed for this arrest," he said.

"This is one of the best handled cases in the department's history," Kohnke said. "At a time when judicial branches of the government are putting emphasis on physical evidence, the department has made an arrest based on this type of evidence."

Kohnke said Harris is charged with the following burglaries:

- Dec. 31 and Oct. 22, Service Plastics Inc., 1850 Touhy, $2,000 and no estimate on the second.
- Dec. 31, Sept. 6 and April 20, Chicago Corrugated Box, 2020 Touhy, $1,000, $3,300 and $4,630.
- Dec. 4, Acme Wiley, 2480 Greenleaf, $1,500.

- Oct. 29 and Aug. 5, Allis Chalmers, 1161 McCabe, no estimate.
- Oct. 6, National Material Corp., 2525 Arthur, $2,000.

- Oct. 3, K and M Rubber, 1900 Lunt, $1,200.
- Oct. 1, ITT Lamp Division, 1855 Greenleaf, $500.

- Sept. 5, Polak's Fruit Works, 1700 Nichols, $660.
- Sept. 25, Slone Tile and Mosaic, 1890 Lunt, $1,020.

- Sept. 2, Allstate Deburring and Plating, 670 Lunt, no estimate.
- Aug. 22, S. Himmelsheim and Co., 2500 Estes, $800.

- July 22, Kenny Manufacturing Co., 940 Greenleaf, $435.
- July 17, Aero Music, 1855 Estes, $4,000.

- Jan. 15, Lefebvre Corp., 584 Lively, $750.

Harris is also being charged with the attempted Sloan Tile burglary Sunday. Kohnke said in all the burglaries the method of entry was the same. The suspect broke a window, entered the company and took only office equipment.

Bus-safety law support 'growing'

Growing support for school bus-safety legislation was reported last week by Peyton Bradshaw of Hanover Park.

He is the father of Robyn Bradshaw, 5, who died from injuries sustained when she was struck by a vehicle Dec. 20. The incident occurred after she got off a bus that carried her from kindergarten class at Link School, Elk Grove Village.

Bradshaw told the Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54 Board of Education that the Jaycee organization in Illinois is expected to support legislation that will "tie down" the bus safety problem. Action by the state organization is based on an appeal from the Hanover Park chapter, he added.

He also told about letters of support received from State Rep. Richard Mugaillan, D-Palatine; State Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington; and State Sen. Harris Fawell, R-Naperville. They were received in addition to support indicated from legislators in the 3rd Legislative District serving Schaumburg Township.

BRADSHAW ALSO invited the board to attend a meeting on bus safety, 8 p.m., Thursday at his home, 1024 Yorkshire Dr., where Richard Martwick, superintendent of the Cook County Educational Region, is expected to attend. The public is invited.

Brenda Pulla, school board member from Hanover Park, later reviewed bus safety considerations discussed by the legislative committee she chairs.

It is difficult to draft legislation for bus safety, she said, because of the variety of concerns — conditions of buses, padded interiors, licensing of drivers, enforcement of current laws.

LEGISLATION in other states is also being investigated and the board is communicating about bus safety with its EdRed representative, a professional education lobbyist.

constitutional, met on Jan. 6 and passed an anti-obscenity ordinance.

The ordinance adopted by the board incorporates, according to the village attorney, several United States Supreme Court opinions which have a significant effect upon the interpretation of laws regulating obscene material.

The ordinance states that Illinois law empowers a municipality to deal with obscenity and that it (obscenity) impairs public health, welfare and the morals of the community and may be a contributing cause of sexual promiscuous behavior as well as to incite sexually criminal behavior in the community.

IT IS UNLAWFUL, according to the ordinance, "for any person to sell, deliver, offer for sale, distribute, publish print, exhibit or possess with intent to distribute any obscene writing, picture, moving picture, record or other embodiment of the obscene."

The ordinance says a thing shall be deemed to be obscene if the average person would find that the work taken as a whole appeals to a prurient interest. Also, if it depicts or describes patently offensive representations or descriptions of nude persons, ultimate sexual act, normal or perverted sexual conduct, actual simulated or patently offensive representations or descriptions of masturbation. Other definitions of obscenity include offensive representations of, or descriptions of excretory functions and lewd exhibitions of the human genitals, according to the ordinance.

The work taken as a whole must lack serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value, it states.

Willis said the village itself is making a complaint but not making the determination of obscenity.

"Judicial determination of the film's obscenity must be made," said Willis. "If the courts give us that determination we will deny the theater from showing 'Miss Jones.'"

Schools, developer in negotiations

New builder-gift formula considered

A new formula concerning builders' donations sought to compensate for the tax lag from new housing development may be considered by the Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54 Board of Education.

The formula was proposed Friday by Peter Bianchini representing Hallmark Homes Inc., a firm currently in negotiations with the school board over a controversial donation offer.

The property Hallmark plans to build on is near Schaumburg and Meacham roads and is owned by businessman Jack Pritzker and Schaumburg Mayor Robert Atcher.

HALLMARK'S ORIGINAL offer to the school district was $25 per unit, substantially less than the $100 per bedroom asked by school officials for each unit having two bedrooms or more.

The school's formula was developed to provide money to cover students generated from housing until tax money from the unit is delivered. The lag is usually one year.

Bianchini's proposal is that the cost of educating a student and the cost of bus-ing be plotted on a chart until the tax dollars are received. He said the school board should bill the developer for those costs once they are known. Marvin Lapicola, assistant superintendent-finance, explained.

Lapicola said the proposal was well received by Dist. 54 officials attending the negotiations meeting.

Under the formula, Lapicola projected, Hallmark would donate about $50,000. The figure is still substantially less than the $123,000 the district originally figured would be needed to support children coming from the development.

ONE FACTOR STILL to be worked out has to do with the clause in the current formula asking one acre of land for each 100 children the development generates. Under the formula if there are not enough children to justify requesting a complete school site, about seven acres, a $25,000 cash donation is requested in lieu of each acre required.

Lapicola said Hallmark would ordinarily be asked to provide $75,000 because it is projected the development will generate 300 students into Dist. 54.

Rudd admits he took wrong action

School Dist. 54 Board Pres. Donnie Rudd said last week he was wrong in not consulting his board before sending a letter to county and federal authorities asking perjury charges be filed against Richard Benach, owner of Hallmark Homes Inc.

Rudd charged Benach perjured himself before the Schaumburg zoning board by denying he earlier told Dist. 54 officials that he does not have to make the standard builder's donations to the schools because Mayor Robert O. Atcher is part owner of the land he plans to build on.

Rudd's letter was sent Feb. 11 to Cook County State's Atty. Bernard Carey, and U.S. Atty. James Thompson.

"I did not want anyone charged with a conspiracy so I purposely did not notify the board," Rudd said.

If Rudd had contacted each board member for their consensus prior to writing the letter Benach would have been able to say they were conspiring against him, the school board president explained.

Rudd's comment came after a board of education executive session Thursday night where it is reported he was taken to task for his action.

"It was my fault. I should have notified the board before it (the letter) hit the headlines," he added.

A U.S. Attorney's office spokesman said consideration of Rudd's charge will not be taken up before later this week.

Ceremony to launch bus service

A ribbon-cutting ceremony to signal the March 4 start of an Elk Grove Village bus service will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Village Pres. Charles Zetek will officiate at the ceremony and members of the village transportation committee, Trustees Nanci Vanderweel, Ed Kenna and George Spees, are expected to attend. Others are Stan Klyber, representative of the Elk Grove Village Association of Industry and Commerce and civic leaders.

Elk Grove Village residents will be notified by mail this week of the bus service, schedule and pickup points. Village officials will announce a telephone number to call for information about the dial-a-bus and commuter services that will be available. Any resident who does not receive a mailing by Friday is asked to contact the village hall 439-3300 for information.

New program stresses individualized education

'Culture shock' comes to Conant history class

by KATHERINE BOYCE

Conant High School has a history class that is a "type of educational culture shock" for students, according to teacher Ron Szymanski.

Instead of sitting in class listening to a lecture or watching a film, the class meets only to take attendance. After that, the students are on their own. Some students may remain in the classroom for a seminar on a particular topic, some may go to the audio-visual room to watch a film, some may take a book from the library and read a particular chapter, and some may spend the period working on a research project.

Szymanski's class is an experiment in individualized instruction for 30 juniors in advanced American history. The state school superintendent's office recently gave High School Dist. 211 $2,000 to fund the project this semester.

THE PURPOSE of individualization is to give a student a "choice in the manner in which he learns," says Szymanski. At the beginning of this semester he told the class the objectives for the course, what the students would be expected to learn and what they would be tested on. Then Szymanski met privately with each student to draw up a contract spelling out the type of learning activities the student would follow to fulfill the objectives.

Now it's up to the student to do the work and complete his individual assignments, says Szymanski. The teacher is there to answer questions and give direction when asked.

The new approach is a shock to some students who are used to being told what to study and when, says Szymanski.

"The change to the less standardized system is pretty tough for them," he says. The individual approach "puts a great deal of personal responsibility on the student," Szymanski says.

Szymanski thinks the change toward individualization is a good one.

"One of the byproducts of our educational system is that we produce very good receivers of information. As long as students have someone telling them what to think then they don't have any problem," he says.

Szymanski hopes the new approach will teach students to study independently, to sort out raw data to determine for themselves what is important and what isn't. He hopes they'll come up with some new ways to learn and in the process he hopes they will renew their natural desire to learn.

TOO MANY ADULTS today "do not have the communication skills, the learning skills or the motivation" to go on learning years after high school or college, Szymanski says. If a student develops the ability and motivation early in life he will grow to be "an active, thinking member of the community." Szymanski hopes independent study and individualized instruction will become more common in high schools and elementary schools.

The individualized part of the American history course will last for seven weeks covering a unit on economics in the United States. Students will be graded from standardized tests, essay tests and research projects. Szymanski will spend most of his time helping students who are having problems with their assignments or are having problems adjusting to the new approach.

Much of the grant money will pay the salary of a teacher aide who will help grade papers and projects and supervise students while Szymanski is working with individual students. The rest of the money will finance projects by students which will be completed at the end of the seven-week period.

The projects are another departure from standard procedure. Instead of writing the usual term paper, students will be encouraged to try other forms of expression. As part of the contract with Szymanski, each student picks a subject to research and he may choose a number of ways to present his findings to the rest of the class.

SOME STUDENTS will write term papers, others plan to make films, prepare slide presentations, use overhead projectors, or use the school camera to take pictures for a photographic display. One of the reasons Szymanski chose the economics unit for the experiment is that it is easier for students to illustrate visually than most topics in history.

When the seven-week project is completed in April, Szymanski and Dist. 211 officials will evaluate it to determine whether it should be used in the district's other high schools. A detailed report on the project will be submitted to the state superintendent's office and will be available to other schools in the state on request.

Allocations to curb end-of-month shortages

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Some Northwest suburban gasoline stations pumped their storage tanks dry yesterday in anticipation of additional gasoline deliveries that didn't arrive.

More than one-third of the local service stations contacted by The Herald were out of gas — either because they had not received any since last week or because they sold gas more freely in recent days after learning of an extra federal allotment to metropolitan Chicago.

Long lines at some stations and "closed" signs at others were the norm yesterday as the distribution of the additional 20 million gallons of gasoline got off to a slow start.

STATION operators and oil company officials alike were annoyed because announcements of the extra allocation had led motorists to believe the gasoline would be available "instantly," while in reality the distribution of the additional allocations to all stations will extend into March.

Some suburban stations may receive the additional gasoline by today, state and oil company officials said. But many local station operators said their distributors were not able to estimate when the newly allocated fuel will reach their stations.

Of the 21 stations contacted yesterday by The Herald, only one had been promised a delivery under the new allocation by this morning.

"It's poor relations between the politicians and the consumer," said Leon Schroeder, who operates an Arco station.

STORAGE TANKS WERE empty at the Hoffman Estates Standard station at Ill. Rtes. 58 and 72 yesterday morning after the station opened all its pumps to serve the long lines of waiting motorists.

"I called down to the bulk plant and they said they're not geared up with the trucks yet for delivery. It will be Wednesday before we get it," a spokesman for the station said. The station sold out its tanks after being notified to do so by a sales representative, he said.

Another Standard station operator at Golf and Busse roads in Mount Prospect said his calls to the distributor yielded only the information that "the company can't release the gas yet."

"I had been promised 5,000 gallons and so I opened up Saturday and now we're out of regular completely," he said.

Meanwhile the state energy office in Springfield and major oil company distributors in Chicago said the gas is on its way.

A SPOKESMAN FOR State Energy Chief James W. Cook said the additional 20-million gallon federal allotment for the six-county area would probably reach retail outlets by today. The allocation increases apply to all major gasoline companies. (Continued on page 2)

Trustees select village manager; to start April 1

The appointment of Anton H. Harwig as Palatine Village Manager was unanimously approved by the Palatine Village Board last night.

Harwig, 45, is currently the city manager of Gulfport, Fla., a city with a population of 12,000. He replaces Berton Braun, who resigned on Aug. 20, 1973, to become the village administrator of Woodridge, in DuPage County.

"He has the background, education and experience to be the village manager of Palatine," said Wendell E. Jones, village president.

The appointment is effective April 1. Jones said Harwig will be moving to Palatine prior to April. Starting salary was set by the board at $24,000.

The appointment ends a six-month search by a three-member committee headed by trustee James Shaw. Applications from more than 85 candidates were screened by the committee.

ACTING VILLAGE Manager James Bennett, who was one of four finalists for the village manager post, will continue as public works director of Palatine. Jones praised Bennett's work during the interim, and said he would be happy to get "both feet" back into the public works department.

Harwig served as assistant city manager, director of public works and assistant to the city manager in Elmhurst, Ill., from 1963 to 1972.

"I think we are very fortunate to get him," said Shaw, who indicated Harwig was highly regarded by his former employers.

Harwig received a masters degree in public administration from the Illinois Institute of Technology in 1970. He did undergraduate work in civil engineering, mathematics and chemistry at IIT.

Harwig is a member of the American Society for Public Administration, the International City Manager's Association and a number of public works associations. He is married and has three children.

PERFORMING ON STRINGED instruments a little less than full size are third graders Tracy Stemple, front, and Pat Psychogios of Hunting Ridge School. The bulk of Dist. 15's stringed-music program consists of third graders. Youngsters learn to play the violin, viola, cello and string bass. Story on Page 5.

$180 collected to aid family whose home burned

Neighbors of Jack Oldenburg collected more than $180 last week to aid the family whose house burned Feb. 18.

"Most of it will probably go for clothes for the kids," Oldenburg said yesterday. The collection, which was done without the Oldenburgs' knowledge, started in the wake of a fire that swept through the second floor of the home at 138 S. Greenwood Ave., Palatine.

Oldenburg said yesterday that damage is estimated at $15,000 to $20,000. The donation was given to the family Sunday.

"A neighbor just asked my wife in for a cup of coffee and handed her the envelope," Oldenburg said. The couple and their four children, who still live at home, are temporarily living in the Willow Creek Apartments for three or four months until the house is repaired. Palatine Fire Department ruled the cause of the fire accidental.

Dawson feels village trying to force him out

by JOANN VAN WYE

A slashing of the health department's 1974-75 budget request by an estimated one-third may be an attempt by the Palatine Village Board to force the resignation of Richard A. Dawson, director of environmental health.

This was the feeling of Dawson, who saw his budget request of more than $95,000 cut to approximately $60,000 in a lengthy budget review session on Sunday.

Dawson said yesterday he doesn't know what he will do yet but plans to meet with several village officials during the week to get some answers to the budget reductions.

TRUSTEE RICHARD W. Fonte, chairman of the board's administration, finance and legislation committee, yesterday denied charges that board members hoped to force Dawson's resignation and estimated the budget reduction at closer to 20 to 25 per cent.

"As far as I am concerned there is no intention by this board of forcing his resignation. I think he can do a good job as health director and I support him. If I felt he was not doing a good job I would call for his resignation and I am not," said Fonte.

Dawson said he had had no previous warning from village board members that his budget would be reduced so drastically and the only elected official he had formally reviewed his budget with had been Village Pres. Wendell E. Jones. Dawson indicated he felt Sunday's action could have been related to testimony he gave Friday at the public hearing between former Police Chief Robert R. Centner and the village board.

AT THE HEARING, Dawson testified that he learned that three trustees, Fonte, Robert J. Guss Jr. and Bryan P. Coughlin Jr., had met with two Palatine businessmen to discuss Dawson's successor before his June 18 departmental review.

He was later told by a member of his department that he apparently was not removed because he had fared better in the administrative review than expected, Dawson testified.

Dawson said the three trustees he mentioned in his testimony were the same three trustees who appeared to be after him at the budget session.

Fonte said he had met with Guss on Saturday following the Centner hearing and discussed the health department budget informally but the reductions were definitely not any form of retaliation by the board.

"THIS IS AN unfortunate misunderstanding," Fonte said. He explained the main reduction was due to a removal of the animal enforcement program from the health department budget to the police department budget. This item included the animal control officer's salary of nearly $10,000 and $3,000 for animal impoundment.

"This should not have been taken personally," said Fonte. He explained the board recognized the value and success of the animal enforcement program developed by the health department but felt it could be even more successful if moved to the police department because there would be 24-hour enforcement.

Dawson and members of the Environmental Control Board, who attended the budget session, argued the animal enforcement program should remain with the health department because it was a health related program, the police department had indicated it was not interested in the program and the program was only six months old and there had not been sufficient time to evaluate it.

FUNDS FOR A $10,000 mosquito control program and $120,000 free garbage bag distribution program were kept in the budget. Both items will be financed from revenue sharing funds — money given by the federal government to be used as local officials see fit — but administered by the health department.

Fonte said there was no question but that the garbage bag distribution program had helped enforce the use of the village's approved garbage bag and he (Continued on Page 5)

Third graders make stringed instruments sing

by REGINA OEHLER

The new stringed music program for third graders that began in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 last fall has 190 third graders enrolled.

This is almost two-thirds of the total number of youngsters in the stringed music program, which continues up through eighth grade, according to music department chairman Robert Hannenberg.

"We've received many, many favorable comments," Hannenberg said. Youngsters in the program are learning to play the violin, viola, cello and string bass.

MUSIC TEACHER Libby Robertson said that 20 or 30 years ago, children learned to play on the family instrument which usually was a full size violin and too large for the youngsters to control. In the stringed program here, the school district offers quarter, half and three-quarter-size stringed instruments.

In past years, the stringed music program began in fourth grade, but members of the department felt that if the children started a little earlier, they would be much more proficient by the eighth grade than they are now, Hannenberg said.

Students in elementary grades gather in groups of three to six for lessons lasting half an hour each week. Once a week the youngsters also gather in a large group to practice as an ensemble.

The junior high youngsters normally have small group instruction for 45 minutes to an hour each week, plus the additional 45 minutes to an hour for large group practice, Hannenberg said.

DURING THE small-group instruction, each child has one or more opportunities to perform the pieces he has practiced over the week, Hannenberg said. Both the teacher and the other students criticize or praise the performance.

"They (students) learn to be very kind and polite about it," Mrs. Robertson said. "They're very helpful."

"I believe music education is to benefit all children. Every child has the right to experience music creatively in his own way."

For some children, he added, the first-through-eighth-grade program is the last formal music instruction they will have for the rest of their lives.

"I believe music is as important as math and social studies," he said, "but not more important."

High school variety show set Saturday

Palatine High School students have rescheduled their variety show for Saturday at 8 p.m. Last Friday's performance was canceled when school was closed following a snowstorm.

Anyone holding tickets for Friday's performance may use them Saturday. Tickets will also be sold at the door.

They are $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. The show will be held in the school's theater, Cutting Hall, and will feature instrumental music, comedy, dance and vocal acts.

Health budget cut by a third

felt the village should continue paying for the bags as long as it had the funds available.

Items cut or reduced in the Health Department budget were:

• Printing, reduced from a requested $2,000 to $500.

• Travel, reduced from a requested $800 to $300.

• A request for a $3,000 automobile allowance was eliminated.

• Two summer intern positions at an estimated cost of $4,000 were eliminated.

• A request for two full-time secretaries was reduced to a full-time and part-time secretary.

• An office equipment request of $840 was eliminated.

Dawson questioned how the department could continue providing the same level of services with the budget reductions.

The reduction of the printing budget was a policy change, said Fonte, who explained the board felt too many pamphlets were being produced in peripheral areas.

ELIMINATION OF the automobile allowance was done for budgetary reasons, Fonte said. Instead of giving employees automobile allowances, a car pool system will be instituted where the building department and health department will share village cars. Fonte estimated this could result in a savings of nearly $7,000.

Dawson said the travel budget was used for in-service training of members of his department and his own attendance at the national and state meeting of his own professional organization.

Dawson, who is president of the Illinois Environmental Health Assn., and will become a member of the board of directors when his term expires, said the reduction of the travel budget would force him to resign from the board or travel at his own expense.

"This is the first time I have been involved with an organization that is not supportive of professional involvement," said Dawson.

PTA notes

A career education workshop will be held for parents of junior high school age youngsters at 8 p.m. Thursday in Winston Park School, 900 E. Palatine Rd., Palatine.

Miss Barbara Berry, director of guidance for all 20 schools in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 will be giving a multimedia presentation on career education and describe the district's plan for introducing junior high students to the world of work.

Joining her is Mrs. Kathleen Mundt, Winston Park eighth grade reading, language arts and social studies teacher who also heads the career education program at the school.

"Parents will get a chance to try work experience kits that seventh graders and eighth graders use," Miss Berry said. This includes actual tools that people on various jobs would use, such as bank statements, t-squares and accounting forms.

Township to hold Crossroads, band $

Revenue sharing funds from Palatine Township for the Crossroads Clinic and the Palatine Concert Band will be withheld by township officials until a court decision determines whether or not the funding is legal.

The action will freeze the spending of $7,000 total on the two groups. If a Feb. 7 opinion from Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott is upheld in court, the funding would be illegal because townships do not have legislated power to support such activities from their regular budgets.

"We have still another stumbling block," said Township Supervisor Howard I. Olsen at last night's township board meeting.

Revenue sharing money to the two groups will be withheld "since there are potential penalties that could be imposed," if a court upholds the attorney general's opinion, Olsen said.

MOST OF THE agencies already receiving the township's revenue sharing funds are apparently not in danger of losing their allocations.

Agencies specifically dealing with mental health or services to the poor are within existing township budgetary powers.

"There is no question about these programs," Olsen said. More than $62,000 has already been promised by the township to such agencies.

The agencies currently in question qualify for revenue sharing under federal guidelines, but may fall outside the township's power to allocate money.

TOWNSHIP FUNDING OF the Crossroads Clinic, a venereal disease test and birth control clinic for teenagers, received heavy criticism earlier this year. Many residents opposed government funding of the clinic, which distributes contraceptives without parental consent.

The $5,000 for Crossroads and $2,000 for the Palatine Concert Band were to be one-time allocations. Another $5,000 request from fire departments in Palatine Township, which may also be affected by Scott's opinion, was tabled until the board's next meeting March 11.

Acting township attorney Dick Cowen estimated last night that a court ruling on the township expenditures would take several months.

Special gasoline pump only for emergencies

by JOE SWICKARD

"Call it discrimination if you want. But, by God, if I get sick I want a doctor or an ambulance if I need one," said Jack Parker.

Parker operates Arlington Park Arco, Wilke Road and Northwest Highway, and he has set aside a special pump for doctors, nurses, ambulances and other emergency vehicles.

"We've had it going about two or three weeks and I'd say it's going very, very well. The public understands. There have been no complaints, none at all," he said.

THE SPECIAL PUMP stands by itself, away from the regular lineup of cars. It carries a sign designating it for emergency vehicles only.

"I'm doing this so doctors and nurses — people who really need gas — can get it. I'd do this any time to have them bypass the lines," he said.

To qualify for service at the special pump, the motorist must present identification that shows that he or she is a physician or nurse. Once that has been established, Parker issues them a special card identifying them and their car as qualifying for the pump.

Parker said the emergency personnel are exempt from the usual $3 limit and the shortened pumping hours for regular motorists.

"We fill them up. They need the gas, I figure. They can get it as long as we're open. People in jobs like that can't always get their gas in the two hours in the morning, and most stations usually pump," he said.

DOCTORS AND nurses aren't the only ones that have taken advantage of Parker's service. He said ambulances and even Illinois State Police cars have come in for a fillup.

Parker said the motorists waiting in line have cooperated when they see someone else pull in ahead of them.

"Once they know what's going on, they understand. We haven't gotten any gripes about it," he said.

Parker said 16 doctors and nurses took advantage of his program last week alone.

The special treatment for the medical community will not affect his regular customers, he said.

"I've got enough to get through the month. I set this aside for emergencies and my commercial accounts that I've got to meet. But, I've got gas for the customers in the morning," he said.

"When you need a doctor or help in a hurry, you want to know he can get there without running out on the way," Parker said.

SPECIAL PUMP for emergency personnel was set aside at Arlington Park Arco. Owner Jack Parker said doctors and nurses can't afford long lines for gas.

Police want Crane to support bill

Palatine police have urged U. S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, to support legislation that would exempt police and firemen from payroll deductions for Social Security.

In a letter sent to Crane last week, police wrote that the department "is experiencing a very unique situation as we are covered not only by the Police Pension Fund but Social Security as well, and the financial burden is prohibitive."

Palatine is one of 29 organizations in Illinois that deducts money from police and fire pay checks for both Social Security and the local pension fund. If HR-799 is passed, police and firemen in Palatine would still have 7.5 per cent of their income paid into the pension fund, but the 5.35 per cent currently taken out for Social Security would no longer be deducted.

At one point, the police department was too small to form its own pension fund, so all village employees including policemen paid for Social Security. When the department grew, a pension fund was formed, but legislation had already been passed preventing police from withdrawing from Social Security.

Allocations to curb end-of-month shortages

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Some Northwest suburban gasoline stations pumped their storage tanks dry yesterday in anticipation of additional gasoline deliveries that didn't arrive.

More than one-third of the local service stations contacted by The Herald were out of gas — either because they had not received any since last week or because they sold gas more freely in recent days after learning of an extra federal allotment to metropolitan Chicago.

Long lines at some stations and "closed" signs at others were the norm yesterday as the distribution of the additional 20 million gallons of gasoline got off to a slow start.

STATION operators and oil company officials alike were annoyed because announcements of the extra allocation had led motorists to believe the gasoline would be available "instantly," while in reality the distribution of the additional allocations to all stations will extend into March.

Some suburban stations may receive the additional gasoline by today, state and oil company officials said. But many local station operators said their distributors were not able to estimate when the newly allocated fuel will reach their stations.

Of the 21 stations contacted yesterday by The Herald, only one had been promised a delivery under the new allocation by this morning.

"It's poor relations between the politicians and the consumer," said Leon Schroeder, who operates an Arco station.

STORAGE TANKS WERE empty at the Hoffman Estates Standard station at Ill. Rtes. 58 and 72 yesterday morning after the station opened all its pumps to serve the long lines of waiting motorists.

"I called down to the bulk plant and they said they're not geared up with the trucks yet for delivery. It will be Wednesday before we get it," a spokesman for the station said. The station sold out its tanks after being notified to do so by a sales representative, he said.

Another Standard station operator at Golf and Busse roads in Mount Prospect said his calls to the distributor yielded only the information that "the company can't release the gas yet."

"I had been promised 5,000 gallons and so I opened up Saturday and now we're out of regular completely," he said.

Meanwhile the state energy office in Springfield and major oil company distributors in Chicago said the gas is on its way.

A SPOKESMAN FOR State Energy Chief James W. Cook said the additional 20-million gallon federal allotment for the six-county area would probably reach retail outlets by today. The allocation increases apply to all major gasoline companies. (Continued on page 2)

City scholarship program may be ready this fall

A city-sponsored scholarship program for college-bound Rolling Meadows high school seniors will apparently be ready in time for the start of school this September.

City Mgr. James Watson and guidance counselors from Rolling Meadows, Fremd, St. Viator and Sacred Heart of Mary high schools will meet Friday to finalize eligibility requirements for the scholarships. Watson has said scholarship applications should be ready for distribution to the high schools soon.

The meeting Friday has been called to review and finalize eligibility requirements which the counselors have suggested to city officials. Tentative plans call for about $3,000 in scholarships to be awarded this year, Watson said. The exact number of grants to be awarded will depend on tuition costs at the schools which the recipients plan to attend.

The scholarships will pay for the cost of tuition up to $1,000 yearly at any accredited college, junior college, trade or vocational school in the country, Watson said.

ELIGIBILITY requirements for the scholarships, according to Watson, are expected to include:

• That applicants be residents of the city for at least two years prior to applying.

• That the applicant or his parents remain as residents of the city during the time the student receives a scholarship.

• That financial need will not be a determining factor in choosing recipients.

Watson said recipients would be chosen by a panel of five judges who will include one representative from each of the four high schools which serve the city and Administrative Assistant Charles Green. Green is working for the city as part of a program with Northern Illinois University where he is working toward a master's degree in public administration.

Once details of the scholarship program are confirmed, Watson said he will send applications to the four high schools for distribution to interested seniors.

The applications will then be returned to Watson's office where they will be coded by numbers. The panel of judges will not know the identity of the applicants so as to insure impartiality in the selection, Watson said.

Scholastic aptitude, extracurricular activities and student character will be among the factors considered for awarding of the grants.

THE AMOUNTS of each grant, which will be renewable for the student's educational term up to four years, will vary up to $1,000, Watson said. The tuition will be paid directly to the school which the student plans to attend, he said.

City officials at one point had considered limiting the areas of study for scholarship recipients to public service and governmental areas, but that requirement has been waived, Watson added.

The scholarship program was authorized last year when city officials decided to include a $10,000 scholarship category in the current budget. The program had been sought to provide financial aid to middle income families who cannot afford the rising costs of higher education but who are being barred from most scholarship aid in favor of low-income families, according to city officials.

Old water meters to be replaced soon

Replacement and repair of old water meters in Rolling Meadows will begin around May 1, according to Public Works Supt. John Hennessy.

Home water meters will be replaced according to a schedule now being prepared. Hennessy said cost of the program has not been determined.

The city also plans to convert to a new meter reading program in which public works employees will read home meters. Presently residents read their own meters.

Record city budget gets first airing

Preliminary budget figures released for the first time last night indicate the City of Rolling Meadows may be working with a record $3,450,750 in funds next year.

The figure would be only about $157,150 more than the current fiscal revenue total, or about a 5 per cent increase.

The figures were presented to the city council finance committee last night by City Mgr. James Watson. Watson, who had prepared the package after a series of meetings with department heads, emphasized last night that the figures were only preliminary.

He said further reviews with department heads will be required before the budget package is ready for city council review.

WATSON ALSO warned the committee last night that increasing costs of services may force the city to consider in the near future whether free services, particularly free residential garbage service, can continue to be provided at no cost to homeowners.

"It's very easy to give something away, but it's very difficult to take it back," Watson warned. He called the preliminary figures a "bare bones" outline that does not include capital expenditures, such as a second fire station, which may be needed in the near future.

The tentative figures previewed last night allow for no increases in manpower in the police, fire or public works departments. Watson told the committee the fire department has requested an additional 21 men and several more men have also been requested in the police department.

He added a more complete budget package, including priorities which have been requested by department heads, will be available for review by the committee at its March meeting.

A SURVEY OF the budget presented last night indicates most departments have requested increases over their current operating costs.

The budget also calls for the establishment of a new central communications center which will handle police, fire and public works communications in one central radio room.

The room will be located in the present police radio room. The communications center has been allotted a tentative budget of $31,072.

Watson cautioned that although revenues are increasing, inflationary costs for materials and service are minimizing the effects of the increasing revenues.

Additional revenues are expected to come from slightly higher sales tax rebates, state income tax, building permit fees, license fees and various other fees.

The budget must be approved by city officials by April 30.

2 women take police tests — but, sadly, not Debbie

About 40 persons took the first of a series of exams Saturday to become police officers in Rolling Meadows, but Debbie Brush was not among them.

Mrs. Brush was not permitted to take the written portion of the testing Saturday because she is one inch shorter than the minimum 5-foot 9-inch height requirement of the department. She appeared at Rolling Meadows High School but was told she did not qualify because of height requirements.

Two other women did take the testing, however. They measured 5 feet 10 inches and 6 feet tall.

The 21-year-old Mrs. Brush, a sociology and criminology major in college, had hoped to take the test despite the height discrepancy. Mrs. Brush, a radio dispatcher with the city police department, said yesterday she was "disappointed."

Those who successfully passed the written portion of the testing Saturday will go on to take a series of physical agility tests, interviewing and background evaluations within the next month to determine who will fill the one patrolman's vacancy and eligibility list.

Third graders make stringed instruments sing

by REGINA OEHLER

The new stringed music program for third graders that began in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 last fall has 190 third graders enrolled.

This is almost two-thirds of the total number of youngsters in the stringed music program, which continues up through eighth grade, according to music department chairman Robert Hannenberg.

"We've received many, many favorable comments," Hannenberg said. Youngsters in the program are learning to play the violin, viola, cello and string bass.

MUSIC TEACHER Libby Robertson said that 20 or 30 years ago, children learned to play on the family instrument which usually was a full size violin and too large for the youngsters to control. In the stringed program here, the school district offers quarter, half and three-quarter-size stringed instruments.

In past years, the stringed music program began in fourth grade, but members of the department felt that if the children started a little earlier, they would be much more proficient by the eighth grade than they are now, Hannenberg said.

Students in elementary grades gather in groups of three to six for lessons lasting half an hour each week. Once a week the youngsters also gather in a large group to practice as an ensemble.

The junior high youngsters normally have small group instruction for 45 minutes to an hour each week, plus the additional 45 minutes to an hour for large group practice, Hannenberg said.

DURING THE small-group instruction, each child has one or more opportunities to perform the pieces he has practiced over the week, Hannenberg said. Both the teacher and the other students criticize or praise the performance.

"They (students) learn to be very kind and polite about it," Mrs. Robertson said. "They're very helpful."

"I believe music education is to benefit all children. Every child has the right to experience music creatively in his own way."

For some children, he added, the first-through-eighth-grade program is the last formal music instruction they will have for the rest of their lives.

"I believe music is as important as math and social studies," he said, "but not more important."

Applications available for firemen's test

Applications are still available for persons interested in taking the fireman's exam in Rolling Meadows.

The written exam will be given Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at the Rolling Meadows City Hall, 3600 Kirchhoff Road. Persons applying for the exam must be 21 to 34 years old and be between 5 feet 6 inches and 6 feet 5 inches tall. Weight must be commensurate with height.

Applications for the testing may be obtained from the fire department at 3111 Meadow Drive or by calling 255-3399. Applications must be returned to the city hall addressed to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners before 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Belly dancing, trampoline lessons

Classes in women's belly dancing and adult trampoline will begin this week at the Salt Creek Park District. Belly dancing lessons are scheduled for Thursdays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. for six weeks.

Adult trampoline lessons will begin March 1 from 8 to 9 p.m. for six weeks.

Children four years old and older may take part in a new session of trampoline lessons beginning Saturday.

The programs are open to all residents of Palatine Township. For information call the district at 259-6890 or come in to the district office at 530 S. Williams Dr., Palatine.

City council to hear bus nursing home proposals

Two public hearings on separate nursing home proposals and a presentation describing a proposed bus service for the city are scheduled to be heard tonight by the Rolling Meadows City Council.

The nursing home proposals are from Dr. Douglas Finlayson, who is seeking to build a 93-bed home on Hicks Road and Winnetka Avenue, and from developer Friedrich Walter, who is seeking to build a 200-bed facility on E. Frontage Road near Central Road School.

The address on the proposed bus service will come from Claude G. Luisada of Metron Systems Corp. Luisada, whose company runs a bus service in Arlington Heights and Buffalo Grove, had been invited to address the council after conferring last month with Mayor Roland Meyer.

LUISADA'S ADDRESS will coincide with a survey the city is currently running to determine if a bus service would be used by city residents.

Residents have been asked to contact city hall on how a bus service might be used, but to date response to the survey has been minimal.

Meyer has said if a need for the service is shown, the city would consider starting a bus route.

Luisada's Arlington Heights service presently includes a commuter service to train depots, a service for residents who live and work in the community, a dial-a-bus service and a shuttle service to the Woodfield Shopping Center.

The two nursing home proposals scheduled tonight are among several which have been brought before city officials. Finlayson's proposal last week received a recommendation for approval from a special city zoning commission.

THE FACILITY would be built next to a medical clinic which Finlayson is currently building in the city.

Walter's proposal has also received a recommendation for approval from a special city zoning commission, but residents living near the proposed site have expressed concern about possible flooding problems the construction might create.

Walter has already held meetings with residents living near the site as well as officials from Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 to discuss his proposal.

tions by witnesses of the robbers.

Des Plaines and Arlington Heights police said warrants were issued for Carnett's arrest shortly after the holdups at the Bonanza Siroin Pit, 1249 Elmhurst Rd., Des Plaines, and the Ponderosa Steak House, Algonquin and Golf roads in Arlington Heights.

The two holdups netted nearly $9,500 in restaurant receipts, according to reports. The Arlington holdup occurred last August, police said. Carnett and an unidentified accomplice, posing as repairmen, struck a manager with a pipe and escaped with $2,699 in cash, police said.

ACCORDING TO REPORTS, Carnett pulled the second holdup late in October after working there for half a day posing as a janitor.

He allegedly pulled a gun on the manager after telling him he needed a lift to his auto while the manager was taking $9,500 in receipts to the bank.

L. Lee Alfano of Des Plaines police said both victims identified photos of Carnett as the holdup man.

Carnett is awaiting a court date on the New Mexico charges after which he will be extradited here to face trial on the Des Plaines and Arlington Heights counts, according to police.

PARTICIPANTS IN THE Rolling Meadows Park District's Couples Volleyball class make a last-ditch attempt to return the elusive volleyball, but even with arms outstretched, the ball eludes them. This activity, limited to couples, is held at 7 p.m. Thursdays in the Cardinal Drive School gym.

Forest View decision seen March 11

The High School Dist. 214 board of education faced a packed house last night as it began discussion of possible boundary changes to relieve overcrowding at Forest View High School.

Board members told the overflow crowd which gathered in the board meeting room that they will continue discussing the proposed boundary changes at a meeting next Monday night and hope to make a final decision on the location of the Forest View attendance boundary March 11.

The Dist. 214 administration presented the following basic plans for boundary shifts:

- Mount Prospect Elementary Dist. 57 students living south of Weller Creek would be shifted to Prospect High School.

- Dist. 57 students living south of Weller Creek and east of WeGo Drive would be shifted to Prospect, leaving the other Dist. 57 students south of Weller Creek in Forest View.

- Shift students in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 living south of Algonquin Road and east of Busse Road to Elk Grove High School. That shift would include the Devonshire area of Des Plaines.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S recommendations provided that in all cases, except the one involving only students east of WeGo, only incoming freshmen would be required to change schools. Students who have already started at Forest View would be allowed to graduate there.

Members of the audience, primarily from the Des Plaines area, told the board that they would object to having their children transferred out of Forest View High School. The entire Des Plaines area was shifted from Forest View to Elk Grove High School in 1966 and then back to Forest View in 1970.

A spokesman for the group said, "For once, all the people in our area have all their children in one school. We'd like to become established in that one school."

In addition to the recommendations presented last night, board members asked the district administration to look into the possibility of placing the northern boundary of the Forest View attendance along Golf Road west to Meier Road, sending some Dist. 59 students, as well as the Dist. 57 students, to Prospect High School.

In addition, board President Gene Artemenko asked the administration to consider the possibility of shifting some students into Wheeling High School in the northern part of the district. Wheeling has had only about 2,100 students since the district's newest school, Buffalo Grove, opened this fall.

Township to hold Crossroads, band $

Revenue sharing funds from Palatine Township for the Crossroads Clinic and the Palatine Concert Band will be withheld by township officials until a court decision determines whether or not the funding is legal.

The $3,000 for Crossroads and $2,000 for the Palatine Concert Band were to be one-time allocations. Another $5,000 request from fire departments in Palatine Township, which may also be affected by Scott's opinion, was tabled until the board's next meeting March 11.

Acting township attorney Dick Cowen estimated last night that a court ruling on the township expenditures would take several months.

PTA notes

A career education workshop will be held for parents of junior high school age youngsters at 8 p.m. Thursday in Winston Park School, 900 E. Palatine Rd., Palatine.

Miss Barbara Berry, director of guidance for all 20 schools in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 will be giving a multimedia presentation on career education and describe the district's plan for introducing junior high students to the world of work.

Joining her is Mrs. Kathleen Mundt, Winston Park eighth grade reading, language arts and social studies teacher who also heads the career education program at the school.

"Parents will get a chance to try work experience kits that seventh graders and eighth graders use," Miss Berry said. This includes actual tools that people on various jobs would use, such as bank statements, t-squares and accounting forms.

"The Bucks and Does," a local square dancing group will be featured at the Jonas Salk School PTA's Mothers and Sons Night being held at 7 p.m. today in the school cafeteria, 3705 Pheasant Dr.

The annual gym nights, sponsored by physical education director Maurice Sapoznik, will follow the dancing demonstration.

The annual Jonas Salk School Card party will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school cafeteria, 3705 Pheasant Dr. Tickets are $1 and are available through the school board members or by calling 253-4644 or 255-6357.

Man wanted for robberies in area caught in New Mexico

by JOHN MAES

A man suspected of robbing steak houses in Des Plaines and Arlington Heights last year is in custody and facing two other robbery counts brought against him by Albuquerque, N. M., police.

The man, Anthony Carnett, 27, is being held in jail in El Paso County, Tex., on $30,000 bond following his arrest Thursday night.

FBI agents in El Paso said yesterday they arrested Carnett at a trailer near Camutillo, Tex., an El Paso suburb, on a federal warrant for interstate flight to avoid prosecution on the Albuquerque charges.

Albuquerque Police Det. James Lehner said yesterday Carnett is charged with armed robberies of a cleaning store and a service station there. Lehner said both holdups totaled about $120 in cash and occurred last July 7.

AN ALLEGED accomplice of Carnett's in the New Mexico holdups, William McLaughlin, was arrested last year for his part in the holdups, according to Lehner.

Carnett and McLaughlin were tied to those holdups through the aid of descrip-

Allocations to curb end-of-month shortages

Dealers await gas; some already 'dry'

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Some Northwest suburban gasoline stations pumped their storage tanks dry yesterday in anticipation of additional gasoline deliveries that didn't arrive.

More than one-third of the local service stations contacted by The Herald were out of gas — either because they had not received any since last week or because they sold gas more freely in recent days after learning of an extra federal allotment to metropolitan Chicago.

Long lines at some stations and "closed" signs at others were the norm yesterday as the distribution of the additional 20 million gallons of gasoline got off to a slow start.

STATION operators and oil company officials alike were annoyed because announcements of the extra allocation had led motorists to believe the gasoline would be available "instantly," while in reality the distribution of the additional allocations to all stations will extend into March.

Some suburban stations may receive the additional gasoline by today, state and oil company officials said. But many local station operators said their distributors were not able to estimate when the newly allocated fuel will reach their stations.

Of the 21 stations contacted yesterday by The Herald, only one had been promised a delivery under the new allocation by this morning.

"It's poor relations between the politicians and the consumer," said Leon Schroeder, who operates an Arco station.

STORAGE TANKS WERE empty at the Hoffman Estates Standard station at Ill. Rtes. 58 and 72 yesterday morning after the station opened all its pumps to serve the long lines of waiting motorists.

"I called down to the bulk plant and they said they're not geared up with the trucks yet for delivery. It will be Wednesday before we get it," a spokesman for the station said. The station sold out its tanks after being notified to do so by a sales representative, he said.

Another Standard station operator at Golf and Busse roads in Mount Prospect said his calls to the distributor yielded only the information that "the company can't release the gas yet."

"I had been promised 5,000 gallons and so I opened up Saturday and now we're out of regular completely," he said.

Meanwhile the state energy office in Springfield and major oil company distributors in Chicago said the gas is on its way.

A SPOKESMAN FOR State Energy Chief James W. Cook said the additional 20-million gallon federal allotment for the six-county area would probably reach retail outlets by today. The allocation increases apply to all major gasoline companies. (Continued on page 2)

Schools express their willingness

Benach-school talks still on

Members of the Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54 Board of Education expressed a desire last night to continue negotiations with Hallmark Homes even though the builder's proposed donation does not meet district guidelines.

Their feelings will be transmitted to the Schaumburg Village Board tonight in a formal statement.

Following a meeting with Ronald Benach and Peter Bianchini of Hallmark Homes school board member Gordon Thoren said the developer's proposal of $150 per child to be donated on enrollment, with a $30,000 ceiling, does not meet district guidelines for builders' donations.

The developers plan to build Lexington Green, a 480-unit condominium project,

THE PROPERTY is now owned by Schaumburg Mayor Robert O. Atcher and Chicago attorney Jack M. Pritzker.

Tentative multiple zoning was approved Feb. 12 by Schaumburg trustees, but Benach was asked to reopen negotiations with Dist. 54 since his earlier offer of $25 per unit was found inadequate by Dist. 54 board members.

"My reaction is that their current offer doesn't meet our guidelines which call for $100-per-unit contributions for two- and three-bedroom units, plus one acre of land for each 100 students," Thoren said.

Thoren and board members Brenda Pulla and Adam Jellin, present at the meeting with Hallmark principals, believe that more than the 139 elementary school age students predicted by the developers will actually result from the project.

Dist. 54 Board President Donnie Rudd, not present at last night's meeting, later said he would draft a statement to be presented to the village board tonight.

2nd Barrington Square school site unnecessary?

Kaufman & Broad is expected to receive word soon that it will not have to provide a second school site at its Barrington Square development in Hoffman Estates.

Officials in Schaumburg Township Elementary School Dist. 54 are expected to make a final review of projected school enrollments from the development, after which the release letter will be sent.

Under the initial zoning in 1969 for Barrington Square, the developer was to set aside two eight-acre school sites. After the land plan was half developed an assessment of whether the second site would be needed was to be made.

Current figures show that at full development the property will generate 850 children between 5 and 13 years old and about 650 in kindergarten through sixth grades.

The first K&B site was used to build Muir School, 1973 N. Kensington Rd., and it is expected that facility, with an addition to be built later, will be able to handle Barrington Square.

There is a school site provided on the Hilldale Village property, located just east of Barrington Square, and it is possible that site will not be needed for a school, Marvin Lapicola, assistant superintendent for finance, said recently.

It is not anticipated release of the second K&B site will create any problems for the school district, he added.

Parks to finalize purchase of maintenance building

Schaumburg Park District officials will complete purchase arrangements today for a $150,000 building in Centex-Schaumburg Industrial Park for use as a maintenance center.

"It was our original intention to build a 10,000-square-foot building for this purpose, but we believe this arrangement will represent a dollars and cents savings to taxpayers," said Paul Derda, director of parks and recreation.

The building, at 610 Morse Ave., will be used to store park maintenance equipment and vehicles, Derda explained.

He estimated that construction of this type of facility could take from 10 to 12 months to complete and said he believed the cost could increase as much as 10 per cent "in view of materials shortages and other delays being experienced by the construction industry."

"This is really a 'turnkey' kind of deal since we will be able to move in almost immediately," he explained. Derda said the owner, Charles Piazza, of Edgewood Construction Co., has agreed to install a drive-through doorway between two sections of the building at no extra cost.

The sale to the park district is being handled by Gladstone Realty, Derda said.

5th graders make money with a store

The tough world of business became real for fifth grade students of Dooley School, 622 Norwood Ln., Schaumburg, when they operated a full scale general store for three days and won a $100 profit with the experience.

The store was the main feature in a project supervised by Diane Stebbins, math teacher, but the project involved

THE BUSINESS ACUMEN of Dooley School fifth graders turned a $100 profit from a $20 investment during a 3-day general store last week. Proceeds will buy sound equipment for the school, but the biggest gain is what the students learned about a variety of business techniques.

Trustees on record against RTA

The Hoffman Estates village board went on record last night as opposing passage of the Regional Transportation Authority referendum March 19.

The board voted to oppose the referendum proposal, but to favor development of another mass transit proposition which would eliminate objectionable provisions.

The action was unanimous and places the village board in agreement with state Rep. Donald Totten, R-Hoffman Estates, and the Schaumburg Township Board of Auditors. Totten is among area legislators leading an "RTA No" movement. The township board voted to oppose the referendum early this year.

The village trustees objected to the representation proposed for the RTA board and to what they termed "open-ended bonding power."

TRUSTEE DYRLE RATHMAN, who proposed the resolution, said he feels the suburbs do need a regional transportation system, but "this is not the one." He also said the majority of money to finance the proposed RTA would come from the suburban area and noted even proponents of the measure already are projecting a deficit.

Trustee Diane Jensen, who commutes daily to Chicago via the Chicago & North Western Railway, said suburbanites "have to have mass transportation. Maybe I say that because I use it, but maybe if some of our legislators had to use it, we would have mass transportation now and not a proposal March 19," she said.

The resolution is to be included with a letter which Mayor Virginia Hayter will draft and send to the trustees for approval. Once it has been approved, it will be sent to Gov. Daniel Walker, Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago, House Majority Leader W. Robert Blair, Senate Minority Leader Cecil Pardee, and sponsors of the bill in both houses in Springfield.

Trial date set in bribery case

Trial has been set for April 22 for Matthew Mentzen, 153 Arlington St., Hoffman Estates, charged with six counts of bribing officials of the Federal Housing Authority.

Presiding at the trial will be U.S. District Court Judge William Baver.

Mentzen was indicted Sept. 1, along with Phillip Rose of Dundee, on charges they paid a series of six bribes totaling $1,800 for special FHA loan treatment of housing built by Phillips Construction Co., Dundee, which Rose owns. The bribes allegedly were paid between October, 1970, and November, 1971, when Mentzen was employed by L. E. Lay & Co., a Chicago mortgage firm.

The indictment alleged the bribes were paid to former FHA loan specialist John J. Zoch and former FHA construction supervisor Timothy Counihan, both of whom have been convicted of accepting bribes. Zoch was sentenced to three years' probation, and Counihan to one year in prison and four years' probation.

Park slide show available

Hoffman Estates Park District has an impressive slide presentation that shows all 25 parks in the system as well as examples of programs and activities sponsored by the district.

Comr. George Seaver is responsible for taking the color slides, preparing the narration and coordinating the presentation which is being made available to civic organizations, schools, PTAs and other interested groups. It appears to be a real winner.

But interestingly enough, Seaver tells of having the inclination to "freeze up" while taping the narrative though a listener would never know. George says he can't understand what happened, because, as a pilot, he spends "half his time on the radio."

Call park offices, 885-7500, to schedule a showing.

A former Hoffman Estates Jaycee president, Bob Janus, was honored Saturday with the highest award given to a Jaycee. At a district meeting in Aurora last Saturday, Bob, who now lives in New Hope, Minn., was made a U. S. Jaycee Senator.

Thanks to his friends in the village, Bob had no advance knowledge of the award. He was brought back to the area under a ruse cooked up by local Jaycees, who told Bob that his wife, Mickey, was scheduled for an award because of her outstanding work with Hoffman Estates Jaycee Wives.

Needless to say, New Hope Jaycees have already recruited both Bob and Mickey. Our loss is their gain.

Gloria Fallgatter took over duties as secretary to Schaumburg Village Administrator John Coste yesterday. A Schaumburg resident, Gloria replaces Marcia Gabriel who recently resigned.

Members of Schaumburg High School's Very Interested Parents (VIP) Booster Club are completing plans for the Third Annual Ziege's Follies March 7, 8 and 9 at 8 p.m. at the high school cafeteria.

Follies is the Booster Club's major annual fund raiser. This year the parents group has established a $250 scholarship to be awarded to a graduating senior.

Tickets are available at the school and will be on sale at the door before each performance. Admission is $1.50 for adults; $1 for students.

Birthday greetings are in order for Hoffman Estates Terri Schueneman, Ruth Downey and Martha Murphy, who celebrated Feb. 26 as well as for Jeanne Kessell and Trustee Ray McArthur, both of Schaumburg, who will blow out candles Friday and Saturday respectively.

Condolences to the Phillip Skobilkof family of Hoffman Estates, on the death of their daughter, Debbie, 18, last week and to the Arnold Stanger family of Schaumburg, on the loss of their five-year-old son, Mark, yesterday.

Phil Ossifer defines a friend as "one who comes in when the whole world has gone out."

Y gets 32% of goal

The Family Division of Twinbrook YMCA's 1974 Sustaining Membership Drive reports it has collected 32 per cent of its goal in the first week of the three-week campaign.

There has been $7,982 reported in pledges and contributions toward a $25,000 goal, said Bob Williams, YMCA director. These include 205 contributors solicited from a field of 234 persons.

Women rank No. 1 in state volleyball, basketball play

Women's basketball and volleyball teams sponsored by Schaumburg Park District captured state titles in athletic competition during the weekend.

The women's competitive volleyball team ended a 92-17 season record by taking the state title over Berwyn, winning two of three playoff games in Streamwood. The week before, the volleyball players had captured a district title by beating Franklin Park's team in St. Charles.

In the district and state playoffs, the Schaumburg team won 23 games and lost 3. The competition was sponsored by the Illinois Park and Recreation Society.

Team members are Marge Braska, captain; Carole McGriff, co-captain; Celest Marcinko, Arlene Gillis, Carol Sutula, Barb Witt, Debbi Schueler, Carolyn Kramer and Diana Pauksens. Their coach is Dave Bose.

Schaumburg Shamrocks, park district sponsored basketball team, netted a 66-52 victory over Chicago Salt and Pepper in play Sunday in Jane Addams School, 700 S. Springguth Rd., Schaumburg. With a state title in their pockets, they will face players from Kentucky, West Virginia, Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin and Missouri March 8-10 in Champaign, Ill.

Winners of that tournament will compete for the national championship March 26-30 in Gallup, N.M.

Packed house hears alternatives

Forest View boundary plan decision expected March 11

The High School Dist. 214 board of education faced a packed house last night as it began discussion of possible boundary changes to relieve overcrowding at Forest View High School.

Board members told the overflow crowd which gathered in the board meeting room that they will continue discussing the proposed boundary changes at a meeting next Monday night and hope to make a final decision on the location of the Forest View attendance boundary March 11.

The Dist. 214 administration presented the following basic plans for boundary shifts:

- Mount Prospect Elementary Dist. 57 students living south of Weller Creek would be shifted to Prospect High School.

- Dist. 57 students living south of Weller Creek and east of WeGo Drive would be shifted to Prospect, leaving the other Dist. 57 students south of Weller Creek in Forest View.

- Shift students in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 living south of Algonquin Road and east of Busse Road to Elk Grove High School. That shift would include the Devonshire area of Des Plaines.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S recommendations provided that in all cases, except the one involving only students east of WeGo, only incoming freshmen would be required to change schools. Students who have already started at Forest View would be allowed to graduate there.

Members of the audience, primarily from the Des Plaines area, told the board that they would object to having their children transferred out of Forest View High School. The entire Des Plaines area was shifted from Forest View to Elk Grove High School in 1966 and then back to Forest View in 1970.

A spokesman for the group said, "For once, all the people in our area have all their children in one school. We'd like to become established in that one school."

In addition to the recommendations presented last night, board members asked the district administration to look into the possibility of placing the northern boundary of the Forest View attendance area along Golf Road west to Meier Road, sending some Dist. 59 students, as well as the Dist. 57 students, to Prospect High School.

In addition, board President Gene Artemenko asked the administration to consider the possibility of shifting some students into Wheeling High School in the northern part of the district. Wheeling has had only about 2,100 students since the district's newest school, Buffalo Grove, opened this fall.

Large turnout of gasoline dealers expected for parley

by MARCIA KRAMER

Mount Prospect gasoline dealers are expected to show up en masse at a meeting with village officials tomorrow night to discuss ways to cope with long lines at stations.

The meeting was called for 7:30 p.m. in the village hall, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., by Mayor Robert D. Teichert in an effort to come up with some sort of local control over the sale of gasoline.

Long lines of motorists waiting for gas have spilled onto main streets, posing traffic hazards, the mayor said.

A SPOT CHECK of 10 station owners — one third of the local service stations — by The Herald yesterday indicated a sizable turnout of dealers can be expected at the meeting. Eight of the 10 said they planned to attend and the two others said they would try to go.

"I sure do plan to go," said station owner Ed O'Neil, of the E&M Standard at Wolf Road and Euclid Avenue. "You never know until you try."

O'Neil endorses a system already in effect in other states that restricts gas sales to certain days, depending on license numbers. Cars with an even-numbered plate would be able to fill up on even-numbered days, and those with odd-numbered plates on odd-numbered days.

Other station operators also largely favored the even-odd system. "It would definitely help the situation," asserted Dick Vance, manager of Mount Prospect Standard Service, Dempster Street and Elmhurst Road. "It won't help the drain on fuel, but it would ease it to the point where lines would become shorter."

RICH HAHN, foreman at Winkelmann's Shell Service, 310 W. Northwest Hwy., concurred, but said "it's kind of hard to do with one town."

Robert Skwierczynski, owner of Bob's Marathon Service, 1001 S. Busse Rd., agreed that the state should take the

Going through changes

Mount Prospect's Police Department has begun new programs for better service

EDITORS NOTE: This is a first in a series of three articles on operation changes at the Mount Prospect Police Department.

by TOM VON MALDER

The last year has been one of change at the Mount Prospect Police Department. Several new programs and procedures designed to improve police service were instituted.

One of the more important programs, as far as the future of the department is concerned, was the start of the police cadet program. Another was the continued emphasis on training at all levels of the department.

In June, the first two police cadets in Mount Prospect were hired. After more than a year's effort, the village board budgeted funds for the program and Rick Rossi and Bruce Mazurkiewicz were hired. Since then, Rossi left to join the Elk Grove Village Police Department and two new cadets began work this week.

CADETS RECEIVE on-the-job training toward police careers and Police Chief Bert Giddens has said the cadet program could lead to a steady supply of well-trained persons from which the department could select future policemen.

Training has included the sending of two police sergeants to the Traffic Institute at Northwestern University in Evanston. Sgt. Joseph Bopp graduated in June, after specializing in police management and is now involved in planning and research for the police department. Sgt. Edward Nastek is currently enrolled and studying traffic analysis and enforcement.

At the same time, other members of the police force have attended courses in management, supervision and administration; accident investigation; evidence technician; narcotics; community relations and in-service refresher courses. Usually, a portion of the cost of the training is paid by grants from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission and the Illinois Highway Commission Scholarship Fund.

THE PATROLMEN also have received training during roll calls, a new program instituted in the past year. Training films and other devices are used to bring "relevant problems to the attention of all officers," police officials said.

Several new assignments also were created in 1973 to make the running of the department smoother and more efficient.

Lt. Fred Hedlund is now assigned as review officer and checks all written reports and memoranda submitted by policemen.

According to police officials Hedlund's assignment "has been instrumental in upgrading the quality and quantity of the officers' reports and also in providing accurate and prompt information for the records section, as well as for the citizen."

ten reports and memoranda submitted by policemen.

According to police officials Hedlund's assignment "has been instrumental in upgrading the quality and quantity of the officers' reports and also in providing accurate and prompt information for the records section, as well as for the citizen."

Lt. John Homola's new assignment is as property control officer. Before he took over the lost and found section in June, no adequate system of keeping track of what was recovered or confiscated by police was available. The department also made more room for recovered and confiscated items by having a storage area built in the basement of the village hall annex.

HOMOLA ALSO undertook duties as the court liaison officer, whose duties include a review of policemen's performances in court and the keeping track of court appearances and cases.

TO HELP ENSURE that the department's manpower is allocated where needed, an analysis was made of the five existing beat areas. The analysis will be of particular help in deciding where extra manpower will be assigned.

As in previous years, members of the various police departments addressed a number of public groups. About 67 such appearances were made last year. A police Explorer Post also was set up, and this has improved police-youth relationships.

Among the many physical changes around the police station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., was the relocation of the records section from the second to first floor, a remodeling and enlargement of the investigative section.

Lt. John Homola keeps track of property and how well police perform in court...

5 burglaries reported; $800 taken from builder

Burglars took $800 cash from the home of a local developer Sunday night in one of five burglaries reported during the weekend to Mount Prospect police.

Police said burglars entered developer Enzo J. Frediani's 920 S. Elm St. residence sometime between 6 p.m. Sunday and 1 a.m. Monday. The Frediani family were at the wedding of a daughter.

According to police, the burglars forced the rear garage door and then an inside door leading to the house. Several guns kept in a trophy case were handled but not taken, police said, and wedding envelopes containing cash apparently were overlooked. The burglars ransacked three bedrooms, however, and may have taken some jewelry and camera equipment too, police added.

IN A SECOND burglary, more than $1,600 worth of radios and other items were taken from the Arrow Sports and Hobby shop, 970 E. Northwest Hwy., Saturday night.

Police said the burglars may have had a means to enter the store without force. The burglary was committed between 5:30 p.m. Saturday and 12:35 p.m. Sunday. In addition to the seven radios stolen, timers, drills, a replica gun and $68 cash were taken. Three other replica guns were damaged, police said.

Damage was heavy at Indian Grove School, 1340 Burning Bush Ln., after a burglar forced his way into the building Saturday night. Most of the damage was to the teachers' lounge, police said, although a pay telephone was destroyed and milk and ice cream machines were vandalized.

Apparently nothing was stolen, police said, adding that the burglar left behind some coins in the smashed telephone box. The damage total is expected to exceed $1,000.

TWO BURGLARS are believed to have forced the rear door of the Victor G. Fifth home, 1406 Greenwood Ln., by breaking the door frame, after they had unsuccessfully tried to force a patio sliding door. The whole house, but particularly the bedrooms, was ransacked, police said. Jewelry and coins were left behind, but $150 cash — all in paper bills — was taken. The burglary occurred between 8:30 and 11:15 p.m. Saturday.

The fifth reported burglary occurred Friday night at the Mount Prospect Union 76 gas station, 620 E. Northwest Hwy. After the rear door was forced, $35 worth of wrenches were taken, police said.

The gas station was closed from 6:30 p.m. Friday to 8 a.m. Saturday.

lead in restricting the sale of gasoline. If the state doesn't act, he said, the village should. "Somebody ought to do something."

Teichert has not specified what he thinks the village should do, but has noted that states where sales have been set by license numbers have experienced shorter lines.

Any local action apparently would have to be voluntary. A spokesman for the Midwest region of the Federal Energy Office in Chicago said yesterday the village in itself could not legally restrict sales to certain days, but could ask station owners and customers to cooperate. "Whatever they can do on their own would help," the spokesman said.

LT. JOHN SAVAGE, commander of the Mount Prospect police patrol division, said police have worked with service station owners to route gas lines in a way that would avoid blocking roads. He acknowledged, however, that traffic on many main streets — Rand Road, Elmhurst Road, Emerson Street, Northwest Highway, Central Road, Golf Road, Dempster Street — is occasionally hampered by gas lines spilling into the roadway.

Some of the station owners interviewed said they would support staggered hours, but one said that while it would help motorists, it would hurt stations. "We'd have to keep the lights on if we were open at night and I'd have to pay an extra shift," he said. "It definitely would be opposed to it. It would cost more to dispense the same product."

JOE TILL, manager of Golf and Busse Shell, suggested that sales be restricted to Mount Prospect residents in order to conserve gas. He predicted "it's going to get worse before it gets better."

Report cards under review; weigh return to letter grade

by LUISA GINETTI

Officials in School Dist. 26 are reviewing the current report-card system used in grades one through six to determine if the district should return to letter grading.

Report cards now used call only for teachers to indicate by a "yes" or "no" whether students are making satisfactory progress in their work. The decision to review the non-graded report card was made by the school board following the results of a teacher survey on the report card. The survey revealed many inconsistent remarks.

Teachers were asked 11 questions to determine their reaction to the card and suggestions for improving the system, in operation since September.

The consensus among teachers was that the reporting system was doing a good job. At the same time, however, teachers said limiting comments to only "yes" or "no" was "too rigid."

TO REMEDY THIS, teachers suggested replacing the "yes" and "no" remarks with three to five categories that would allow for comments such as "slight improvement" or "student doing more than required."

The current report card does include a comment sheet for teachers to make remarks about students, but the report indicated the sheets were seldom used.

Teachers also responded that what they liked most about the report card was that it was based on ability and that using no grades was a positive approach.

THE CONCERNS voiced by parents seem to be more in the direction of getting a better explanation on student progress at teacher conferences where the report card is used as a basis for discussing the student's work. Some parents have also indicated a desire to have some type of grading system used in addition to or instead of the "yes" or "no" approach because it would provide them a better yardstick for measuring their child's progress.

In response to the report on the grading system, Al Levin, district curriculum coordinator, suggested two ways to improve the current approach. His recommendations include adopting a third category to the "yes" or "no" remarks and giving grades to those students whose parents desire them.

"I do not necessarily agree with these suggestions," Levin said, "but I also feel no great harm can be done by them."

Wedgewood not looking for a fight

Many homeowners in the Wedgewood Terrace subdivision of Mount Prospect aren't particularly content with the special assessment being levied against them for hooking into the village sewer and water system, but it doesn't appear they'll fight it either.

About a dozen homeowners have expressed opposition to the amount of their assessments. Spokesman for the owners Benjamin J. Nejdil, 454 W. Rand Rd., complained that some property owners will have to pay more for the utility hookup than others.

The triangular-shaped subdivision is bounded by Euclid Avenue on the north, Elmhurst Road on the east and Rand Road on the southwest.

IN ALL, residents will pay $377,110.80 to make the switch from septic tanks and wells to the village sewer and water system, and the village will provide the remaining $19,296 in order to oversize the sewers.

Nejdil said the spread of payments when originally set by the Board of Local Improvements was not equally shared by the property owners.

In addition, Cook County Circuit Court Judge Helen McGillicuddy recently ruled in favor of eight property owners who objected to their assessments, and lowered their cost $400 to $450 per parcel. The judge is permitted to adjust the assessment of only the property owners who file an objection.

Mayor Robert D. Teichert explained that the assessments are spread based on lot size, particularly frontage feet, and therefore lots that appear similar in size that are actually different sizes would be assessed differently.

TO NEJDIL'S inquiry about "Dumping the whole assessment and starting from scratch," Teichert noted that the process would probably take another year, by which time labor and material costs would have risen further, wiping out any savings the homeowners could hope to gain.

Nejdil said the homeowners association would take up the matter at its next meeting, but said he doubted whether under the circumstances the property owners would contest the special assessment.

Notices for bids were published yesterday and will be run again March 4. Barring unforeseen delays, the new utility system could be installed by fall, according to Teichert.

Allocations to curb end-of-month shortages

Dealers await gas; some already 'dry'

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Some Northwest suburban gasoline stations pumped their storage tanks dry yesterday in anticipation of additional gasoline deliveries that didn't arrive.

More than one-third of the local service stations contacted by The Herald were out of gas — either because they had not received any since last week or because they sold gas more freely in recent days after learning of an extra federal allotment to metropolitan Chicago.

Long lines at some stations and "closed" signs at others were the norm yesterday as the distribution of the additional 20 million gallons of gasoline got off to a slow start.

STATION operators and oil company officials alike were annoyed because announcements of the extra allocation had led motorists to believe the gasoline would be available "instantly," while in reality the distribution of the additional allocations to all stations will extend into March.

Some suburban stations may receive the additional gasoline by today, state and oil company officials said. But many local station operators said their distributors were not able to estimate when the newly allocated fuel will reach their stations.

Of the 21 stations contacted yesterday by The Herald, only one had been promised a delivery under the new allocation by this morning.

"It's poor relations between the politicians and the consumer," said Leon Schroeder, who operates an Arco station.

STORAGE TANKS WERE empty at the Hoffman Estates Standard station at Ill. Rtes. 58 and 72 yesterday morning after the station opened all its pumps to serve the long lines of waiting motorists.

"I called down to the bulk plant and they said they're not geared up with the trucks yet for delivery. It will be Wednesday before we get it," a spokesman for the station said. The station sold out its tanks after being notified to do so by a sales representative, he said.

Another Standard station operator at Golf and Busse roads in Mount Prospect said his calls to the distributor yielded only the information that "the company can't release the gas yet."

"I had been promised 5,000 gallons and so I opened up Saturday and now we're out of regular completely," he said.

Meanwhile the state energy office in Springfield and major oil company distributors in Chicago said the gas is on its way.

A SPOKESMAN FOR State Energy Chief James W. Cook said the additional 20-million gallon federal allotment for the six-county area would probably reach retail outlets by today. The allocation increases apply to all major gasoline companies. (Continued on page 2)

Vail-Campbell restaurant OK'd by zoning board

The Arlington Heights Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) last night voted to recommend to the village board that one of the oldest buildings in the downtown area be converted into a restaurant.

Bill Dorsch and Allan MacFarlane, who plan to restore the building on the corner of Vail and Campbell streets, appeared before the ZBA asking to be granted a waiver on the 40 parking spaces they were to provide under village ordinance.

According to the ordinance, the business would require a minimum of 40 parking spaces or a contribution of $64,000 to the village in lieu of the requirement at a rate of $1,600 per space.

ZBA members will recommend to the village board that the restaurant developers instead pay between $25,000 to $40,000 in lieu of parking spaces.

The board decision, normally would be final on zoning variations but according to the parking requirement ordinance, the final decision will rest on the village board members, according to Fredrick Marks, ZBA president.

FREDERICK A. BRAGIEL, attorney for Dorsch and MacFarlane told members of the ZBA that his clients could not afford to pay $64,000 because of the high cost of the proposed restaurant.

The restaurant, which will be refurbished to maintain an old-time atmosphere, will have cobblestone floor, antique gas lamps, stained glass windows and other furnishings typical of early Arlington Heights. The cost of the property is $100,000 and remodeling is estimated to be approximately $60,000 or more, Bragiel said.

Bragiel added that by abiding by the ordinance a hardship would be created for the property owners who are willing to sell the building that was built in 1893.

"The owner of the property would be restrained from selling the property because of parking," he said. "Whoever wants to buy the property will have the problem with parking."

A RAINSTORM will be the major special effect during the Hersey High School production of "110 degrees in the Shade." The play, featuring, from left, Tony Zungrone, Kary Miller, Diane Gabbei and Rick Leich, will be presented Friday and Saturday and again March 8 and 9 at 8 p.m. at the school.

'Not compatible' with other activities

'Basement' may shut doors

by KURT BAER

The Basement, a youth drop-in center at Olympic Park, is in danger of being shut down after only five months of operation.

Staffed by two counselors, The Basement is a popular gathering spot with some teens. But Thomas Thornton, Arlington Heights Park District director, says the center is "not compatible" with other activities at Olympic Park.

Thornton has recommended that The Basement be closed as soon as another home for the drop-in center can be found.

HOWEVER, Arlington Heights Health Director Frank Charlton, who supervises the two outreach workers, says he does not know of any other location where the program can be set up.

"They're going to stay at Olympic Park for the time being," Charlton said yesterday, after a meeting called to discuss the fate of the drop-in center. "We set one month to re-evaluate the program."

The Basement attracts youth who are looking for an alternative to traditional park district programs. Many of the teens who use the facility have been labeled as "troublemakers" in the past.

"We've had a lot of complaints and the place has turned into a hangout. If they don't hang out in The Basement, they're in the front lobby or the entranceway," Thornton said.

"Some parents have been reluctant to drop their little ones off out in front of the park because of it," he said.

THE BASEMENT has been successful in drawing teens who the two counselors, employed by the Village of Arlington Heights, wanted to reach and counsel, Charlton said.

"But it was pretty much the consensus that the activities and the goals of The Basement and the pool are not compatible. The park district tries to reach the broadest number (of people) as possible while the numbers using The Basement should be shrinking," he said.

The Basement is only a small part of the two outreach workers' total program, Charlton said. Each counselor spends three hours a week working at the drop-in center. The rest of the time, they are working in the high schools and at The Bridge, a counseling center in Palatine.

"The Basement was set up in October in order to give the counselors more identity with Arlington Heights, not just The Bridge," Charlton said.

VANDALISM HAS been another problem associated with the use of Olympic Park, Thornton said.

"We've had an extensive number of windows broken at the park," he said, while adding that the entire vandalism problem probably should not be blamed on The Basement.

"The room has never been successful as a teen center," he said, "in terms of the number of people using it or the activities there."

Before The Basement was set up, the park district had attempted to operate a more conventional teen center at Olympic Park called the Green Barrel. That center was closed after it became a hangout for a small group of teens.

THE ARLINGTON Heights Park Board ultimately will have to decide whether The Basement too should be closed as Thornton has recommended.

A total of $23,000 has been tentatively included in next year's village budget to pay for the work of the two outreach counselors.

The Arlington Heights Youth Council, which supports the program, will begin searching for another home which might prove more suitable for a drop-in center than has Olympic Park.

Special gas pump for emergencies

by JOE SWICKARD

"Call it discrimination if you want. But, by God, if I get sick I want a doctor or an ambulance if I need one," said Jack Parker.

Parker operates Arlington Park Arco, Wilke Road and Northwest Highway, and he has set aside a special pump for doctors, nurses, ambulances and other emergency vehicles.

"We've had it going about two or three weeks and I'd say it's going very, very well. The public understands. There have been no complaints, none at all," he said.

THE SPECIAL PUMP stands by itself, away from the regular lineup of cars. It carries a sign designating it for emergency vehicles only.

"I'm doing this so doctors and nurses — people who really need gas — can get it. I'd do this any time to have them bypass the lines," he said.

To qualify for service at the special pump, the motorist must present identification that shows that he or she is a physician or nurse. Once that has been established, Parker issues them a special card identifying them and their car as qualifying for the pump.

Parker said the emergency personnel are exempt from the usual $3 limit and the shortened pumping hours for regular motorists.

"We fill them up. They need the gas, I figure. They can get it as long as we're open. People in jobs like that can't always get their gas in the two hours in the morning, we and (Continued on page 5)

Caucus answers Gill's charges on endorsements

by JILL BETTNER

Dist. 21 General Caucus Chairman Ralph Camp and members of the screening committee yesterday challenged charges by Supt. Kenneth Gill that the group mishandled endorsement of school board candidates.

Gill criticized the caucus decision last week to support only Carol Karzen, 430 Regent Dr., Buffalo Grove for the April 13 election.

According to caucus bylaws, the group also could have backed incumbent Arlington Heights school board members, Jeremiah Crise, 611 W. Hintz Rd., and Jack Lane, 3112 N. Volz Dr., but withheld its endorsement. The race this year is for the two three-year seats occupied by Crise and Lane.

Gill charged that the caucus could not have obtained sufficient information in public interviews to evaluate the performance of the two incumbents and therefore, was not justified in refusing to lend them its support.

MARY ELLEN FELDMAN, chairman of the five-member screening committee, wrote and yesterday submitted to The Herald, a two-page statement answering Gill's charges. The statement, she said, was approved by Camp and the other committee members.

"We are responding because what Dr. Gill is assaulting is our role and our function," Mrs. Feldman said in explaining why the screening committee decided to reply to Gill's accusations. "We're very proud of what we've done and especially in light of the fact that we gave the general caucus more information for voting than has been done in recent years."

In the statement, Mrs. Feldman disagreed with Gill's assertion that the caucus endorsement decisions were made from "zilch" and criticized the superintendent for not objecting to the interview method used by the caucus before the endorsements were made.

"In objecting to the caucus evaluation, Dr. Gill said that interviews are not a good measure of incumbent school board members. How is it that, for the past 14 years of caucus existence, Dr. Gill has never challenged the interview method before? The time to question the system would have been prior to caucus endorsement, not after. And isn't it interesting that, suddenly when incumbents are not endorsed, Dr. Gill attacks the very caucus he was instrumental in founding?"

Gill helped to form the Dist. 21 caucus in 1961.

THE STATEMENT says Crise told the general membership of the caucus in interviews prior to the voting that he considered the questions put to him by the screening committee to be "comprehensive."

"In addition, the questions were developed from the concerns of the screening committee as parents of children in district schools, from eminent sources such as the Illinois School Board Journal, the Illinois Assn. of School Boards, the Illinois Assn. of School Administrators, the National Education Assn. Journal and the National PTA questionnaire "Looking in on Your Schools."

Before formulating the questions, Mrs. Feldman said the group also consulted the Dist. 21 policy manual, the district statement of philosophy, the recent Dist. 21 publication "Preparing for Tomorrow," the questions of earlier school board caucuses and two reports of citizen advisory groups that performed studies in the district.

Gill also had charged that the caucus members could not fairly judge the actions of incumbents without attending school board meetings.

"Such an evaluation had, in fact, been made by at least one of the members of the screening committee who has attended school board meetings regularly for the last 10 months," according to the statement.

"In essence, Dr. Gill has denounced the role of a caucus composed of responsible citizens chosen to represent their community organizations in the selection of school board candidates," Mrs. Feldman said.

"THE PUBLIC MUST be aware that this year, 100 community organizations were invited to sit on the caucus; this year's caucus has had more publicity and press coverage than earlier caucuses; this year's caucus has had more information on the candidate's views than ever before; this year's caucus is studying its bylaws, with a view toward revising the calendar so that candidates may be sought out earlier; and all this in addition to greater community representation and a 10-month observation of the incumbents' roles on the school board."

Gill said he has always cautioned a caucus against not supporting an incumbent unless that person "has not served well or done a disservice to the community."

"Not doing a disservice to the community does not mean that an incumbent's service has been adequate," Mrs. Feldman said. "It only means he or she has not done a disservice and this alone does not qualify an incumbent to obtain caucus support."

CONCLUDING THE statement, Mrs. Feldman said, "Dr. Gill has also said that, as school superintendent, he feels he should stay out of the actual election process. However, by making the above-mentioned statements, Dr. Gill has already interfered with that process."

"Is Dr. Gill saying that the caucus was doing fine as long as it continued to endorse incumbents? The voters will have to decide that and the voters will have to decide who is qualified to sit on their board of education of the next three years."

Informed of the caucus screening committee's statement, Gill said he planned to let the matter drop.

"I wanted it to be known how I felt and I did," he said. "I have no intention of entering into a big battle with the caucus."

Packed house hears alternative plans

Forest View decision seen March 11

The High School Dist. 214 board of education faced a packed house last night as it began discussion of possible boundary changes to relieve overcrowding at Forest View High School.

Board members told the overflow crowd which gathered in the board meeting room that they will continue discussing the proposed boundary changes at a meeting next Monday night and hope to make a final decision on the location of the Forest View attendance boundary March 11.

The Dist. 214 administration presented the following basic plans for boundary shifts:

• Mount Prospect Elementary Dist. 57 students living south of Weller Creek would be shifted to Prospect High School.

• Dist. 57 students living south of Weller Creek and east of WeGo Drive would be shifted to Prospect, leaving the other Dist. 57 students south of Weller Creek in Forest View.

• Shift students in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 living south of Algonquin Road and east of Busse Road to Elk Grove High School. That shift would include the Devonshire area of Des Plaines.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S recommendations provided that in all cases, except the one involving only students east of WeGo, only incoming freshmen would be required to change schools. Students who have already started at Forest View would be allowed to graduate there.

Members of the audience, primarily from the Des Plaines area, told the board that they would object to having their children transferred out of Forest View High School. The entire Des Plaines area was shifted from Forest View to Elk Grove High School in 1966 and then back to Forest View in 1970.

A spokesman for the group said, "For once, all the people in our area have all their children in one school. We'd like to become established in that one school."

In addition to the recommendations presented last night, board members asked the district administration to look into the possibility of placing the northern boundary of the Forest View attendance along Golf Road west to Meier Road, sending some Dist. 59 students, as well as the Dist. 57 students, to Prospect High School.

In addition, board President Gene Artemenko asked the administration to consider the possibility of shifting some students into Wheeling High School in the northern part of the district. Wheeling has had only about 2,100 students since the district's newest school, Buffalo Grove, opened this fall.

Robbery suspect seized in New Mexico

by JOHN MAES

A man suspected of robbing steak houses in Des Plaines and Arlington Heights last year is in custody and facing two other robbery counts brought against him by Albuquerque, N. M., police.

The man, Anthony Carnett, 27, is being held in jail in El Paso County, Tex., on $50,000 bond following his arrest Thursday night.

FBI agents in El Paso said yesterday they arrested Carnett at a trailer near Canutillo, Tex., an El Paso suburb, on a federal warrant for interstate flight to avoid prosecution on the Albuquerque charges.

Albuquerque Police Det. James Lehner said yesterday Carnett is charged with armed robberies of a cleaning store and a service station there. Lehner said both holdups totaled about $120 in cash and occurred last July 7.

AN ALLEGED accomplice of Carnett's in the New Mexico holdups, William McLaughlin, was arrested last year for his part in the holdups, according to Lehner.

Carnett and McLaughlin were tied to those holdups through the aid of descriptions by witnesses of the robbers.

Des Plaines and Arlington Heights police said warrants were issued for Carnett's arrest shortly after the holdups at the Bonanza Sirloin Pit, 1249 Elmhurst Rd., Des Plaines, and the Ponderosa Steak House, Algonquin and Golf roads in Arlington Heights.

The two holdups netted nearly $9,500 in restaurant receipts, according to reports.

The Arlington holdup occurred last August, police said. Carnett and an unidentified accomplice, posing as repairmen, struck a manager with a pipe and escaped with $2,600 in cash, police said.

ACCORDING TO REPORTS, Carnett pulled the second holdup late in October after working there for half a day posing as a janitor.

He allegedly pulled a gun on the manager after telling him he needed a lift to his auto while the manager was taking $6,800 in receipts to the bank.

Lt. Lee Alfano of Des Plaines police said both victims identified photos of Carnett as the holdup man.

Carnett is awaiting a court date on the New Mexico charges after which he will be extradited here to face trial on the Des Plaines and Arlington Heights counts, according to police.

Special gas pump for emergencies

most stations usually pump," he said.

DOCTORS AND nurses aren't the only ones that have taken advantage of Parker's service. He said ambulances and even Illinois State Police cars have come in for a fillup.

Parker said the motorists waiting in line have cooperated when they see someone else pull in ahead of them.

"Once they know what's going on, they understand. We haven't gotten any gripes about it," he said.

Parker said 16 doctors and nurses took advantage of his program last week alone.

The special treatment for the medical community will not affect his regular customers, he said.

"I've got enough to get through the month. I set this aside for emergencies and my commercial accounts that I've got to meet. But, I've got gas for the customers in the morning," he said.

"When you need a doctor or help in a hurry, you want to know he can get there without running out on the way," Parker said.
